Dr. C. A. Perrin,
Helena, Mont.
I wish to thank you for my relief. I was suffering agonies from piles and was taking morphine to relieve me, when, on the advice of a friend, I procured a bottle of your Perrin Pile Specific and took a tab. 4:30 p. m. at night and another in the morning. At half past 12, noon, my wife gave me another tab. 1:30 p. m. when my pain all stopped. In two days I was able to attend my regular business entirely relieved. It was simply wonderful.
Truly yours,

"NO BIKES ALLOWED."

A Bicycle Tag Does Not Give the Right to Ride on Walks.

Some people either do not read the papers, or if they do, they do not believe the city council meant it when it said "no bicycle should be ridden on the sidewalks at any time of the year other than between the 15th of October and the 15th of April."

It will be remembered that the city council has passed a new bicycle ordinance. This ordinance plainly states that no wheelman shall ride his wheel on the walks during the time between the 15th of October and the 15th of April. The new ordinance also revokes all old ordinances on this subject, but Earl Scranton evidently thought because he had a tag that he had a right to ride on the walks, but he found himself under arrest because he disregarded the warning of the officer. He was caught riding on the walks yesterday afternoon and told to get off, as the city ordinance forbade wheels on the walks. Scranton alighted from his wheel, looked at his tag and mounting his bike, started to ride away on the walk. The officer caught him and marched him to the police station, where Judge Fitz Gerald imposed a fine of $1 on him.

Scranton is the first man to be fined under the new ordinance and as the time is short until wheelmen can ride on the walks by paying 50 cents a month license, wheelmen had better forego sidewalk riding until after the 15th instant. Then unless they pay their tax, it would be well for them to keep off the walks, as the officers are going to make every effort to enforce the law in this, as well as all other city ordinances.

THE CHRONIC KICKER.

Finds Fault With the Streets, the Officers and Things Generally.

The local chronic kicker, after reading in East Oregonian the statement that the street commission was going to enforce the ordinances against blockading the streets by citizens, except within the purview of the ordinances and then under a permit from proper sources, came into the East Oregonian office yesterday and delivered himself as follows:
"If the present reform that is promised should be followed up, the owners of property will not be allowed to place building materials in the streets for the construction of buildings; the residents will not be allowed to place wood in the streets for a few days, until they can get it carried into a place of safety.

"Of course, the street commissioner is all powerful; but if he would take a look up and down the most of the streets he would find several limbs of shade trees so near the sidewalks that it is impossible to pass under them with an umbrella raised. He will also find a large portion of the stock of such houses stored in the street. The Washington & Columbia River railroad continue to switch cars and do a general traffic business in Webb street, which is a violation of the law. Some of the livery stables almost block the streets with empty vehicles on busy days, when the streets are needed more than any other time.

"Frequently the fire house on Cottonwood street is blocked with wagons and teams so that it is next to impossible to get the apparatus out in case of fire. There are numerous stables in the residence portion of town that pile stable filth from two to six feet high in the street, and leave it there for months.

"But this is not all. When the city repairs a crosswalk, or builds a new one, the litter from the one torn up or repaired is left in the street for days; yes, sometimes for weeks."

CONATY'S SUCCESSOR.

Talk of Who Will Fill Rectorship of Catholic University.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11.—The term of office in the rectorship of the Catholic University having been limited by the episcopate to six years; and the present incumbent, Bishop Conaty, finishing his years of service this fall, considerable speculation is rife as to what selection the board of bishops will make at their annual meeting this month. They have the power to nominate three qualified candidates and to submit their names to Rome. The final selection must be made by papal authority.

It is now regarded as practically certain that the present rector will not be renominated. It is known that the vatican does not regard successive appointments with favor, and "rotation in office" was the plea alleged for the removal of the first rector, Archbishop Keane. Again, since funds are an ever-present need in all university development, it is taken for granted that whoever is rector, must have the influence necessary to secure the needed endowments. While it is admitted that the existing departments of the university have been strengthened and made more efficient during Mgr. Conaty's term, still there has been no real growth in the direction of opening new and needed departments. This lack of development is due to the lack of new endowments during the last six years. Moreover, the present administration, while marked with wisdom and prudence, has not been of a character to give the university that prominence in education which the church authorities expected when the university was founded by the pope.

