COUNTY INSTITUTE

MEETING OF TEACHERS AT
PENDLETON, OCT. 29-31.

An Elaborate Program Being Arranged—Able Educators to Be Present—Good Attendance Expected.

County School Superintendent J. F. Nowlin is making extensive preparations for the coming annual teachers' institute, which is to be held at the court house in this city, October 29, 30 and 31.

Umatilla county contains 150 teachers and they are all required to attend the institute. The school law provides that all schools in the county shall be closed during the three days of the holding of the institutes. The law also gives each district a donation of $5 to the school fund where the teacher attends the meetings 16 hours or more during the holding of the teachers' institutes.

Superintendent Nowlin said today that there was no excuse for any teacher remaining away from these meetings for other cause than sickness and the time that would be put in during the holding of the institute would enable all who desired to add the $5 to their district fund.

Among the prominent educators who will be in attendance on the coming institute will be Professor R. F. Robinson, who will instruct in arithmetic, geography and reading; President J. M. Martindale, of the Weston State Normal, in language; Miss Effie Patterson, of the University of Dakota, observation work, manual training and drawing; State Superintendent J. H. Ackerman, on the exposition of the work outlined in state school rooms; E. B. Conklin, superintendent of the city schools, on callisthenics. The songs to be sung during the meeting will be led by Charles James, editor of the Teachers' Monthly, and the selections will be found in the July number of his publication.

Whether or not there will be any evening lectures, as is usually the case, depends on the securing of able speakers for the occasion. So far, Superintendent Nowlin says he has been unable to engage any noted speaker to come here and deliver any lectures. This has been one of the features in the past and is looked forward to with much interest.

The tobacco imports of the United States in 1901 were considerably larger than for several years, having a value of $16,000,000. The increase occurred chiefly in the purchases from Cuba, which were exceptionally heavy during the past year. The consignments received from that island were valued at $9,825,000, forming 60 per cent of our total imports. Aside from Cuba, the Netherlands formed the principal source of importation. The shipments received from Dutch ports, consisting principally of Sumatra tobacco, has a value of $5,609,000.

Headed by One of the Best Physicians in the Country.

While in Portland recently, an East Oregonian representative called at the office of J. Henri Kessler, M. D., and was shown the large and nicely furnished quarters, which are located at the corner of Second and Yamhill streets.

Dr. Kessler and his associates were kept busy receiving callers, both ladies and gentlemen, all during the time the East Oregonian man was present and but little time could be spared for conversation. Dr. Kessler, however, found time by spells to say a few things relative to his practice and to explain that he has never turned a patient from his door, whether he or she had money or not and had always made it a practice to give the same careful treatment to the poor as to the rich.

Dr. Kessler has been engaged in the practice of medicine in Portland for the past 25 years and during that time has built up a practice which extends far beyond the Northwest states. In Portland he ranks among the leading physicians and the large practice of the St. Louis Medical and Surgical Dispensary, of which he is at the head, enjoys, is due to the high standing and the success with which diseases have been cured.
