COUNCIL WILL TAKE UP NEW ORDINANCE TONIGHT.

Ordinance Provides New Rules and Regulations for Riding Wheels on Sidewalks - Pedestrians Get the Best of it.

The regular weekly council meetng will take place this evening and it is expected that, among other things, a new ordinance regulating the licensing and riding of bicycles on sidewalks will be passed

It will be remembered by East Oregonian readers that at the last meeting of the council the matter of regulating riding on sidewalks taken up and City Attorney C. H. Carter was instructed to draft a new ordinance. Whether the new ordinance will pass, remains to be seen, but It is likely that it will and here after the riders of wheels will be governed accordingly.

The proposed new ordinance reads: 'No person shall ride any bicycle upon any of the sidewalks of the city day of October of each and every kill her alleged paramour, himself year; and no person shall ride upon and plaintiff, and she called in the any of the sidewalks on any street police to protect her.

"Athena, Ore., Oct. 7.-To the Athena, Ore, Oct. 7.—To the Editor: While reading your paper of the 6th inst. I read a corn story in regard to a boy climbing a cornstalk and the stalk growing faster than the boy could climb down. Now I know that to be a fact, as I have two brothers that have been up on Kansas corn stalks for three years and have blockaded the country with corncobs from which they have eaten the corn in order to survive. I give as reference to this fact. Abe Bartholomew, of Stafford county, Kansas, Bartholomew also had some important experience in corn raising.

In passing through his field one day he noticed a stalk of corn containing three shoots and stuck a stick down by the side of the cornstalk in order to watch the outcome. "Three weeks later, in passing the place, he discovered that ten cars of corn had grown on the stalk and three had grown on the stick. But these are only the commonest productions in Kansas.
