Deep Wells in South Dakota.

According to a recent list of well borings in South Dakota over 400 feet deep, published in No. 61 of the Water Supply and Irrigation Papers of the United States Geological Survey, out of about 250 borings 65 are over 1000 feet deep and two reach a depth of 2500 feet, or nearly half a mile. The majority of these wells have strong flows with sufficient head to raise the water in the pipes from 100 to 500 feet above the surface. This great pressure is used to furnish power for a variety of purposes. At Aberdeen the sewage is pumped away by power derived from an artesian well; and elsewhere in the state electricity is generated for light and power purposes. The power from the wells can be easily controlled, and greatly adds to their value; its use does not interfere with subsequent use of the water for other purposes.

JOHNSON CONTROLS

Endorses Kansas City Platform and Lauds William J. Bryan for His Work.

SPEECH BY THE NOTED MAYOR FEARLESS AND STRONG.

Rev. Bigelow, Noted Lecturer and Minister of Cincinnati Heads Ticket—Johnson's Boom for President Launched.

Cedar Point, O., Sept. 5.—The democratic state convention here was principally the occasion of booming its presiding officer, Mayor Tom L. Johnson, for the presidency, and introducing into Ohio politics Rev. Herbert Bigelow, Pastor of the Vine street Congregational church, at Cincinnati.

The convention was in session less than three hours, and had only one ballot, most of the time being devoted to speeches. It was a Johnson convention throughout. The platform was adopted as it came to him through the committee.

The only contest for a nomination in the convention was for food commissioner. Ex-Mayor Bruck, of Columbus, was nominated over Senator Kraus of Cleveland, the neighbor and personal friend of Johnson.

Bruck got the support of all the Germans and ex-soldiers who were in the convention, and through an excellent organization broke the Johnson slate, thus causing the only scene of old-time contests that there was in the proceedings.

Tom Johnson's Speech.

Mayor Johnson received an ovation upon his arrival. Hon. W. J. Frye, chairman of the state central committee, delivered an address dealing with campaign work in the state. Mayor Johnson was then introduced as temporary chairman, and was received with continued cheers, speaking as follows:

"The principles of democracy, although old, but never obsolete, confront us today, both in local and in national questions. One of these national questions relates to trusts. For this evil our adversaries advise publicity as the remedy. Publicity! That might protect investors against fraud but how could it protect the public against monopoly, which is the basis of trusts? Men whose incomes have increased but little or not at all, but whose living expenses have increased enormously, why should they declare for publicity? What is needed is not examination of the account books of the trusts; it is the sweeping of monopolies from the statute books of the people."

"The money question is also national. And let me tell you this is no dead issue, as some would have us believe. Dead though it may be in one form, it is alive in other and more radical forms. So long as Wall Street interests dictate our financial policies, the money question cannot die. You know that, I have never accepted the doctrine commonly known as '16 to 1' I have worked with those who do accept it because I have believed, as I believe yet, that the free silver fight was the first protest of the American people against monopoly—the first great struggle here of the masses against the privileged classes. It was not free silver that frightened the plutocratic leaders. What they feared was free men."

"We have in national politics the vital question of self-government. Shall we continue to govern distant colonies from Washington, as distant provinces were governed by Rome before her fall, and as crown colonies are governed by the British Empire today? That question also is at the bottom a monopoly question. There would be no subject colonies, if colonies could give no monopoly franchises."

"But national questions are not for us to deal with in this state convention. Great as is Ohio in territory and population and wealth; important as she is in the sisterhood of states, influential as her democracy is capable of being in the councils of the national party, she is not great enough, nor important enough, nor is her democracy influential enough to warrant this convention in dictating national policies or remodeling"
