

SHOULD BE KEPT IN

"CURFEW SHALL NOT RING TONIGHT," A BAD MOTTO.

Complaint Made That Children of all Ages Are Allowed to Run the Streets at All Hours of Night.

Some comment is heard on the streets from citizens of Pendleton in regard to the curfew ordinance. It has been so long since this ordinance was enforced to the letter that a great many people have forgotten that such a law is in existence, or perhaps think it has been repealed. The law is in existence and has not been repealed.

This ordinance plainly says that no one under the age of 18 shall be allowed to loiter on the streets or in any portion of the town more than 100 feet away from his or her home later than 30 minutes after sunset, unless accompanied by a parent, guardian or with the written consent of such parent or guardian. The punishment for breaking this ordinance is a fine of not less than $5 and imprisonment in the city jail for not more than five days.

No Curfew Bell.

Although Pendleton has a curfew ordinance it has no curfew bell. When the law was first put into force in Pendleton the fire bell was used and every night it was tapped to make known the time when all young folks should get off the streets. This caused some confusion with the fire department and it was stopped, but the law was supposed to be enforced just the same.

In speaking of this law a prominent citizen remarked Tuesday evening:

"Now that school has opened, the curfew ordinance should be enforced. The streets are full of children under 18 years of age all the forepart of the night. This should not be tolerated. Why, it is getting so that young America makes the nights so hideous with their yells during the early hours of the night that in some localities it is impossible for people to sleep. This should be looked after, and if the curfew ordinance cannot be enforced it should be repealed. A few arrests and fines imposed on some of these youngsters, as examples, would put a stop to their cavorting around at all times of night, as it would intimidate the others and have a wholesome effect upon them."

NANCY HANKS' MONUMENT.

Dedication Held Today at Grave of Abraham Lincoln's Mother.

Lincoln City, Ind., Oct. 1.—The dedication today of the monument erected at the grave of Abraham Lincoln's mother attracted a large attendance of visitors from Illinois, Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana and other states. Special trains brought Governor Durbin and other officials from Evansville, Louisville and other places. The ceremonies were held on the hill immediately across a small valley from the place where stood the cabin in which the Lincoln family lived, and where Mrs. Lincoln died.

The distinguished visitors upon their arrival were met by a reception committee consisting of a small number of aged citizens who were intimate friends of Abraham Lincoln when he lived in this vicinity. The dedicatory exercises were of an extremely impressive character. Col. J. S. Wright, of Rockport, presided. The exercises began with an invocation by the Rev. D. J. Ryan, following which Col. Wright introduced General John C. Black, of Chicago, who delivered the oration of the day. Brief addresses appropriate to the occasion were delivered by Governor Durbin and other distinguished men who were present. Before the exercises concluded a letter was read from Robert T. Lincoln in which he expressed regret at his inability to be present. The musical portion of the dedicatory program was furnished by the band of the Knighthood Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home.

The dedication of the monument was conducted by the Nancy Hanks Memorial Association, which is composed of Governor Durbin and other prominent citizens of Indiana. The first monument was erected over the grave of Nancy Hanks some time in 1880. For more than 20 years the resting spot of the mother of the martyred president was unmarked.

It was surrounded by wildwood and underbrush. In 1880, however, a plain marble slab on which was inscribed, "To the Mother of Our Martyred President, Erected by a Friend," was brought to the place. The donor was never known, though it was commonly supposed that the gift came from Clem Studebaker, the South Bend manufacturer.

When the old monument to President Lincoln, at Springfield, Ill., was replaced by a new one the contract or presented the base of the old one to Spencer county, to be used as a monument for the grave of Nancy Hanks. It was this monument that was unveiled today. The stone stands in a desolate, unimproved tract, but a fund has been raised for the purpose of clearing away the underbrush and it is hoped soon to have the monument surrounded by a well-kept park of 16 acres.

Trade Not Expected to Suffer.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 1.—The decree promulgated by Germany last February prohibiting the importation and sale of meats in which borax or other injurious chemicals have been used as preservatives becomes effective today and there is some curiosity in official circles as to just what effect its operation will have on American trade. The act was at first regarded as a retaliatory measure aimed at America alone, but subsequent developments and explanations largely dissipated this idea. The prohibition applies to all countries as well as America and also prevents the German butchers themselves from using injurious chemicals. By far the greater portion of Germany's meat supply comes from this country and it is believed that American ingenuity will devise some method of preserving the meats that will not come under the ban of the German authorities.

Three-Eye Meeting at Rockford.

Rockford, Ill., Oct. 1.—The Rockford team won the pennant this year in the Indiana-Illinois-Iowa baseball league and as a penalty for their good luck the directors of the local club are today wining and dining their fellow magnates of the league. The occasion is the annual fall meeting to wind up the affairs of the season. The summer has been one of record-breaking success for the league, both as regards sport and finances. The playing of the several clubs has compared well with that of the bigger leagues, while the gate receipts have been uniformly good. Before adjourning the league owners will elect officers for the year, but it is not probable that anything definite will be done in the way of arranging the circuit for next season, until a meeting to be held at a later date.

TO RAISE THE PRICE.

Coffee Producers Meet in New York Today for That Purpose.

New York, Oct. 1.—For the purpose of devising ways and means to increase the price of coffee, representatives of the great coffee-growing countries of the West Indies, Central and South America are gathered in New York in international conference. The congress is a direct result of the Pan-American Congress held in the City of Mexico last year and is the first of a series of conferences designed to better the conditions of trade in the staple products of the western hemisphere. The United States is particularly interested in the present gathering as this nation is the greatest coffee-drinking people in the world. Then, too, Uncle Sam desires to see the coffee growers of Hawaii and Porto Rico become more prosperous under his control.

While it is designed to increase the price of coffee it is not at all likely that the individual consumer in this country will have to pay more for his morning's cup as it has been noticed that the retail price does not have a tendency to change no matter what the fluctuations in the market. In the opinion of the experts attending the congress, what ails the market is overproduction. To bring about a limitation on the production will be, therefore, the primary aim of the congress. The delegates purpose also to adopt measures to keep inferior coffees out of the market, and will discuss practical methods to increase the consumption.
