

Get the Children Ready for School

PENDLETON'S CEMETERY.

Public Spirited Woman Calls Attention to its Bad Condition.

"Pendleton is a rich town. It is a prosperous town. Its people are progressive and public spirited. Therefore when a citizen of Pendleton hears a stranger compare Pendleton with smaller towns to Pendleton's disparagement, he wants to rally to the defense of Pendleton and yet some of the charges one hears made are true," said a prominent citizen yesterday.

"On the train a day or two ago a woman said, 'Pendleton lacks public spirit. If any project is up where the citizens can see dollars and cents it is taken up heartily, but where it is a matter of public good and the improvement of the city, they will not take hold of it.'

"I am speaking of the cemetery here. Why don't the organize a cemetery association. Sell the lots and raise money to improve the cemetery? It is a shame for a city as rich as Pendleton to neglect their cemetery.

"The proceeds of the sale of lots would furnish money to plant trees and shrubs, make gravelled walks, and if the city put in water and charged so much per year for each

LA GRANDE AND WALLA WALLA FIZZLE OUT.

Proud Indians of Pendleton Drove Them to Desperation and Are Now Victors of the League.

La Grande pleads guilty, but Walla Walla denies the charge.

The East Oregonian propounded the following question to the respective managers of the Walla Walla and La Grande baseball teams today:

"Have you disbanded?"

"Yes," came the prompt response from Manager Walsh, of the La Grande team.

Manager R. B. Caswell, of the Walla Walla team, did not respond by Western Union wire, but called the office up by wire. He said:

"No; we have not disbanded."

"Did you not pay your men off last night?" was asked.

"Yes; but it was regular pay day."

"What are you going to do?" inquired the Walla Walla man about the Pendleton winners.

"We are anxious to play ball," was the reply.

"And so are we," replied the Walla Walla manager.

It is charged that the Walla Walla team was really at the bottom of the breaking up of the league, but of course this question will be settled later.

Manager Caswell is in favor of arranging with Pendleton to play out the series. He says that the best time to play at Walla Walla will be during the fruit fair at that place, and that it would be a good idea for Walla Walla and Pendleton to play out the series.

It is claimed that there is a "colored gentleman" hiding in the wood pile behind this proposition, and that it is in keeping with a prearranged plan inaugurated by Walla Walla to attempt to defeat Pendleton; that the Sharpshooters saw they were going to be defeated and that they managed to get the Beet Pullers to fall out first so as to get the blame laid on them, and that the purpose was to get the league disbanded and then make the proposition to Pendleton to play it out, Walla Walla intending to select the best players from the Beet Pullers and Gold Diggers and with this aggregation take the Indians' scalps in the end.

Whether this is true or not, Walla Walla's actions have been suspicious. Manager Cohen is not in the city and nothing can be said yet definitely for the Pendleton team, but it is generally stated with confidence, if Walla Walla seriously desires ball she can get it, and that she may hustle all of the men she desires and Pendleton's Indians will go right along and scalp them in regular order.

It is urged that La Grande should put up her forfeit money, and that she cannot honorably get out of it. The players of that team, it is stated, may take the matter up and attempt to keep the league together. But that is merely speculative.

Any way they may put it, Pendleton will be able to point to the fact that she stayed and played with clean hands to the last and is still ready to play ball.

In the language of the gladiator, she says: "Let them come on!"

A Powerful Search-Light.

The latest invention is that of a signal light, which is claimed will penetrate the heaviest fog for a distance of half a mile. If it is a success many accidents on both land and sea can be averted. Much interest is being manifested in the discovery, the same as in any other invention that is intended to save life. This is the reason so many people have been interested in Hostetter's Stomach Bitters during the past 50 years. It is recognized as the best health maker and blood purifier in existence, and with good health and pure blood, disease cannot find a foothold. It is therefore especially adapted for persons in ill health and who suffer from heartburn, indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, or malaria, fever and ague. Try it.

AN OREGON PIONEER

STEPHEN A. OLNEY DIES IN WASHINGTON.

Lived in Pendleton Many Years— Purchased the Site of the Olney Cemetery.

T. C. Taylor has received a letter from Crab Creek, Wash., giving the notice of the death of Stephen A. Olney, better known as "Cap Hopkins," at that place, on the 4th inst.

Mr. Olney is one of the Oregon pioneers and was among the widest known men of Eastern Oregon. He lived in Pendleton for many years, and was among the prosperous property owners of this county. He was associated with the Roth Bros. in the sheep business and lost a large sum of money in deals in Sound speculation.

Mr. Olney bought the land now occupied by the Olney cemetery and it was from him that the cemetery derived its name. It was necessary for some one to buy this land from the government as it belonged to the Umatilla reservation and Mr. Olney purchased the land and sold it to the city.

He would have been 80 years of age in next December had he lived. Death was very sudden, he having been sick but a few days.

Mr. Olney had no family and nothing is known of his relatives. The funeral and burial occurred at Crab Creek where he has resided for the past six or eight years.
