THE TOWN OF UKIAH

WELL SITUATED AND GATEWAY TO GOOD COUNTRY.

Surrounded by Stockraising, Dairying and Great Timber Belt — Good School and Prosperous Business Institutions.

[Staff Correspondence.]

Ukiah, Ore., Nov. 10.—Ukiah was named for the town of Ukiah, California. The grounds occupied by the town were originally laid out by the Camas Land Company in 1890, and the postoffice was established the same year, with D. C. Whiting as first postmaster. E. B. Gamble, one of the organizers of the company named the town and still lives near the place and is one of the oldest pioneers of Camas Prairie.

Ukiah's Advantages.

Ukiah is not only the central point of a wealthy portion of Camas prairie, where stockraising and dairying predominate, but is surrounded by a large scope of country with undeveloped resources. The timber belt alone lying at her door promises a large income in the future. It is now being taken up at a rapid rate and all of the idle lands are being fenced.

Ukiah is also the gateway to the traffic from the John Day country and other rich points in the interior of the state. It is a popular stopping point for teamsters, stockmen and travelers. Millions of dollars' worth of cattle are driven through this place annually, as many as four thousand head having been driven through or fed at this place within a few days' time. Three hundred head, aggregating $12,000 in value were fed here recently in one night.

Early Mail Service.

The first mail route was established to Ukiah in 1890. Prior to that time citizens had to go to Alba for their mail, and old pioneers tell about how in olden times they used to send across the Blue mountains for their mail, the carrier often having to go on snow shoes. The first four-horse stage driven between Ukiah and Pendleton was driven by J. T. Huston, a pioneer of this place.

A "Dry" Town.

Ukiah is one of the oddities among interior towns in the fact that it is strictly a prohibition town. There has never been a drop of liquor sold in the place. When the company that organized the town was formed, an agreement was entered into by which no property should be sold upon which the sale of liquors should be permitted. The first deed contained this clause and all subsequent deeds have contained it and the agreement has been lived up to religiously. The "drug store racket" will not work here. The owner of the drug store is justice of the peace and a tea-totaller and under no circumstances will he break the rule.

Educational Point.

The school is one of the features of Ukiah. This, it is claimed, is one of the good results of a prohibition town. They claim that farmers send their sons to school here through the winter months without fear of having them led astray. They also expect the place to make a great educational point. They claim that it is a healthy location and that the universal mildness of the climate makes it a desirable place to live.

Ukiah is situated in school district No. 80. Misses Stella L. and Lulu O. Marple, of Pendleton, are at present teaching and have one of the best schools in the county. There are 74 pupils enrolled and 65 in attendance. Thirty-eight of these are in the primary department and 30 are in the higher grade. The school is well equipped with apparatus, but has sold its library for the reason that it was not well selected. The district owns property to the value of about $1000 and is about out of debt. The school board consists of William McReynolds, (chairman), Frank Hilbert and Tom Gilliland. W. T. Sellers is clerk. The school is open an average of seven months a year.

Good Water.

Ukiah is a well-watered place. The water is cold and pure and travelers claim that it is a treat, in fact, to get a drink of water anywhere in Camas Prairie, and it abounds everywhere. At only a short depth it may be found in unlimited quantities.

Churches.

Besides being a daily stage station, with express office and postoffice, Ukiah has a telephone line and is well equipped with business institutions. She has two church organizations and one church building. The Liberal branch of the United Brethren have a building which cost about $1000. The Methodists are organized, but have no church building. Neither organization has a pastor at present and no services have been conducted here for some time. Reverend Baldwin, a Methodist minister recently from Kansas has been stationed at Pilot Rock, and will divide his time between Pilot Rock, Alba and Ukiah.

Business Institutions.

Ukiah has a weekly newspaper, the Sentinel, which is in its third volume. Fred Hewett is the editor and proprietor. C. A. Despain runs a general store. He has been connected with the store a number of years, having recently bought the interest of his brother, Jerry Despain, one of the best known business men in the county. He is fully capable of keeping up the high standard of the business. His stock is well arranged and he supplies a large trade.

S. Kirk also has a good store, far above the average in small towns. He carries an assortment of general merchandise, and this means almost everything. He has been in business in Ukiah six years and draws a large trade throughout Camas Prairie.

W. T. Sellers carries medicines and sundries as well as a large stock of cigars, tobaccos and confectionaries. Dr. G. U. Snapp also has an office at this store. He has been in the practice of medicine at Ukiah for three years.

E. E. Gibbs has a splendid blacksmith shop. He does general blacksmithing, horseshoeing, wagon repairing and woodwork. He is also agent for the Big Jones mowing machines, for which A. Kunkel & Co., of Pendleton, are the agents.

F. W. Boynton has a meat market, at which he handles a large amount of fresh meats. He has been in business four years and his trade extends as far as Pilot Rock. He puts up his own ice the first of the year from Camas creek and it is a splendid quality. In February the ice is several inches in thickness and he has no trouble in putting up enough to last from one season to another.

