COUNTY SCHOOLS

LAI D THE CORNER STONE.

Impressive Ceremonies—Mayor Hailey Delivers Forceful Address.

A large crowd attended the ceremonies incident to the laying of the corner stone of the new Pendleton Academy building Monday afternoon.

The academy students and faculty were there in a body and many of the patrons and friends of the institution witnessed the ceremonies, which were very impressive. As stated in the program published in the East Oregonian Saturday, the academy students and faculty formed at the old building and marched to the new building site. President Forbes led the procession, being followed by the faculty and students.

President Forbes called the gathering to order after arriving at the new building and explained its object. Rev. R. W. King, pastor of the Baptist church, delivered the invocation and was followed by Lot Livermore, president of the academy board, placing the corner stone and telling the object of its being put in the building and its responsibility. Mayor T. G. Hailey then delivered the address on behalf of the citizens of Pendleton. Mayor Hailey delivered one of the most forceful and common-sense addresses ever heard in this city. He said, among other things:

"We build our churches, as a matter of course; erect monuments to show our patriotism, but we build schools to make a better people. The laying of this corner stone and the erection of this building means more than a monument in Pendleton. It means a better Pendleton."

Rev. Robert J. Diven, of the Presbyterian church, followed Mayor Hailey with an address on the subject: "The Growth of Christian Education." He spoke of Christian life and of the teachings of His which have made the world and the people nobler.

The tin box was then placed in the receptacle made for it in the corner stone and was sealed up. It was filled with coins of 1902 date and other things, among them the photograph of Professor Forbes, which was placed at the request of the school.

The singing of "America" brought the exercises to a close. The work on the new building is being pushed and the faculty and students expect to be in their new home soon after the first of the year.
