ANKENY TO THE SENATE.

Walla Walla County the Scene of a Bitter, Relentless Fight.

Walla Walla, Nov. 3.—Tomorrow Washington will be in the midst of a general state election, and one of the most energetic fights ever witnessed in the state. Three congressmen, a judge on the supreme bench, and a legislature, are to be chosen, while county officers will be elected to take the places of the present incumbents in January. While the campaign has been a quiet one it has been full of interest, and men of all parties have done their level best to bring about the desired results.

Walla Walla county, the home of Levi Ankeny, a candidate for the United States senate, has been the scene of the most bitter and relentless part of the campaign. Mr. Ankeny has been planning to carry his home county by a large vote, and the democrats, aided by a number of disaffected republicans, have waged a bitter fight against the republican ticket on this account. The campaign is now practically closed, and it looks as though Mr. Ankeny will win out tomorrow.

The ticket this year is a large one for an off year election, and the counting will be slow. The result may not be known in this county and in the state before Wednesday morning and perhaps nearly noon. The principal fight is being made on the legislative ticket, three members of the house being elected at this time.

Ideal Fall Shower.

A glorious rain began falling over the eastern part of Oregon and Washington yesterday afternoon, and a continuous downpour kept up all night. A heavy cloud obscured the sky yesterday and a wind similar to a Chinook preceded the rain for an hour or two. No wind accompanied the rain, and it was an ideal fall shower of unusual duration.

The farmers have been wishing for rain for weeks, so that the soil could be gotten in shape for fall seeding and early sprouting of grain. A few scattering showers have visited this section, but not enough water fell to soak the soil to any considerable depth. This morning the ground is a mass of mud, and streets and roads show the action of little rivers formed on the hard ground by the unusual downpour of last night. It is seldom that water runs very much in this section, but a real heavy rain always leaves pools of water and ditches by the roadside.

With a few days of warm weather the fall work will progress rapidly, and the grain now sown will soon begin to show itself above the barren surface of the wheat fields.

There is one rational way to treat nasal catarrh: the medicine is applied direct to the affected membrane. The remedy is Ely's Cream Balm. It restores the inflamed tissues to a healthy state without drying all the life out of them and it gives back the lost senses of taste and smell. The sufferer who is tired of vain experiments should use Cream Balm. Druggists sell it for 50 cents. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren street, New York, will mail it.

Refreshments will be served at La Dow hall, at dance given by Alpha Assembly, No. 9, Tuesday, Nov 4th.

PORTLAND WANTS

SPECIAL SESSION.

City Officials Set Forth Their Reasons in Second Petition.

The second petition urging Governor Geer to call a special session of the legislature was filed in his department last Friday. This petition is independent of all others and is presented by the officers of Portland, the signatures of 14 of whom appear thereon, and they ask that a special session be called for the purpose of passing the Portland charter, which was adopted by the citizens of Portland by ballot. The petition is given herewith in full:

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 23, '02. To the Honorable T. T. Geer, Governor of the State of Oregon.

Sir:—We, the undersigned officers of the city of Portland, do respectfully represent to you that after a careful consideration of the affairs of this city, we find there is a necessity for enlarging its powers and functions of government in order that the several departments may be maintained and rendered efficient. This matter is urgent. The city is growing with unprecedented rapidity. Our people demand better protection of life and property and the construction of the streets that will permit of traffic of a city. The present charter is wholly inadequate. In every part of the city bridges are closed and the authorities of the city are powerless to repair or renew them.

At the last election a charter, prepared by a board of representative citizens, was submitted to the people and indorsed by a vote of 10,807 for and only 1253 against. We believe that no charter for the government of a municipality has ever been submitted to the public affected by it and received so nearly a unanimous approval. It is of the greatest importance that this charter be enacted by the legislature in time that it may be operative and taxes levied pursuant to its provisions for the year 1903.

The welfare of Portland is of interest to the entire state, and with every progressive movement becomes more so. There are other questions of general interest to the state demanding legislative action at this time, and with all of which you are familiar, but if there were no other reasons, we believe that a matter so vital to this city should receive your careful attention and influence your judgment in determining the necessity of calling the legislature of the state together in special session.

We, therefore, respectfully petition you to call the members of the legislature in special session for the enactment of a charter for this city that has been approved by its people and for the consideration of other subjects which you may deem of public importance.

REISSUES OF UTAH GOVERNMENT MAPS.

Hurricane Cliff and Other Wonderful Natural Features of Southern Utah Accurately Portrayed.

The United States geological survey has recently published reprints of topographic maps of Southern Utah. One of these, the St. George sheet, represents a portion of the mountainous and desert country east of the Kanab region, in which are situated Iron, Pine Valley, and Beaver Dam mountains, the great natural fault known as Hurricane Cliff, and other features of interest. The Fish Lake sheet shows a section of country lying northeast of the Kanab region, in which are found Fish Lake and the plateau of the same name, Thousand Island mountain, and a number of associated peaks 11,000 feet or more in altitude. By the use of contour lines the map clearly indicates the location and precipitous character of the remarkable cliffs and the structural features common to that region.