As to the names likely to be forwarded to Rome, opinion seems to crystallize around that of Bishop Spalding, of Peoria. His scholarship is recognized and his influence powerful. Bishop Maas, of Kentucky, the secretary of the board of bishops, is also mentioned. He, like Bishop Spalding, is a man of large and varied erudition, and would be an energetic and efficient pastor.

Detroit's New Court House.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 11.—All-day ceremonies of a most elaborate character marked the dedication day of the new Wayne county courthouse. The participants included leading lawyers and jurists from all parts of Michigan, state officials, representatives of the supreme court of the United States and of the United States Circuit court. General Henry M. Duffield presided and the invocation was delivered by Bishop Davies. Mayor Maybury welcomed the visitors and there were brief addresses by Justice Brown, of the United States supreme court, Hon. James L. Blair, of St. Louis, Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick, K. C., minister of Justice of the Dominion of Canada, and others.

New Railway in Northwest.

Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 11.—Though the terminal objective points of the proposed Felt Electric Railway have been kept something of a secret, it has developed that one of its lines from Tacoma, at least, will be extended to Stellacom, via American Lake. From this terminal connection will be made by boat with Olympia, giving a quick and direct service between Tacoma and the capital city.

Mother's Advice

Every mother possesses information of vital value to her daughter. That daughter is a precious legacy, and the mother's duty is to prepare her for her future. The change that develops the thoughtless girl into the thoughtful woman should find the mother on the watch day and night. As the physical well-being of her daughter, so will the woman's children also.

When a young girl's thoughts become sluggish, when she experiences headaches, dizziness, faintness, and exhibits an aversion to sleep, pains in the back and lower limbs, eyes dim, solitude, and a dislike for the society of other girls, when she shies to herself and friends, then the mother should go to her aid. At such a time the greatest aid to nature is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It prepares the young system for the change, and is the surest reliance in this hour of trial.

Case of a New York Girl of Importance to Every Mother and Daughter in the Land.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I hope you will publish this letter, so that mothers to know how much good your medicine did my young daughter. She broke down about six months ago, and although she is now well, I did not understand what was wrong with her; the doctor said for her to rest for her heart, which pained her a good deal, but she did her best, and we were afraid heart trouble would come. Day after day she kept getting whiter and thinner. She had no appetite around without any ambition, and was always too tired to get up at night. She would moan in her sleep, as though in terrible pain. "I felt terribly discouraged; I was spending money for medicine right along, but she was receiving no help. At that time I was told of your medicine, and I read in one of the papers about your girls. I decided to drop the doctor, and give her your medicine. I wish you could see the change in her, and the pink cheeks Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has given her. She had taken a bottle when menstruation started again and her heart trouble was gone. I had her continue the medicine, and now she is as healthy as ever. Menstruation is regular and painless, and I owe you and to your wonderful medicine for her good health."—MRS. PHELAN, 673 Tenth Avenue, New York City.

MISS MAY MARKELL

A Society Belle of London, Canada.

MISS MAY MARKELL of London, Ontario, Canada, is a beautiful girl who knows what suffering is and Wine of Cardui has brought her back to health. She is one of the social favorites of her home and her recovery to health has permitted her to enjoy the company of her many friends instead of lying on a bed of sickness and suffering. For the health she now enjoys she gives credit to Wine of Cardui. She writes:

"I have found Wine of Cardui an excellent remedy for female trouble. I suffered for three years with terrible bearing-down pains at the menstrual period. I could hardly stand on my feet and was never real well. Wine of Cardui was the only medicine that I could depend on to do me any good, as I tried several with no success. Wine of Cardui cured me and I have now enjoyed perfect health for two years, and give you all the credit for I know you deserve it."

For a young girl Wine of Cardui is the best remedy to guide her through womanhood by starting the menstrual
