APPLE GROWERS MEET.

Will Discuss Topics Relating to the Care and Cultivation of the Popular Fruit.

St. Louis, Nov. 18.—As a result of the movement started last August the first American Apple Growers' Congress began its sessions here today. Prominent growers from Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Virginia, Kansas, Nebraska, W. Virginia, Alabama, New Mexico and other states and territories filled the assembly room of the Southern hotel when the gathering was formally opened. Permanent organization was effected, after which the growers listened to several papers on soils and other topics of interest, followed by general discussions. The sessions of the congress are to continue three days. While the primary purpose of the congress is to devise schemes, if possible, to divert into the pockets of the growers a larger amount of the money obtained by the sale of the fruit, there will also be discussions of topics relating to the care and cultivation of apples, packing, etc. The attendance is fully up to the expectations of the promoters of the movement and the congress promises to be of material benefit to those engaged in the apple-growing industry.

Moynihan admits owing worth a quarter of a million dollars, but declines to give any details as to how he acquired his wealth.

IRRIGATION CONVENTION IN SESSION AT PORTLAND

The Most Enthusiastic, Business-Like, Earnest, Able Body of Men Ever Assembled in Oregon.

THE LARGEST DELEGATIONS ARE FROM CROOK, PAKER AND UMATILLA COUNTIES

According to program, the National Irrigation Association convention convened in Portland at 10 o'clock. Large delegations from the eastern portion of the state are present, and the town is full of people from the entire state of Oregon. Caucuses of the various delegations were held yesterday and various propositions and measures were framed, which will be brought up before the convention. The president, secretary and executive chairman of the National Congress are present, as are also the government experts. Indications point to the fact that much business will be transacted at this congress and that a hard fought battle will be seen between the private irrigation companies and those in favor of public or government work.

Portland, Nov. 18.—Amid fluttering banners, flying flags and many colored designs, emblematic of the wondrous aims of the movement, the Oregon Irrigation Association convened this morning. Although a constant downpour of rain has had a dampening effect upon the sidewalks, streets and house-tops, the splendid ardor that marks the progress of the Westerner in his great undertakings, is fresh as the verdant foothills of his native heath and is more exuberant this morning than ever, if possible, in anticipation of the patriotic program that lies before him. Since Monday morning the constant stream of delegates has poured into this city. The flowing badges in the jostling crowds at the Union depot testified to the full attendance from every part of the state, of the regular delegates. Besides delegates, hundreds of visitors are coming to listen and take part in the discussions that are incident to this great irrigation movement.

Official Badge.

The official badge of the convention is similar to that of the National Irrigation Congress, which was held at Colorado Springs recently. It is a green ribbon on a stiff back, on which is printed the following in gilt letters:

DELEGATE OF THE OREGON IRRIGATION ASSOCIATION, PORTLAND, 1902.

Store the Floods. Save the Forests.

Additions to the program.

The following additions to the program have been made:

Tuesday afternoon—Address, Prof. A. E. Chandler of the United States Experimental Association. Address by Fred J. Holmes, President of the National Irrigation Congress.

Tuesday Evening—Reply to mayor's address by Hon. D. Solis Cohen.

Wednesday Morning—Report of the executive committee, Henry Hahn, chairman. Address by A. P. Davis and Charles P. Fitch, government engineers. Address by Fred J. Kiesel, executive chairman National Irrigation Congress.

Wednesday 2 o'clock—Address by Judge J. C. Moreland and Booth Tucker.

Largest Delegations.

Naturally, that section of Oregon most directly interested in irrigation projects, those counties containing the greatest possibilities of development, have the largest delegations on hand. Crook county lined up with the largest delegation from the state, Baker county next and Umatilla third on the list. A more enthusiastic, business-like, earnest, able body of men has never before assembled in this city.

Opening Exercises.

