A STUDY IN WOOD

SUBJECT DISCUSSED FROM THE GROUND UPWARD.

Cost of a Cord of Wood Epitomized—
How it Gets From Chopper to Consumer.

From the time the yellow pine, standing on the brow of the Blue Mountains, overlooking the Pendleton chimney tops, falls under the stroke of the woodman's axe, until the hired girl kicks the stove door shut upon it, in the stampede of the Saturday pastry baking, it goes through an exciting career. The man who fells the tree and ricks it up, collects $1 per cord from the consumer. The man with the wide-tired wagon, driving the best pulling team on earth, who hauls the wood from the stump to the railroad track, collects another dollar from the consumer. The man whose occupation is to load it on the cars, at the various mountain wood yards, and whose efficiency is in piling it up on edge so that a carload of wood resembles a carload of holes, with an occasional stick of wood between them—for his professional service, collects 15 cents per cord. Then the traffic question come in. From the territory in which all the Pendleton wood supply points are located, the freight rate is $1 per cord to this city. By the time a carload of wood is swung around the 10-degree curves and jolted and jostled at 20 stops by a rough engineer, it looks like it might have been in a Central American earthquake. It is so well shaken down, then another joyous round of charges begins. The man who unloads it from the car takes 25 cents from the man who is unfortunate enough to have to buy wood to split. The story is not yet told. The "buzz" saw man, who is fighting hard to make enough money on which to retire from business in two years, meekly collects 50 cents for sawing it and when the last stick is thrown over the back yard fence, as far as possible from the washed door, the actual cost of that cord of wood is $3.90, to say nothing of the profits which must be made by the buyer and seller. It has been handled by six separate parties, who have each swelled the price in modest proportion to their conscience. To condense the expense let us say, $1 for chopping; $1 for hauling to cars; 15 cents for loading on cars; $1 for freight; 25 cents for unloading and 50 cents for sawing; total, $3.90. This is the story of the yellow pine. If you don't know it now, you will learn it before spring.

All friends of the parish are cordially invited to attend. The reception committee is composed of Mrs. R. G. Thompson, Mrs. A. D. Stillman and Messrs. T. G. Hailey and J. T. Asleep Amid Flames.

Breaking into a blazing home, some firemen lately dragged the sleeping inmates from death. Fancied security, and death near. It's that way when you neglect coughs and colds. Don't do it. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption gives perfect protection against all throat, chest and lung troubles. Keep it near and avoid suffering, death and doctor's bills. A teaspoonful stops a late cough, persistent use the most stubborn. Harmless and nice tasting, it's guaranteed to satisfy by Tallman & Co. Price 50c and $1. Trial bottles free.

Cannot Repay Ransom.

Miss Ellen M. Stone declares it is not her intention to reimburse all the persons who contributed to her release from the brigands. It is her purpose, she says, to repay such persons who embarrassed themselves financially by giving toward her ransom. She adds: "I cannot help but think that God has some plan to direct attention to his mission work in that far country. In pursuance of that plan it was our part to suffer and that of friends to give."

My little girl's hair did not grow. It was harsh and dry, and would break off, and her scalp was full of dry scurf that I could not comb out. A place around the back of her head was bald, and on the top of her head the hair was only two or three inches long. I used CUTICURA SOAP and some CUTICURA Ointment, and her hair has come in thick and as soft as silk. MRS. A. DOWNEY, Alfred, O.

Warm sponges with CUTICURA SOAP and light dressings with CUTICURA, point of emollients, will clear the scalp and break crusts, scales, and dandruff, soothe irritated and itching surfaces.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucus lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; also cases of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucus surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.