Ukiah has a saw mill with large capacity, which is not in operation at present.

H. H. McReynolds runs the Ukiah hotel and the livery stable. These are two of the best institutions of the kind in the county. Mr. Huston has been in the business for four years, though he has lived in the Camas Prairie country for more than 20 years, and operated the stage line between Pendleton and Ukiah for a number of years. The hotel property alone cost more than $3500. He is able to entertain all travelers that come this way, as well as provide comfortable quarters for teams.

Among the coming towns of the Inland Empire, Ukiah will not be left behind. She has the country to back her, and with a splendid corps of live business men to develop her resources and keep her well to the front her growth cannot be otherwise than rapid, both as to population and wealth.

DE LANEY.

Natives Are Indifferent.

One timber locator recently from Michigan said: "You Oregonians are strange people. Here you have lived for years in one of the finest timber belts in the United States and seem oblivious of the fact. Many of you have never bought an acre of timber and not even exercised your homestead right. People from the deforested states in the East especially Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota are locating the finest of the timber in Southern Oregon, Tillamook, Grant and Crook county timber belts. You seem utterly ignorant of the value, and indifferent to the fate of your forests. Excellent timber exists in Eastern Oregon. Finer timber than that in Tillamook county is not anywhere to be found. Your resources are so numerous it makes you indifferent to one of your most important products—your timber. When it is largely owned by outside corporations you will begin to wonder why you did not preserve it from spoliation."

Startling, But True.

"If every one knew what a grand medicine, Dr. King's New Life Pills is," writes D. H. Turner, Duncasport, Pa., "you'd sell all you have in a day. Two weeks' use has made a new man of me." Infalible for constipation, stomach and liver troubles. 25 cents at Tallmann & Co's. drug store.

The supreme court of the United States has decided that any stream in which logs can be floated is a navigable stream and that therefore no obstruction, such as log booms, can be constructed therein without the consent of the war department.

GOOD SHOW TONIGHT.

The Comedy-Drama, "On the Stroke of 12," at the Frazer.

The patrons of melodrama in this city will have an opportunity of seeing W. B. Lawrence's production of the sensational comedy-drama, "On the Stroke of 12," the great success of the past three seasons. The success of this piece has proven it a strong play, abounding in startling scenes and climaxes and with complete new scenic equipment and greatly strengthened company, it should be one of the strongest popular-priced attractions on the road this year. The play takes its title from an attempted escape from prison that the hero makes in the third act, and a scene in a counterfeiter's den is another novel and exciting incident. The scenery is carried complete for the production, and it will be among the handsomest shown on the stage this season. "On the Stroke of 12" should insure a packed house at the Frazer tonight.

Mr. Horace Lewis in "A Poor Relation."

An attraction of an exceptional high order will be the appearance of Mr. Horace Lewis in the late Sol Smith Russell's famous comedy, "A Poor Relation," at the Frazer opera house on Saturday night of this week. Mr. Lewis has been the great favorite of the Castle Square Theater in Boston for the past five years.

It is said that he gives such a strong and life-like performance of Noah Vale that the audience immediately enters with complete sympathy into the story of his trials, reverses and success. The indications are for a very large audience for this attraction. The seats will be on sale at Frazer's tomorrow morning, Wednesday, at 9 o'clock.

Fat Veal.

Plenty of nice fat veal at Farmers' Meat Market. C. Platzroeder.

General Grant's War Horse.

General Grant took great delight in exhibiting his horses to his friends with whom he was intimate. Once at his stable with a friend he said: "Perhaps you would like to see the horse I rode during all the campaigns I commanded. The animal was ordered to be brought out."

The gentleman was surprised to find the horse no larger than a lady's palfrey—small, slender, agile limbed, black as a coal, intelligent, mild, an eye like a hawk and a lick on the mane for all the world like a boy's cowlick. It was such an animal as women and children would make a family pet.

The gentleman pronounced the animal a beauty, but expressed a doubt to its endurance.

"Endurance!" said the general. "This animal exceeds in endurance any horse flesh I ever saw. I have taken him out at daylight, and kept him in the saddle till dark, and he came in as fresh when I dismounted as when we started in the morning. There isn't enough gold in America to buy him."

A Neighboring Industry.

The La Grande Sugar Factory, while not yet done with this season's beet crop has had the most successful run it has enjoyed since its establishment. Up to last night, the amount of beets handled was 10,000 tons; the amount of new sugar made, 23,000 sacks, besides 2000 sacks of brown sugar, from the syrup left over from last year. The crop will be harvested by the end of next week.

The Michigan bean crop is short this year to such an extent that farmers will lose $1,500,000. The price has jumped from $1.50 to $2.25 per hundred this week.

The International Livestock Exposition will be held in Chicago, November 29 to December 6.
