TUESDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1902.

The earthquakes and volcanoes of Central America do not disturb the revolutionists.

The Astorian, Senator Fulton's home paper, says that it is not strange that Mitchell should be for Fulton for the United States senate; that Fulton elected Mitchell and Mitchell should now reciprocate. The paper boastfully adds that Fulton is one of the brainiest men in Oregon.

A great deal is said nowadays about catching suckers. There is not much sympathy for the sucker, and the average sucker will not own that he is a sucker. What is known as the modern sucker is one who is trying to catch some one else. The fellow who tries to get 50 cents for nothing ought not to complain at paying $1 for it.

President Roosevelt has called a meeting of his cabinet for November 7 in order to obtain suggestions from the members in regard to issuing his message to the coming congress. Of course he will hear their suggestions, but if they do not coincide with his views they will go in the waste basket and Teddy will state the facts in his own strenuous way.

The crown prince of Siam has interested California capitalists in his country and they have agreed to go there and develop it. It will be a sad day for Siam when the American capitalists get a foothold there, if they keep up their reputation. They will have the prince and all of the royal family cornered and merged along with the other things in that country into a big trust.

The report comes from Honolulu that the senatorial commission visiting that place has had a cruel joke perpetrated upon it. It is said that these grave senators ate dog. It is bad enough for politicians to have to eat crow and the line should be drawn on dog. It may not be true, however, as it would be in bad "taste" to serve dog at a swell state dinner when possibly our representatives were not in a condition to tell one kind of "flesh" from another.

President Mitchell's presence is objectionable to the mine operators. This is not strange as these gentlemen have been outwitted for once in their lives and Mitchell was mixed up in the work. President Roosevelt will doubtless become obnoxious in their eyes. They refuse to carry out the terms of the agreement, but they will have to do it. Their day of high-handedness is over and the ymigh as well learn to be "umble" and get in line. The country is against them. The hand of the public is upon them.

Dispatches come from New York that the car famine is likely to grow more serious throughout the country. The demand for cars in the West to move the grain is playing havoc also with transportation in the East. With the new fields opening up here and the newly acquired possessions calling our citizens away, it is evident that the crowded conditions are a thing of the past and that the future is going to witness the greatest commercial activity in the history of the country. The man who does not settle down and reap his portion of the harvest is not worth the name of an American citizen.

Roosevelt was 44 years old yesterday. He did not permit the fact that it was his birthday to interfere with the routine of business incumbent upon him. Of course flowers were showered and all those kinds of things, and he was fawned over, but after all, it was done by those who always hang around and bestow presents for which they hope for greater returns. Birthdays are pleasant occasions, but in this country they are more of a family affair than a national one and the president took the right view by keeping it quiet. We have no "jubilees" here wherein the people run wild over mere flesh and blood occupying high positions.

The Rigby-Clove factory ought to be a go. It will be a go. The people of Pendleton and Umatilla county are behind these enterprising citizens in their meritorious plan. The plan is free from the disadvantages often presented to the public in this manner. Home men often go before the people with a scheme to entice into public improvements and the building of public enterprises in which they are considered more in the attitude of beggars than benefactors. People are called upon to assist the enterprise just for home's sake and neighbors' sake. In these kind of schemes citizens often consider it more in the form of an act of charity than otherwise and do not look upon it with the same favor as they would independent institutions. But the Rigby-Clove proposition is free from this. The harvester is a demonstrated success. Orders have been received sufficient to keep the factory going for a year or more. It will bring wealth to Pendleton and Umatilla county, and to every one who invests in the enterprise. It is already an independent institution, in fact, and it only needs to be organized by local citizens. It is not a question of charity or subsidy, but a question of who will get in and join in reaping the benefits offered. It is a sort of family institution for this section and all who remain out will doubtless have cause to regret it.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY'S EFFICIENCY

