Howard Lamkin and O. Parker, from the state capital, are in the city.
Mrs. C. E. Gallaher and Ray Gallaher were in town last night from Weston.
J. D. McDermid and S. C. McDermid, of Wasco, are registered at the Golden Rule hotel.
T. W. Lusk and F. H. Russell La Grande citizens, were in Pendleton on business Sunday.
Mrs. Eugene Tausick, of Walla Walla, is a guest of Mrs. M. F. Kelly, of the Golden Rule hotel.
Dr. J. R. Sponogle, a prominent dentist of Athena, was transacting business in Pendleton Saturday afternoon.
Thomas Hopper, of La Grande arrived in town Saturday afternoon to visit with his sister, Mrs. Clara Cash.
P. A. Doherty, of Butter Creek, has purchased a residence on Johnson street and will remove his family to town.
W. A. Siddens, section foreman for the W. & C. R. line, leaves this evening for Walla Walla on business connected with his company.
Fred Waite returned this morning from Tacoma, where he attended the Washington State gun shoot. Mr. Waite said the shoot was quite a success, although the weather was bad for the event. The fog was quite thick part of the time, making shooting difficult. Mr. Waite won several prizes and should have had the cup for the highest average, but not being a resident of Washington, he was ruled out. He killed 47 birds in this shoot to the next highest man's 43, but the other fellow got the prize.

ASSOCIATION BLOCK

L. H. Haney is in town from the big bend of the McKay.

A nine-pound girl made its appearance into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Besthorn Sunday morning.

John French, of Vinson, is in town. Mr. French is one of Umatilla county's breeders of fine Hereford cattle.

Frank LaDow is in town from McKay Creek. He came in to get a load of lumber which is to be used in his new house.

Jerry Stone was in town Saturday from Adams and made his final report and was discharged from his trust by the county court.

James Hill, who is in town today from Helix, says he has completed all arrangements and will leave in the morning for Walla Walla to enter Whitman College.

Frank Myers is in town from Sumpter. Mr. Myers is the proprietor of the Rank saloon of that place and is doing a good business. He will be accompanied home this evening by Norman Queener, Van Olmstead and Henry Krough, of this city.

Claude Lacoq and wife will leave Tuesday morning for Portland, where they go to make their home. Mr. Lacoq has been employed for the past two years at Forster's planing mill, and he and his wife have many warm friends in Pendleton who regret to see them depart.

Grant Horn, a sheepman of the McKay, is in town today. Mr. Horn says that he had the finest lot of lambs this season he ever saw. They have been sold and were pronounced to be in the best shape of any lambs coming out of the mountains this season. He also stated that his ewes were in better shape than usual.

LAW MUST BE ENFORCED.

State Fish Commissioner Van Dusen Determined to Protect the Fish Ways.

This week H. J. Van Dusen, state fish commissioner, visited the fish hatchery on the Lower Grande Ronde River. Mr. Van Dusen is determined to have the state law enforced in regard to providing fishways over the numerous dams across the Grande Ronde River, and will see that proper ladders are constructed over these dams, or know the reason why they are not, says the La Grande Chronicle.

Grande Ronde River a few years ago was one of the best fish-producing streams in Eastern Oregon, and abounded in salmon, rainbow, cutthroat and brook trout and the various smaller streams emptying into it were a veritable fisherman's paradise. Thousands of trout have been planted lately in the river below, but the many dams across the river have totally prevented the fish from gaining their spawning ground and have almost ruined the stream for fish, and it is about time something should be done in the way of compelling those who build dams across the river that prevent the fish ascending it and gaining their grounds, to place proper fish ladders in them.

"DAWSON ON THE HOG."

People Disgusted With Alaska, Looking Toward Eastern Oregon.

A letter to Mr. Sam Roberts of this place, from a friend at White Horse, Yukon Territory, bearing date of October 20, announces that snow is already beginning to fall there and that the season is about over for mining. He states that people are coming out from the interior at a lively rate and many are leaving the country.

He states that the season has been a quiet one all over Alaska, and says "Dawson is strictly on the hog." He says that people are arriving at White Horse in large numbers at Dawson and that they are all dissatisfied with the country. Many of them have all they want of Alaska and some are thinking of coming to Eastern Oregon. They prefer a good climate and a steady growth of country to the uncertain struggle for a fortune in Alaska and a battle with its rigorous climate.

DEATH OF MRS. M'LAUGHLIN.

