AGRICULTURAL HALL

UMATILLA CITIZEN ATTENDS DEDICATION AS DELEGATE.

He Describes the Building and Tells About the Ceremony—Eastern Oregon Ahead.

Mr. A. Ruppe, who attended the hall at Corvallis last week, in speaking of the occasion to an East Oregonian representative yesterday said:

"The new Agricultural Hall at Corvallis is substantially built throughout, the first story being of dark granite from the Cascade mountains. The walls of the other two stories are built from Lincoln county grey sandstone. Directly opposite the entrance is the livestock judging room, 40x40 feet.

"In this room the ladies of Corvallis, at the expense of the town, had prepared a most excellent luncheon for the 500 or more visitors in attendance.

"The first floor consists of a room 24x40 feet in which will be made cheese and butter, a testing laboratory 24x40 feet and the 40x40 room above mentioned.

"The second story consists of rooms for general uses of farmers, horticulturists, dairymen and for special lectures to students, vault for records, directors' office, laboratory for work in physics, cloak rooms, toilets, and bacteriological laboratories.

"On the third floor are the departments of horticulture, entomology, and botany.

"At 2 o'clock everybody repaired to Armory Hall where the dedication services were held. The hall is a good-sized building, around the walls of which there are several hundred of rifles. There are also several cannons. Besides being used as a drill room, are apparatus for gymnastics, basket ball and other athletics.

"A gallery runs around the entire building. In this gallery were gathered the college students, a lusty, bright-faced mob of something like 500 farmer boys, who gave the college yell with an ear splitting vigor.

"After the last echoes of the cadet yell had died away, Hon. J. K. Weatherford made a few remarks. Then there was music by the cadet band, invocation by Rev. G. S. O. Humbert, of Corvallis; presentation of building to the regents by Hon. J. T. Apperson, chairman of building committee; dedicatory address by Gov. T. T. Geer, and music "America" by the audience.

"Hon. George E. Chamberlain, was slated for an address, but was unable to be present. An address was delivered by Hon. A. T. Buxton, lecturer of the State Grange.

"There was also a very long address by Hon. T. H. Tongue and very short ones by Hon. H. B. Miller, U. S. consul to Neuchwang, China, and Hon. J. N. Williamson. The addresses of both Gov. Geer and Congressman Tongue were replete with facts. For both having been brought up on the farm, they knew whereof they spoke.

"That the new Agricultural Hall will be a good thing for the Willamette valley, and incidentally for the whole state, there seems to be no room for doubt, but especially for the valley. In the course of a decade or so—after the keen looking young fellows at the Hall get through with the training the college will be thoroughly equipped to give, no doubt there will be a great change of farming methods in Webfoot.

"The boys will go home, scrape the moss (in some institutions nearly a foot long) off the fruit trees, houses, barns—and their dads' backs."

Speaking of the valley as compared with Eastern Oregon, Mr. Ruppe said: "Of course one cannot get an exact conception of any country from a train going at the rate of 20 to 30 miles an hour, but from what I saw in passing through that country at that rate of speed, I should judge that the inhabitants of the valley are lacking in the enterprising go-ahead-iveness that characterizes the Eastern Oregon agriculturists."

"Oh! ain't that sweet!"
 "That big one there in the corner is just too lovely for anything."
 "Ain't this one with a blue dress just dear."
 "I wish my pa would buy me this one here in front."

WOMAN DRAGGED TO DEATH.

Mrs. Lizzie Gallaher Victim of a Fearful Accident.

Weston, Oct. 21.—Mrs. Lizzie Gallaher, of this place, is dead as a result of a very unfortunate accident which befel her last Friday. Mrs. Gallaher was driving a span of young horses to a hack and the accident happened while returning home from Athena late Friday evening. The animals became frightened and started to run. Mrs. Gallaher pluckily stayed with the lines for some distance, when the horses swerved into a bank and the rig was upset, throwing her under the bed of the vehicle. The hack was dragged for half a mile bottom upwards with the unfortunate woman under it being dashed against the ground and stones until she received injuries which resulted in her death late Saturday.

The accident has cast a gloom over the people of the east end of the county, as Mrs. Gallaher was a well-known and respected pioneer. Mr. Gallaher died some years ago and the only one of the family left is a son, Roy, now 17 years of age. The funeral took place at Athena Monday afternoon and the body was interred in the cemetery at that place.

Already 100 head of sheep and 350 head of cattle are booked at the La Grande sugar factory, to be fattened on pulp. As the virtues of this food become more generally known, its great advantages will be utilized. It is cheap food, very rich in fat producing properties and fully equal to any ensilage made.

WOMEN and especially mothers are most competent to appreciate the purity, sweetness, and delicacy of CUTICURA SOAP, and to discover new uses for it daily. Its remarkable emollient, cleansing, and purifying properties, derived from CUTICURA, the great skin cure and purest of emollients, warrant its use in preserving, purifying, and beautifying the complexion, hands, feet, and hair, and in the form of washes and solutions for ulcerative weaknesses, annoying irritations and chafing, too free or offensive perspiration, and for many sensitive purposes which readily suggest themselves.

In many of the above conditions, gentle anointings with CUTICURA, will prove of astonishing benefit.