A very adequate idea of the utility of the Marconi wireless telegraph invention, and the wide and beneficial influence it will exercise from a commercial point of view, in connection with vessels engaged in the transatlantic traffic, was afforded recently by the log of the Cunard liner "Campania" on a round voyage from Liverpool to New York and back. The "Campania" left Liverpool at 4:30 p. m. on Saturday, August 23, and remained in communication until 6:10 p. m. with the same company's steamer "Ivernia" also fitted with the Marconi system, which was lying in the Huskisson dock, Liverpool. From 7:05 to 8 p. m. she was in communication with the homeward-bound "Umbria" in the Mersey channel. At 8:20 Holyhead was signalled, followed by Rossier stationed at the southeast corner of Ireland until 2 a. m. on Sunday, August 31. Passengers and mails were embarked at Queenstown, and the ship sailed at 10:15 a. m. on Sunday, August 31. She was then in communication with the homeward-bound "Lucania" and exchanged messages with her for some time. At 4:45 p. m. on September 5 she signalled Nantucket lightship, and continued talking until 8:30 p. m. At 11:30 p. m. Sagaponack station replied to her call, and continued talking until 1:40 a. m. the next day, when she was abreast of Fire Island, distant about 60 miles, and the new station at Babylon, north of Fire Island, came into communication about the same time as Sagaponack ceased. She kept in touch with the latter until Sandy Hook lightship was passed at 3:18 a. m.

On the homeward passage the "Campania" left New York on September 13 and was in communication with the "Umbria" which was just arriving at that port between quarantine and dock. She then got in touch with the Babylon station at 7:40 p. m., and continued until 1:40 p. m. Then Sagaponack station followed. She next communicated with the inward-bound "Lucania" on September 16 at 11 p. m. and continued until 1:40

p. m. on the following day. On the 17th she conversed with the Atlantic Transport vessel "Minnehaha" for some hours. The Cunard homeward-bound "Saxonia" was signalled at 5:50 p. m. on the 18th, when she was 36 miles ahead of the "Campania," and the two steamers were in communication until the evening, when the "Saxonia" was 100 miles astern. Crookhaven was signalled on the 19th at 8:45 a. m. and conversation was maintained until 11:40 a. m. The "Campania" arrived at Queenstown at 12:50 a. m. on the same day.

From this log it will be seen that it is practically possible to cross the Atlantic, and to remain in communication with the land all the way across via various ships, which can act as retransmitting stations. If all the vessels plying between this country and Europe were similarly equipped with the Marconi apparatus, it would be impossible for a man to remain "au courant" with home or the commercial world the whole of the five or six days' sea passage.—Scientific American.

The Mill Girl's Morals.

The mill owners exert as far as possible, an influence over the moral tone of their employees. The average girls are self-respecting, yet they trifle with love. The attraction they wish to exert is ever present in their minds and in their conversation. Their most important sacrifices are invariably for clothes. They have superstitions of all kinds; sneeze on Saturday means the arrival of a beau on Sunday; a big or little tea leaf means a tall or a short caller, and so on. There is a book of dreams kept at one table in the mill. The girls consult it to find the interpretation of their nocturnal reveries. They are fanciful, sentimental, cold, passionless.—Bessie Van Horst in Everybody Magazine.

Ask a healthy woman what she would sell her health for and she would tell you that the choicest diamonds in the world could not buy it. What use for diamond rings to emphasize the shrunken fingers, or earrings to light up the cheeks hollowed by disease?

Health is the first requisite to womanly happiness. General ill-health in women has its origin in local womanly diseases. Cure the diseases of the delicate womanly organism and the general health is perfectly restored. The remarkable benefits experienced from the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription are due to this medicine's perfect cures of womanly diseases. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"It affords me great pleasure to be able to say a few words in regard to the merits of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and his 'Golden Medical Discovery,' writes Mrs. Flora Ann, of Dallas, Jackson Co., Mo. 'I was tempted to try these medicines after seeing the effect upon my mother. At an early stage of married life I was greatly bothered with painful periods, also a troublesome drain which rendered me very weak and unfit for work of any kind. I became so thin there was nothing left of me but skin and bone. My husband became alarmed and got me a bottle of 'Favorite Prescription.' After he saw the wonderful effects of that one he got me two more, and after I used those up there was no more pain, and I began to gain in flesh very rapidly.'

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.
