MEN, SAVE YOUR MONEY.

Within the past week, two or three hard-working men have squandered a summer's wages in this city. It is true, the money was their own. They worked for it, and have a right to spend it in the way they see fit. This is a free country, and every man has certain inalienable rights, which he boasts of and which are ornaments to American citizenship.

But this is only one side of the question. The other side is just as logical, and more directly applicable to local facts. In the organization of society, every responsible man is a part of the machinery of government, and is held answerable for his share of the failures that occur. He is bound by the compact of citizenship to make the present better than the past. He is a representative of society and as such, must protect it. Instead of tearing down he must add to the fabric. His actions are signboards for the young and inexperienced. His path will be the path of some who are influenced by his example.

This is the other side of the story and is always before us. In this day, and especially in this country, we demand of every man that he put the best foot forward and keep it forward. What is the use of all our elaborate social machinery and laws, if they have no salutary effect on the citizen? Why not do away with the great expense of maintaining them and have no code nor courts?

After working a whole summer and saving up a pittance for a future day is there any good business, any horse sense, any mental strength or force of character in coming to town and trying to see just how much Hades that summer's wages will make?

That must be a splendid mental vision which rises up before the fellow who is retracing his steps to a job which furnished the means for a week's hilarity. If that is what is called "hair pulling" after a case of protracted joyousness, deliver us from the path that leads a man a merry chase through a year's salary in one night.

SAID BY A PENDLETON BOY.

"I am an American, and don't take tips." This was the remark of a Pendleton boy to a correspondent of a Portland paper, a few days ago. The boy was not in a law office nor in the high school, but was in his overalls, working in a livery barn. Because of his quick and ready business methods, about the barn, the traveling man offered him 25 cents as a "tip" for hitching up a team. The boy made this little, everyday remark and refused to take it, adding that he was paid for his services. The boy thought no more of the incident, but it was overheard by his associates, who decided that it was a piece of literature worthy of thought. What is a "tip"?

When you get out of bed in a Pullman car, the porter brushes your hat and you make him a present of a small sum. He is there to wait upon you. He is paid for his services, but for being extraordinarily polite, you "tip" him. It encourages him to fawn before the next man, more than ever. The waiter comes to take your order at the table in the hotel, and in order to get a special dish, or an extra piece of pie, you "tip" him. He is also encouraged to extend the business possibilities before him. The "tip" is the ensign of servitude. It means that you must fawn and pander to some man who would impress you that he is above you. It is not American in its results. It lowers the proud thought of independence. It's meaning is a suggestion of slavery.

No true American who understands the meaning of a "tip," be it one dime or one thousand dollars, can afford to take it. It dims the glory of personal liberty and reduces the recipient of it to the level of the serf. The remark of the Pendleton boy should become an Oregon classic. It should be the motto of every boy. Remember that you can't take a "tip" and be a free man. It places you under an obligation to serve.

That is an excellent resolution which has been made by the Marion county representatives, in not promising a clerkship until after a caucus has been held and the number of clerks needed, determined. From year to year, a certain class of people feed upon the hopes of a clerkship. It spoils them for everything else. They don't make an effort to stay in a steady position, which would make them independent, but gauge all their actions by the clerkship list. We would like to see every young man and lady hold a clerkship in the legislature, but we don't want to see them spoiled for other good vocations in dreaming, and talking in their sleep of the clerkship craze.

The coal strike has made John Mitchell a leading man in public affairs. Hereafter he will always be in the foreground. The labor forces are now putting his name at the head of the list of candidates, for president of the American Federation, to succeed Gompers.

The next legislature should sharpen up its pruning knife and wade into the Oregon statutes with the determination to trim up the befogging laws that now keep lawyers sitting up nights peering through an X-ray machine, trying to find the meaning.

Coming of the "Natural Waist."

The men who are interested in woman's apparel may be divided into three classes—those who make money out of it, those who spend money for it, and those who have no financial interests involved, but who regard the female raiment with an aesthetic or artistic eye.

Of course, all men of rational mind and artistic sense belong to the latter class, whether they contribute to the wealth of dressmakers or not. It is very natural, then, that the proceedings of the National Dressmakers' Association, which is now holding a con-

NOT A RELIEF BUT A CURE

Helena, Mont., Oct. 4, 1902.
Dr. C. A. Ferrin,
Helena, Mont.
I wish to thank you for my relief. I was suffering agonies from piles and was taking morphine to relieve me, when, on the advice of a friend, I procured a bottle of your Ferrin Pile Specific and took a tablespoonful at night and another in the morning. At half past 12, noon, my wife gave me another tablespoonful, when my pain all stopped. In two days I was able to attend my regular business entirely relieved. It was simply wonderful.
Truly yours,
Julius Meyhoefer, Furrier,
Helena.

tion in the Fine Arts building of Chicago, is invested with wide popular interest, and that the present tendency toward the graceful and simple draping of the natural figure, as exhibited by the models displayed, is hailed by masculine humanity with delight.

This tendency is plainly disclosed in the evolution of the natural corset, which, of course, brings the natural waist. We are drifting gradually and delightfully toward the Greek models and ideas in woman's apparel. Even the costliest gowns are marvels of simplicity compared to the complex, profusely embellished creations of a few years ago. The curves of feminine beauty are brought out in graceful relief instead of being hidden under hideous mountains of flounces and ruffles.

The passing of the old-time coat of mail known as a corset was marked by one of the speakers, who said: "Cranks can't kick about tight lacing any more. Women don't want to lace tight now, because a natural waist—what would have been called a large waist two years ago—is the proper thing. The corsets are cut lower and allow the lungs full play. Instead of instruments of torture like the old, high-front affairs, they have hygienic value. One style, for instance, has been pronounced by physicians the ideal corset."

For the passing of this instrument of torture and the coming of the "natural waist" all mankind is truly thankful. It is doubtful if anyone of rational mind ever truly admired the tightly-laced, wasp-waisted woman. Naturalness in manner and dress has always stood for the highest attainment in female comeliness—and it always will.—Chicago Record-Herald.

RHEUMATISM

Rubbing with liniments, blistering, the application of plasters; in fact anything that will produce counter-irritation, is good for external treatment of Rheumatism, but these simple remedies do not reach the seat of the disease nor touch the real cause, and relief is therefore only temporary.

Rheumatism is due to Uric Acid and other irritant poisons in the blood, and as it circulates through the system, these acid poisons are deposited in the muscles, joints and nerves, and exposure to night air, cold east winds, or any sudden change in the weather, will bring on an attack which may last for a few days or linger on for months. Every battle with Rheumatism leaves the blood in poorer condition, while the corroding acids are gradually consuming the oils and fluids that lubricate the muscles and joints, and they become stiff and sometimes immovable.

Rheumatism, with its sharp, cutting pains, can never be conquered until the acid blood has been cleansed and purified, and all irritating substances neutralized and filtered out of the system, and nothing does this so promptly and effectually as S. S. S. Under the purifying and tonic effects of this vegetable remedy the blood is made pure, the general health is rapidly built up and the sufferer obtains happy relief from the torturing, nagging pains of Rheumatism.

Get rid of Rheumatism before it makes you nervous, peevish, cripple, or pain-racked invalid.
