COUNTY COURT.

Still Grinding Out Business—Left This Morning for Milton.

The Umatilla county court is still in session. Most of the office business, such as allowing bills and other routine business, has been finished and today the court went to Milton to confer with the Walla Walla county commissioners in regard to doing something to protect the land lying along the Walla Walla River below Milton. This has been a serious question for many years and it has now come to such a point that it is deemed necessary for something to be done. The land along the river is very productive and every year more or less damage is done by the turbulent water of the spring freshets. The Umatilla and Walla Walla county commissioners have been trying to come together on some proposition to save this land, if possible, and the meeting today is for this purpose. The idea is to build a levee for a considerable distance along the banks of the river to keep the water in its proper channel.

Improve the Stock.

With beef and dairy products quick sale at high prices and going higher and bound to pay big for many years to come, Oregon and Washington should at once improve their stock in every way possible.—Ruralist.

A new era is opening into Oregon.

Wealth is to be extracted from rocks and soil and streams and trees, in large part by strangers. The sons of Oregon should rise up if they would inherit the gifts of their mother state. The fabulous wealth of Oregon's timber resources—nearly all of this is in the hands of strangers. And likewise, in every other resource, opportunity is closing fast.—Grant County News.

MASTER THOMAS DOBSON.

The Boy Musical Wonder to Give a Vocal Entertainment at Wakefield & Co's. Wareroom Tuesday Evening—No Admission Charged.

S. L. Wakefield & Co., the enterprising music dealers, have arranged to give the citizens of Pendleton a musical treat, without charge.

The services of Master Thomas Dobson, the boy musical wonder, (age 12 years) has been engaged for one evening, Tuesday, September 9, when he will be at Wakefield & Co's musical warerooms on Court street and will render a choice program of vocal selections.

Master Thomas Dobson is a gifted soprano singer and was soloist at the St. Paul's Church, in Washington, D. C., (considered one of the most aristocratic churches in the United States) and has had for his listeners the president's wife, Chauncy Depew, Admirals Dewey, Sampson and Schley, General Miles, Chief Justice Fuller, Lord Paunceforte and nearly all the foreign ambassadors. He has also sung before the Sorosis Club in Baltimore and at the Convant of Visitation of Frederick, Md., and has an engagement to sing at the White House on his return East in October.

Master Dobson is accompanied by his sister, Margaret Dobson Logan, a gifted contralto, who plays the accompaniments. Wakefield & Co. extend a cordial invitation to the citizens to hear Master Dobson.

Summer Fallow's Poor Yield.

Farmers almost universally agree that summer fallow this season is turning off a poorer yield than stubble. Chester Avery got 25 bushels per acre off stubble that was put in with a cutter. Monroe Childers got 23 bushels from stubble, while Reuben Taylor's summer fallow, said to be about the best in the vicinity, only went 20 bushels. College men began to preach years ago that summer fallow was not good for the land and it will probably turn out that they were right.—Corvallis Gazette.

Your Children's Education

Is it being neglected? Is the musical part of it being remembered? Parents, if you have daughters see that they have an opportunity to learn to play a piano means so much to them in the future. It means that when meeting with other people in a social way, they can do something to be entertaining, and when at home can make the evening pass pleasantly both to themselves and those about them.

There is no excuse for any family to be without a piano in the home, when we offer them at such reasonable prices and on terms that all can meet.
