HALLOWEEN NIGHT

CELEBRATION ORIGINATED IN THE SEVENTEENTH CENTURY

According to Tradition, Evil and Mischievous Spirits Walk the Earth Tonight.

Tonight is Halloween, when the ghosts and goblins, both earthly and supernatural, will commence their antics. Any gate or movable piece of property that happens to be in the way of those creatures will be missing.

Halloween is the night before the first day of November, and according to tradition, is the night when all evil and mischievous spirits roam the country to play their pranks on every body. While the olden-time tradition is that the spirits and supernatural things walk the earth on this night, it is now the custom for young men, young women and sometimes the older people, to make night hideous with their yells and depredations which are frequently committed on the public. While this is always considered as sport by those participating in the festivities of Halloween night, it frequently happens that property is destroyed and the community is perturbed only for the sake of what is called fun.

In Pendleton there is going to be no kick against innocent fun, but extra police will be on the force to night and if any of the over-zealous young people attempt to make life too burdensome for the citizens or destroy property they will be looked after.

The custom of the observance of Halloween originated in the seven teenth century when the Pantheon of Rome was converted into a place for Christian worship. It was decided by the church that a day should be set aside for the celebration of this event and that this day should be called "Feast of All Saints." Consequently the night before All-halloween or All Saints' Day was set apart for this occasion. At first it was considered a time when religious festivities and worshipping should be indulged in but later it became a day of fun and frolic and within the past decade it has become to be recognized almost universally as a time when all kinds of practical jokes should be played on the fellowman. Halloween is simply a relic of pagan times, when superstition reigned and was regarded, above all others, as a time when supernatural influence prevailed.

In some countries, especially in portions of England, Halloween is called "Nutchack Night"; while in Scotland, it has the same name by which it is known here. In Germany it goes by the name of "Walpurgis Night." Nuts and fruits are eaten by the superstitious of today who believe in the traditions brought down from olden time and many think that their fortune can really be read on this night by them doing some foolish act. However, in this enlightened day and world the evening is spent in dancing and gaiety far from rowdiness and deviltry.

LANDS HELD UP.

Frauds in Timber Entry in the Roseburg, Lakeview and Dalles Districts Causes Action of Government.

Washington, Oct. 28.—The secretary of the interior has just received positive evidence of extensive frauds being perpetrated in Oregon under the timber and stone act, whereby certain persons are seeking to acquire absolute control of the richest timber lands in the public domain in that state. The most flagrant violations of the law have occurred in the Roseburg, Lakeview and Dalles land districts. According to the secretary's advices people are being shipped into these districts by carloads and are immediately entering the forested lands under the timber and stone act. In other instances large tracts are being denuded of their timber by parties who are doing assessment work on what they assert to be mineral developments. There is strong proof that a large number of these mineral locations are on non-mineral land and have been made purely for the purpose of acquiring the timber. When this is accomplished they are abandoned.

So positive and convincing is the evidence now in the secretary's hands that immediate steps are to be taken to prosecute every one of the fraudulent entrymen. As a first step in this direction Secretary Hitchcock today ordered that all entries in Oregon under the timber and stone act be suspended pending specific investigation and directed that each timber entryman be served with a notice to show cause why his entry should not be cancelled. If, during this suspension, any entryman attempts to cut or remove timber from the tract sought by him, he will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

The ordered investigation will include the land offices at Roseburg, The Dalles and Lakeview to determine whether or not they have been in collusion with the perpetrators of the extensive frauds.

BICYCLES ON SIDEWALKS.

Editor of Salem Takes the Middle of the Road.

A very charming Salem woman has begged the editor to please put something in his paper to drive those horrid bicycles off the sidewalks.

There isn't anything this editor wouldn't do for any woman, charming or otherwise, unless it should be to pay her millinery bills.

Another equally charming woman asks the editor to say something about allowing all the sidewalks to be used for bicycles.

There he is, between the two charmers and the deep sea, as it were, and only a very narrow margin, but he will have no walk at all to stand on.

As there is a via media in everything under the sun, so there must be in this, and the editor takes the middle of the road.

The other day the editor saw with his own eyes a young man delivering papers for a Portland publisher on his bicycle on the forbidden sidewalks of State street.

Well, if that wouldn't jar your syntax! The impudence of the Portland publishers, coming here at all to sell papers, when Salem has such fine dailies. And riding forbidden sidewalks to do it, too. It was too much. Hadn't we better hang up our wheels until the new city boundaries are established?—Salem Journal.

A Bad Man From New England.

David Mather, a Connecticut Yankee, was one of the Dodge City "bad men." He once remarked, "These killers are all murderers. All of 'em look for the best of it. If I made up my mind I had to kill a man, I'd rather find him asleep than any other way." When he was deputy marshal of Los Vegas, a man stepped up to him, put a pistol in his face, and said, "You're the fellow who goes around here killin' people. I'll just fix you out right now." Mather threw his hands before his face and backed off. "No, no!" said he, "you are mistaken. I'm your friend. I'm no killer. I'm peaceable. I'm your friend. I'm your friend." The puzzled avenger hesitated and dropped his gun-hand by his side. As Mather shoved his pistol back in the holster, he glanced at the corpse and remarked, "Now don't make any more mistakes." Somebody told him one day to look out, that Bat Masterson would kill him. Sometimes he stuttered slightly. He said, "No, I may kill him. He will shove his gun in my stomach and orate. I'll turn around, put my hand in the middle of my back, and say, 'You shoot me right there; you can do it.' He will drop his hand by his side, and then he'll c-climb the golden stairs."—E. C. THIS IS OLD DR. KESSLER

One of the World's Greatest Specialists, Who Has Kept Hundreds From an Early Grave or the Insane Asylum.

Now, look here, young man, don't be so careless. Don't put off any longer; have your case attended to today, for your looks tell on you. You may conclude to get married some day, and to live happy you must be a man rugged and strong physically and mentally. So many divorce cases we hear of, if an investigation was made, would disclose the fact that physical and nervous weakness of the husband causes the wife to finally hate him. Women love a manly man, just as much as men love beautifully developed, healthy, red-cheeked women. Blisters and pimples show something wrong. All kinds of diseases are cured by this old doctor. It is not necessary to go to see him; in a few diseases where surgery is required or cancers, old ulcers and such, it is better to see him, but all weakness and private conditions can be cured at home. He has a perfect system for home treatment; he always answers your letters in a plain envelope and keeps every case a profound secret. Pay no attention to the little books you find on streets, but trust yourself to an old doctor who has been curing cases like yours for over a quarter of a century in this city. Always inclose 10 2-cent stamps when writing for consultation, and send small bottle of your urine if possible. Address,

J. HENRI KESSLER, M. D.

Manager of the St. Louis Medical and Surgical Dispensary
 Office, Hours, 9 A. M. to 9 P. M. Corner 2nd and Yamhill Sts., Portland, Ore.
