A. O. U. W. CELEBRATE

THIRTY-FOURTH ANNIVERSARY TUESDAY NIGHT.

Lodge Hall Filled and Many Interesting Addresses Delivered—A Grand Banquet—East End Lodges Will Celebrate This and Next Week.

The celebration of the 34th anniversary of the Ancient Order of United Workmen at Odd Fellows' hall last night was a grand success and one among the enjoyable events of the season in Pendleton.

The lodge hall was full to overflowing with members of Viola Lodge No. 114 and invited guests and the program was pronounced excellent by all. The address of welcome was delivered by Senator-elect Walter M. Pierce, who made those present feel at home with the assurance that the presence of all were highly appreciated by those at the head of the local organization. Mr. Pierce was followed by music and an address by Grand Master Workman William Smith, of Baker City, who came over to attend the celebration. Mrs. Laura A. Smith, grand chief of honor, of Baker, was also present and gave an address, which was followed by Deputy Grand Master M. G. Wilkins, who has spent the past few weeks here looking after building up Viola lodge. Captain B. F. Devinney, the oldest Workman in Oregon, spoke interestingly of his experience in the order. Among other things he said that he joined the order in Missouri when it was less than a year old and paid the first death claim that was assessed in the order. This amounted to $2000 and was paid when the organization was only 450 strong. Mr. Devinney said that, although he had been with the order for 33 years and had paid all of the assessments from the birth of the order to the present time, he had never become tired of his connection with the Workmen and expected to remain with them to the end of his days.

The addresses were supplemented with good music and following Capt. Devinney's address all repaired to the banquet hall and sat down to as good a spread as was ever set before hungry men. The banquet was prepared and presided over by the ladies of the Degree of Honor. One hundred and twenty plates were set at a time. Mr. Pierce acted as toastmaster and presided in his usual able manner. Dr. Smith responded to the toast of the "Degree of Honor and Its Influence."

Is a Strong Local Order.

The lodge of Workmen is now 146 strong in Pendleton. Deputy Grand Master Wilkins, who has been working in the interests of building up the membership, has succeeded admirably within the past few weeks here and he says that he expects to swell the membership to 175 in a few weeks more. On next Friday night a class of eight or ten will be put through the secrets of Workmanship and at this time all the members are urgently requested to be present to assist in the work.

To Celebrate in East End.

Deputy Grand Master Wilkins, accompanied by Grand Master Smith and Grand Chief of Honor Mrs. Smith, will go to the east end of the county where three lodges will celebrate during this and next week. The first place will be at Milton tomorrow night. Saturday night the Athena lodge will celebrate; Monday Helix will celebrate and Tuesday night a program has been arranged at Weston for the local lodge there. All these lodges are strong in membership and a grand celebration at each place is expected.