A. O. U. W. hall is a picturesque irrigation temple today. Streamers, banners, bunting, insignias of that great future state of perfection in store for Oregon, are everywhere in abundance. There is an air about the personality of the convention, the bluff, cheery, hardy western traits and individualities that renders it the most typical western convention that has yet been held in this state. At precisely 10 o'clock, President Devers called the convention to order. That gavel-stroke will be heard around the world, in the increased

ESCAPED LA LOMA

SAYS "PURPLE MOTHER" HAS DECEIVED HIM.

Henry Baron Escapes From the Theosophic Colony—Discouraged and Broken-Hearted.

San Diego, Nov. 18.—Henry Baron is the adopted son of Mrs. Katherine Tingley, "Purple Mother" of the "Lotus Buds" of Point Loma, and high priestess of the Universal Brotherhood, whose doctrines of theosophy are founded in the union of the supreme god of the Raja Yoga. Baron escaped yesterday afternoon from the Point Loma Lamasey and is now in hiding in San Diego.

"I was on guard at the colony last night," he said. The colony is one of the departments of the Raja Yoga. They are afraid over there that their enemies will attack them in the night, so they place a guard in relays all over the grounds and buildings.

"I left Point Loma because I am discouraged and broken-hearted. I am disheartened by the way the poor people are treated there. Those who are not rich enough to pay their way must work for the others. There are mothers over there who are not allowed to see their children. Mrs. Tingley says that mother love breeds selfishness. So they keep the children by themselves. Nobody except the 'Cabinet of the Purple Mother' are allowed to converse with these children or have anything to do with them.

"I know nothing personally of the manner in which they are treated. I do know, however, that there are two divisions—one at the colony and one at the homestead. The homestead is where the better class of children live. These are fed on the best the market can produce. The students, as they are called, who live at the colony, are stunted.

Baron charges that Mrs. Tingley has deceived him as to parentage and withheld a heritage from him.

COMMITTED SUICIDE.

Well-Known Citizen of Eastern Oregon Takes Strychnine to End His Troubles.

La Grande, Nov. 18.—Coroner J. C. Henry received information Saturday afternoon that Peter Smith, generally known as "Dutch Pete," who resides on McCoy Creek, about 42 miles from this city, had been found dead in his cabin, and left at once for the Smith farm to hold an inquest over the body. Mr. Henry returned Sunday evening and reports Smith committed suicide by taking strychnine, a cup containing a quantity of that drug being found sitting by the head of his bed. The jury summoned, returned a verdict to that effect.

SOCIALISM WAS TOPIC OF SESSION

Contrary to Expectation, the Gompers Investigation Was Not Taken Up.

WANTS PENSIONS FOR AGED WORKING PEOPLE.

Morning Session of the American Federation of Labor Largely Devoted to Debate of Socialist Resolutions.

New Orleans, Nov. 18.—Contrary to expectation, the Gompers investigation was not taken up when the American Federation of Labor session opened this morning. The chair announced that he would appoint a fifth member of the committee who will be an umpire. The morning session was largely devoted to the debate of a socialist resolution offered by delegate Berger, of Milwaukee, which urges the Federation to make an effort to secure national legislation to provide pensions for aged working people.

English Miners United.

The debate was interrupted for the interruption of the foreign delegates, who made brief addresses. Edwards, of Great Britain, in his speech, said that he had heard of Morgan's purchase of the English mines. He assured the convention that Morgan would find a solid union of miners facing him and that he would be compelled to pay living wages whether the mines paid dividends or not.

Mayor Schmitz Cheered.

The convention received telegrams from Mayor Schmitz, of San Francisco, announcing his departure from Chicago for the convention, with prolonged cheering.

A telegram from John Mitchell, regretting his inability to attend, was also cheered.

Demanding Investigation.

The committee of men to investigate Shaffer's charges against Gompers, reported an inability to secure a fifth man. Gompers took the floor and demanded an immediate investigation and gave notice that unless the committee was formed by tomorrow morning he would ask the discharge of all investigation by the convention.

Shaffer excitedly spoke, saying that he was willing to have such action at once. A delegate started to make a motion to discharge the committee, when the acting chairman declared the convention adjourned until 2 o'clock tomorrow.