Took Down With Fever Five Weeks Ago and Gradually Got Worse.

Mrs. Charles McLaughlin, aged 45 years, died at the family home in Helix Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. McLaughlin took down with fever about five weeks ago and since that time her life has gradually been slipping away although it was a complication of diseases which proved fatal. She leaves a husband, who is section foreman for the railroad company, and nine children, all of whom are at home except one. The children and husband have the sympathy of all who know the family.

Funeral services were held this afternoon and Mrs. McLaughlin was buried in the Helix cemetery.

America's Famous Beauties.

Look with horror on Skin Eruptions, Blisters, Sores, Pimples. They don't have them, nor will anyone, who uses Bucklen's Arnica Salve. It glorifies the face. Eczema or Salt Rheum vanish before it. It cures sore lips, chapped hands, chilblains. Infallible for Piles. 25c at Tallman & Co.'s drug store.

CAUGHT SUCKERS

SMOOTH FAKIR SELLS WORTHLESS RINGS FOR $1.

Gave Away a Lot of Brass Jewelry for Advertising Purposes — Also Took in Over $200 Hard Money.

There are suckers galore in Pendleton. Last Saturday afternoon a smooth-looking, easy-talking individual appeared in town and secured a city license to sell trinkets on the streets. He immediately hired a carriage and drove down the street to the corner of Main and Alta, where he took up his stand and began operations by getting the people interested in a few simple tricks which he performed.

After getting the attention of a large audience the fellow, who secured the license under the name of Dorsey, opened up his heart and told the people that he was going to "pass out a lot of fine jewelry simply for advertising purposes," and he hoped that the people would take them and use them and then if satisfied would speak a good word for his company. He showed a lot of rings, watch chains and stick pins which he told the people were not gold. In fact, he said they were cheaper than brass. He declared they were made of a new preparation which would hold its own and look just as good as gold. The first thing the fakir did was to give away several sets of cuff buttons. Then he apparently got angry because some fellow who had secured one of these free reached up his hand for another and the fakir announced that he was going to test their sincerity as his firm did not care to have him "pass out" the goods without it was sure to be placed in hands where it would do some goods as an advertisement. He then sold several sets at 25 cents each. After selling these he gave the suckers who bought them 50 cents in money and told them to keep the buttons, as he was only testing their sincerity.

This done, the smooth one said that he was going to sell 40 rings at 50 cents each and after selling about 20 and sales began to lag, he raised the price to $1, put a piece of paper around the ring and sold them for a while as fast as he could hand them out, intimating that he would give them back their money and $1 extra and let them keep the rings.

With this trick he caught plenty of suckers and not a few bought as many as four rings, beside other of his worthless trinkets. Not another cent did he give back, however, but instead, when he was through, he asked those who bought if they were satisfied. The fellows declared they were and he then gave each a worthless watch chain which cost about two cents and a half each.

The fakir was also out again in the evening but most of the suckers had either bit or left town and he did not do such a thriving business, nevertheless he left town just $200 better off than when he came here. This is not all. He left a few people with a store of knowledge which will surely tend to be a wholesome lesson for them in dealing with fakes in the future.

GOLF TOURNAMENT

THE FIRST ANNUAL OF THE PENDLETON CLUB.

Commencing November 2 on the Course North of Town—Prizes Will Be Awarded the Best Players—Will Qualify the First Week.

The first annual golf tournament of the Pendleton Golf Club will be held during the two weeks commencing November 2, on the course north of town.

During the first week the qualifying rounds will be played. This is to play for the scores which will make the players eligible to enter the contests for the second week. Each member who desires to enter the tournament will be allowed to do as much practicing the first week as they like. No scores in the 12 holes of more than 130 will be accepted and those handing in their scores are requested to hand in the lowest made during the practicing week. These must be in the hands of the secretary Saturday night, November 8.

Monday, the 10th, will begin the second week of playing, which will be for prizes and will be the tournament proper. Monday and Tuesday will be the handicap and all will be eligible to enter. Wednesday and Thursday the foursomes for the ladies and gentlemen will be played. A mixed game of foursomes will be played for both ladies and gentlemen. Friday and Saturday will be the men's singles to decide the championship. The driving and putting contests will also be on these two days.

Prizes will be awarded the best players.

Club Meeting.

All club women in the city are cordially invited to meet with the Parliamentary Club, next Tuesday afternoon at 2:30, at the home of Mrs. Guernsey. Final plans will be made for Mrs. Bethel's classes for the week following.
