IN DISTRICT COURT.

Hines Found Guilty of Simple Larceny—LeRoy Arraigned.

The wheels of the district court are grinding out the cases before it very slowly. Nothing was doing yesterday as the case set for hearing was settled out of court. This was C. B. Wade vs. the Northwestern Livestock and Woolgrowers' Journal.

Today the case of Leonard Hines, charged with larceny of a watch from Mrs. Hemphill, was tried by a jury and Hines found guilty as charged. Sentence will be passed in the morning. In the meantime Hines will remain in jail. He has been out on bail.

Ed LeRoy, the negro hot tamalia man, charged with assault with deadly weapon, was arraigned and given until 1:50 tomorrow in which to make up his mind to plead.

In the case of W. M. Pierce vs. Louis and Felix Andette, a new trial was granted.

The case of Cecile vs. White Bull was continued.

J. M. Walker against the First National Bank of Athens and David Ferris continued.

Jay & Jensen vs. N. A. Cottrell, settled and dismissed.

John Linder pleaded not guilty to the charge of larceny of a horse and saddle and time for his trial was not yet been set. He is the young man who hired a horse and saddle from the City Livery stables and riding to Echo, sold the outfit and gambled the money away.

The case of Adelle and Morice Kline against I. L. Ray will be up for hearing tomorrow.

John Anderson, charged by the state of assault with a dangerous weapon, and who was held under $250 bonds to appear at the October term of court, is gone and his whereabouts is unknown. Anderson's bonds were reduced to $100, which amount has been forfeited.

DRYING IDAHO PRUNES.

Oregon Men at Head of the Industry—Twenty-Five Tons a Day.

The Allen prune dryers at Beatty and Meridian, Idaho, are in operation, each handling 25 tons of green prunes daily. The fruit is evaporated about two-thirds, the dried product being a little over eight tons daily.

The season for drying prunes is expected to extend over 40 days. It will thus be possible for each plant to handle about 1000 tons of green fruit, turning out about 325 tons of dried article. The growers of the prunes are paid $10 a ton for the green fruit. The fruit growers are half owners of the plants. The plan of organization in each case was as follows: W. K. Allen and O. V. Allen, father and son, organized the project. They are from Oregon, where they formerly engaged in the business of evaporating fruit. They offered to put in a $10,000 plant at each place, provided that the growers would take half the stock payable in fruit. In this way the Allen-Beatty and the Allen-Meridian companies were organized.

The growers entered into a five-year contract to furnish prunes at $10 a ton. They took half the stock, to be paid for in prunes. Out of this year's operations each fruit grower will thus be able to pay for his stock with half the fruit furnished, getting the remainder in cash. In addition each will have an interest in the profits. The Beatty dryer is in charge of O. V. Allen, while his father looks after the one in Meridian.—Idaho Statesman.

DIAMONDS IN DESERT.

Harney County Claims to Be the Seat of Great Discoveries.

More widespread than mere local excitement in Burns, Harney county, is the furor caused by the recent find of precious stones on Crane Creek, 40 miles east of Burns.

The stones are found in a sort of grayish rock which is easily pulverized and will cut glass as readily and cleanly as the purest white water brilliants from the famous South Africa diamond fields.

The widespread attention called to this Harney county strike has taken active form by the thorough investigation and tests made by Eastern experts, who were acting, so it is said, in the interest of Burlington railroad people. It is also currently reported that the Burlington railroad people have secured, on the strength of their investigation, a considerable body of land in the locality of the strike.

It is further stated that one of the specimen jewels taken to New York by one of the railroad people experts was sold for $25 in spot cash. It is said that this jewel is a sapphire.

The assertion is made in Burns that Tiffany, the world famous New York jeweler, after careful test of specimen stones from this Oregon field, has given judgment more than favorable to the genuineness of the strike. It is certain that the story of the find is not a hot air romance and time will tell whether or not Southeastern Oregon is to have the real thing in the line of Simon pure diamond mines.—Baker City Democrat.

A permanent good roads organization was completed at Seattle last week and the state of Washington will enter actively into the work for better roads.

RAIN WAS OPPORTUNE.

Roads Getting Bad Again and Farmers Were Praying For Moisture.

"Let it rain!" This is the word now falling from the lips of every farmer. Since the showers of several weeks ago it had again become dry and dusty and the highways were almost as bad as in the middle of the summer, but it is different today.

During the latter part of last night it began to rain and a steady down-pour continued until eight o'clock this morning when it let up for awhile. The rain was very opportune and will do many dollars worth of good for the farmers and stockmen. Enough water fell to completely wet the ground and lay the dust for several days if it rains no more for awhile. After the former showers, farmers began to think of preparing for seeding, but there was not quite enough moisture to begin and they anxiously awaited another shower. The rain of this morning will moisten summer-fallow ground enough to make seeding possible and many drills will be going within the next few days.

In a farmhouse two miles from the village of Rochester, O., a terrible battle was fought Tuesday night between aged brothers named Meach, and six desperate robbers. As a result of the battle, two of the robbers were shot to death, one probably fatally wounded and two of the Meach brothers were badly beaten.
