SCOPE OF UNIONS

LABORERS MUST ORGANIZE TO RECEIVE JUST SHARE.

G. Y. Harry, President of the State Federation of Labor, Addressed the Union Men Last Night.

G. Y. Harry, president of the Oregon State Federation of Labor, and general organizer for the American Federation of Labor, was in town last night and addressed a mass meeting at the Armory hall on the question of labor.

The meeting was called for all the laborers of the city, but for some reason only a small number were present. Mr. Harry addressed these, and among other things said:

"It is the purpose of the labor movement to get the laboring people better organized for the protection of themselves and at the same time organization will be to the advantage of the employer. In other towns in the state the laboring class is organized and they find that it betters their condition materially. In Pendleton the employe is slow to take up his own burden and work in harmony with his fellow man for shorter hours and better pay. This is not the fault of the employer. It is the fault of the working people. The employer is willing to pay better wages and give shorter hours. The only thing in the way toward accomplishing this is that a few men in the town think that the laboring men are trying to run their business when they talk of shortening hours behind the counter. Nine business men out of 10 are willing to advance the wages and give shorter hours were the tenth man compelled to do the same thing. All want to be equal, and if one man is forced to pay better wages than his neighbor he naturally feels that he is getting the worst of it.

To Elevate Laborers.

"The trend of sentiment in America is to elevate the working man and that is what the labor movement is trying to accomplish. The laborers, or the men who are doing the work, are not participating in the prosperity of the land at the present time. This is their own fault. Within the last four years the increase in living expenses has been about 30 per cent but the increase in wages has not been so much. From 10 to 12 per cent is the increase in wages in this time and the laboring man finds at the end of the year, although he is getting better wages than a few years ago, that his sum total of savings is not as much as when wages were less and living expenses were smaller than today.

Reason for Organization.

"This is one great reason why the laboring men are organizing to protect themselves. They desire to see if something cannot be done to give them their share of the prosperity of the country." At the end of his address steps were taken toward organizing a federation of the labor unions of Pendleton which no doubt will be done in the near future.

New Inquiry in Talbot Case.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 29.—A new chapter in the Bishop Talbot case was begun today when, in response to the summons of the presiding bishop, Rev. Thomas M. Clark, D. D. of Rhode Island, a board of inquiry met in Harrisburg to consider the appeal of the presenters in the matter of the charges against Bishop Talbot, growing out of the unfrocking of the Rev. I. N. W. Irvine, D. D. The appeal has been taken by the presenters, on the ground of newly discovered evidence, from the decision of the board in agreeing that the charges filed by them against Bishop Talbot were insufficient grounds for bringing Bishop Talbot to trial. Many influential churchmen and lay members have rallied to the support of the Rev. Dr. Irvine and their prosecution of the case promises to make it a cause celebre in Episcopal church history.

PORTLAND HOODLUMS.

Would Have Ruined Young Girl But For a Policeman.

Pretty, young and unsophisticated Ella Wheeler, was snatched from ruin last evening through the vigilance of Officer Jamison.

Her home is near Aurora. On Saturday evening the little girl of 13 years came to Portland to spend Sunday with a sister and do some shopping.

On arrival here she was unable to locate her elder sister, and secured a room at the Pleasanton on Third street, for the night.

Yesterday she continued the hunt for the sister and fell into the hands of a crowd of young brutes.

She was induced to drink and became intoxicated. Her money, $10, was taken from her.

When found by Officer Jamison, a gang of South Portland hoodlums were endeavoring to entice the girl to ruin.

The officer learned the little girl's story, and took her to a respectable lodging house, paying for a room out of his own pocket. He secured a woman to watch over the girl and see that she left for her home this morning.

He is now at work on the case to see if he can find the perpetrators of the outrage, and will endeavor to bring them to justice.

But for the prompt action of the policeman the girl would now be at the mercy of human fiends.

Rather than humiliate the girl and her parents who are respectable, the officer did not take the girl to the jail, but paid the expenses of the charitable act.—Oregon Daily Journal.
