The embroidery drawing gotten up by Miss Georgia Lash, will not take place for several days yet. Announcement will be made before the drawing of the time and place.

Engine 403, the regular passenger engine on train No. 5, broke down at Kamela this morning, causing a delay of one hour. A freight engine was pressed into service to take the passenger train through to Umatilla.

The program of the "Sock Social," to be given by the ladies of the Baptist church tonight is too long for publication, out it will be a good one from start to finish. The best talent in the city is engaged on the program. Those who have not received a sock can be served at the door from 7:30 to 8 o'clock tonight.

Another large pumpkin was displayed at the F. S. Younger & Son grocery store yesterday, which attracted some attention. It was grown by Doug Belts, on his Pilot Rock farm and tipped the scales at just 78 pounds. It was a large yellow cow pumpkin, and if any one can beat it, let him speak up.

"THE TEMPEST"

Produced Before a Large Audience at Frazer's Last Evening.

Warde and James and their strong company pleased a large audience at Frazer's last evening. It was the theatrical event of the season, and the public fully enjoyed it. Although the train was an hour late and the scenery was bulky and difficult to handle, the curtain went up on time. There was not a hitch anywhere.

James Welch, the local manager of the theater, had his forces well organized and carried out his program with clock-like regularity. He had renovated the building generally, making many improvements, the most important being the completion of the new boxes. They are tastefully arranged and improve the appearance of the interior of the building very materially.

The acting was all good and the scenery was dazzling. There was not a lame character in the cast. It is the greatest rendition of "The Tempest" ever produced. The scenery was especially arranged for the company and everyone and everything fits the place. While it was intended for the larger stages, and it shows up better on the larger stages, yet it was very satisfactory at Frazer's last evening.

Mr. Warde as Prospero, was the defrauded duke of Milan, himself, Mr. James, as Caliban, the deformed savage and slave, was the consummation of Shakespeare's conception of that character. Mr. Hackett, as Ferdinand, made a great hit, and bids fair to become a leader on the stage. Miss Edith Fassett, as Ariel, was a sprit indeed, and won the repeated applause of the audience. Mr. Cook, as Trinculo, the jester, and Mr. Harris, as the drunken butler, fully supported Mr. James in his role. The opening scene and the scenery throughout were the principal features of the play.

The opportunities for strong acting were few, but wherever the opportunity came Warde and James, and the entire company sustained themselves to the satisfaction of the audience.

The theatrical management deserves congratulations for the successful event and its efforts to bring the best companies to this place. It also feels proud of the fact that last night was a record-breaker for the house. It was the largest audience and brought in the largest receipts in the history of the building.

"Down Mobile"

"Down Mobile," a romantic comedy drama of Southern life, by Lincoln J. Carter, which will be the offering at Frazer's Tuesday, October 14, is said to contain a succession of climaxes and realistic scenic effects. The play has been pronounced by the press and public wherever it has been presented, as the best exponent of Southern customs offered to theater-goers in many years. As the title suggests, "Down Mobile" is placed in the South, giving a chance for most picturesque settings. The first depicts the old Southern home. The scene is a beautiful set, showing the negro quarters, and the third unfolds a new effect in the hanging mosses and stagnant water of the dismal swamp. This strange picture is said to be extremely weird, with its ghastly moonlight and uncanny voices of the night. It is in the last act, however, that the best mechanical effect is produced. Here occurs what is conceded to be the greatest fire scene exploited on the stage in recent years—the burning of the old cotton mill. The company presenting "Down Mobile" is said to be an unusually strong one.

TAXES IN WALLA WALLA.

County Levy Lower by Two Mills Than Last Year.

Wall Walla, Oct. 10.—Sixteen mills will be the tax levy for Walla Walla county this year, against 18 mills last year, yet more money come into the county treasury as a result than came last year. The board of commissioners has just fixed the rate of taxation and the valuation of the county has been finally passed upon by the state board of equalization. The value of the county for purposes of taxation is $10,500,000, against $9,000,000 for last year. Upon this increased valuation the levy will raise $168,000, as against $162,000 last year. This sum represents all the money raised for county and state purposes, while a levy of 14.2 mills has been made for city purposes. The result is a general raise in the matter of taxation, and proposed public improvements are expected to receive a share of the surplus funds raised next year.

Notice.

All persons knowing themselves indebted to me must settle by October 10th, or their accounts and notes will be placed in the hand of an attorney with instruction to collect. E. L. SMITH.
