BREEDING THEORY

LOCAL MAN WOULD BREED FALL COLTS.

Says There is Many Advantages in This and That Spring Breeding is Only From Custom.

"Why is it that horse fanciers and farmers thing they cannot breed their mares any other time except in the spring of the year?" said one of the most extensive horse dealers and breeders in Pendleton yesterday. "In some countries the spring is the only time to breed a mare for the best interests of the mare and her offspring, but in Umatilla county, where the climatic conditions are ideal, there is no reason why fall colts should not be raised. In fact, to compare all the conditions, this is the best time of year to raise them.

Breeding a mare in the spring is only custom. If I were a farmer and had to manage things so as to get the best results, I should breed half of my mares in the spring and half in the fall.

"This would give me colts twice a year and make it easier on the animals and I could get better service out of them. The mare can be bred in the fall, worked all winter, if needed, and all the next summer, then turned on the stubble fields after harvest, and both she and the colt will fare one-half better than if the colt came in the spring when the farmer was in the midst of his spring labor.

"The main advantage of the fall colt, however, is in the fact that when it gets old enough to graze the spring grass is up and it can get something to eat, while the spring colt is not old enough to get any good from the range until the grass is dead in the fall and then it has to depend on the mare or feed through the winter. The fall colt is ready to graze when grass comes in the spring and thus has a much better show than the spring colt.

"The winters are mild and the fall colt fares as well as in the summer. Then the mare fares much better, as she is on fall stubble fields and has solid fields and has solid food to exist upon.

"If this matter would be looked into by the breeder he would see the logic of my statements and adopt them. Some of the finest animals in the country were fall colts."

Not Doomed For Life.

"I was treated for three years by good doctors," writes W. A. Greer, McConnellville, O., "for Piles and Fistula, but when all failed, Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured me in two weeks." Cures Burns, Cuts, Corns, Sores, Eruptions, Salt Rheum, Piles or no pay. 25c at Tallman & Co.'s drug store.

SCARLET FEVER.

Three Children of G. W. Staggs Sick With the Disease.

Scarlet fever has made its dread appearance in the household of G. W. Staggs on Dry Creek, three miles from Weston. Three children are under Dr. Best's care with the disease, and the condition of one of them, Beulah, a child of 9 years, is regarded as very critical.

The disease, it appears, was brought into the Staggs home by Miss Minnie James, a young lady who has lived many years with the family. Miss James had been on a visit to relatives at Peck, Idaho, and stopped at Colfax, Wash., on her return. There she had contracted the disease from which she had just recovered upon her arrival at Dry Creek.

Due precautions will be taken to prevent the spread of the contagion. Later—Beulah Staggs, aged 11 years, died last night at 9 o'clock. Four other children in the family are now seriously sick, and the disease is said by the attending physician to be of a very malignant type. It is feared that another family has been exposed.

According to report, the Staggs

Belong to that class of inflammatory and disfiguring skin diseases. The impurities or sediments which collect in the system of poor digestion, inactive kidneys and other organs of the body that ooze out through the glands and pores of the skin, produce scabrous itching and burning, and the yellow, watery discharge forms into crusts and sores or little brown and white scabs that drop off, leaving the skin tender and raw. The effect of the poison may cause the skin to crack and bleed, or give it a scaly, fishy appearance; again there consist of innumerable blackheads and pimples or hard, red, red face. To accommodate those who are partial to the use of atomizers in applying liquids into the nasal passages for catarrhal troubles, the proprietors prepare Ely's Liquid Cream Balm. Price, including the spraying tube, is 75 cents. Druggists or by mail. The liquid embodies the medicinal properties of the solid preparation. Cream Balm is quickly absorbed by the membrane and does not dry up the secretions, but changes them to a natural and healthy character. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., New York.

Shot in the Foot.

Louis Ragin is suffering from a gunshot wound in the left foot. He was out on McKay Creek with a 22 rifle Wednesday afternoon and took a shot at a magpie. He then threw another shell into the gun and in some unaccountable way the gun was discharged and the ball passed through the left foot, just back of the toes. Young Ragin came to town and had the wound dressed and no further trouble other than being compelled to walk with crutches for a few days is anticipated.
