Our Fastest Battleship.

For the first time in its history, the American navy possesses a battleship with a speed of 18 knots and over. The distinction belongs to the new Maine, which, on August 23, was sent over the Cape Ann course for her official speed trials. The contract calls for a speed of 18 knots an hour on a run of four consecutive hours. The lowest speed on any stretch of the trial was on a six-mile leg on which she averaged only 17.35 knots an hour, while the fastest stretch was made at a speed of 18.3 knots. The result was that the mean speed developed, disregarding tidal allowances, was announced as 18.3 knots an hour. These figures, however, were made by the builders of the boat, and are subject to correction when the official results are made known. Although the Maine has slightly exceeded her contract speed, the result for an American warship was rather disappointing, for the reason that our battleships have been accustomed to exceed their contract trial speeds by a knot or more an hour when steaming over the Cape Ann trial course. Thus, the Oregon, made 16.8 knots an hour, or 1.8 knot more than the contract speed; the Iowa showed an advance of 1.1 knot, and the vessels of the Alabama class are 1.1 1/2 knots faster than their trial requirements. On the other hand, we understand that the trial of the Maine, unlike those of some of her predecessors, was carried out under normal conditions as regards coal and stokers, and, therefore, the speed achieved is more likely to be maintained when this vessel is in regular service than that of vessels whose trials were run under abnormal conditions.—Scientific American.

The Promoters.

"Let us make the capital stock $1,000,000,000," said the first promoter. "All right," said the second, who was preparing the prospectus on the typewriter. "Will it be hard to increase that capital?" asked the first. "No, indeed. All I have to do is to hit the 'Q' key a few more times."—Baltimore American.

A Devoted Parent.

"Dawson is one of the most devoted fathers I ever knew." "How so?" "He's so proud of his children. Why, say, he often lies awake half the night trying to think up clever things that he can credit them with saying."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Maple Sugar and Sirup.

Geauga county produces more maple sirup per square mile than any county in Ohio. Vermont also has a large output. Vermont suffers from vast quantities of bogus sirup manufactured in cities and flavored with cheap maple sugar and sold all over the west and labeled "Pure Vermont Maple Sirup." So called "Pure Ohio Maple" is on sale over the west and east and indeed in cities in Ohio.—Ohio Farmer.
