CUNNINGHAM SELLS

THE SHEEP KING OF UMATILLA NO LONGER.

For $175,000, John Garrison and Gus La Fontaine Purchase His Vast Interests in Land and Sheep.

A deal which involves $175,000, was consummated between Pendleton men Tuesday, when John Garrison and Gus La Fontaine bought out Charles Cunningham.

This deal includes all of Mr. Cunningham's interests except his town property, which was kept by him, where he will make his home and live in comfort on the interest of his money. The deal includes 19,000 sheep, 20,000 acres of land, 50 head of horses, 15,000 tons of hay and all the vehicles, farming machinery and other stuff belonging to the farms and sheep camps.

Mr. Cunningham has been in the sheep business in Umatilla county for about 35 years, and in this time he has prospered and accumulated, until he was known far and wide as the sheep king of Eastern Oregon, having the largest number of sheep, held by any one man in the eastern part of the state. He had in his flock the best blooded sheep to be found in the country. Not content to keep only the scrub sheep with which he started out more than 30 years ago, each year he added some new blood to his flock, which made the sheep among the best for wool and size in the county.

The sheep are now in their winter quarters on Butter and Birch creeks and some are in Morrow county. Mr. Cunningham has land both in Umatilla and Morrow counties, and he has some of his sheep and stock in this county and some across the line in Morrow.

The new owners of this vast amount of land and sheep need no introduction to the people of Pendleton. Mr. Garrison has been in the stock business in Umatilla county for the past 19 or 20 years and has made a success of the business. Mr. La Fontaine is one of the best known caterers in the town. He has been running a restaurant and hotel in Pendleton for the past 23 years and is known by all who visit Pendleton. When he came here he had very little money. Today, being able to engineer such a deal as the above, where the cash is all paid down, means that he has made a success of the restaurant business and there is no doubt but he and Mr. Garrison, who is equally as shrewd a business man as Mr. La Fontaine, will succeed in the stock business.

Mr. Cunningham only retains his town property and such property as is needed in the city for his own comfort. He will spend the rest of his days in Pendleton, where he will take life easy.

Mr. La Fontaine will retain his restaurant and town property and Mr. Garrison will look after their stock interests.

Mr. Garrison left this morning for the sheep camps to look over the sheep and see just how many head there were in the deal.

STUDENT OF HYPNOTISM.

Thomas Nye, Formerly of This City, Has Wonderful Ability in the Art.

The Spokesman-Review, of recent date contained more than a column write-up about Thomas C. Nye, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Nye, of this city. This story is about Mr. Nye's success as a hypnotist and it gives a lengthy interview from him on the subject.

It seems that Mr. Nye has been studying hypnotism for the amusement of himself and his friends for six or seven years and, although he has never given public exhibitions, and does not contemplate such a move, according to the Review, he has mastered the art.

The Spokesman-Review says in part:

"Mr. Nye, who is employed in a local furniture store, is an adept in the science of hypnotism. He performs all the feats except mind reading, accomplished by McEwen, who has given many public demonstrations in Spokane theaters. Mr. Nye also performs the feat of mental attraction, that as far as known, is entirely new in hypnotism. He is able to draw a subject in the hypnotic sleep in any direction without touching him. The subject, after being placed on the floor in a rigid state, can be drawn to a sitting posture or the feet can be raised, the arms and even the middle of the body, so that only the feet and head touch the floor. All this is done without contact or verbal orders and with the eyes of the subject closed."

The friends of Mr. Nye here will be pleased to know of his success as a hypnotist. He was born and brought up in Pendleton and all the young people know him. A few years ago he went from here to Pomeroy, Wash., and there was married. He was engaged in the jewelry business and was burned out. Later he went to Spokane, and has resided there since.

Good Dressers Wear Good Clothes

Not necessarily expensive, as the reason of the unvarying success of the big store has been its desire, purpose and intent to sell only such merchandise as could be called trade builders in the true sense. A trade builder is an item of merit. The merit of an article depends upon the prices asked for it. As we buy only from the recognized leaders of American manufactures, we remove to the utmost limit, all thought of inferiority, and are in a position to claim first class value. Therefore when you buy at the big store you get the best, are satisfied while using it and pleased to call again. We are pleased to see you return.

smith and machine shop. This is one of the pioneer institutions of the place, having been conducted by the Lieualiens since the town was first established.

William Deardorf has a feed barn and has been in business two years. S. V. Knox is the only lawyer in the place. He is one of the pioneers of the county.

H. E. Waite is local agent for the O. R. & N. and also telegraph operator and Pacific Express agent.

M. A. Baker is postmaster and Maud Baker is the assistant.

Dr. J. A. Best, the present mayor is the local physician. He has been in the town six or eight years and reports that during all of that time there has only been half a dozen cases of typhoid ever which he points to as an illustration that the place is a healthy point.

All of these business institutions report business good. Every one looks forward to a large increase in population and business and the croakers are not to be found in Weston. In the language of Charlie Pierce "Weston is all right."

MISS MYRTLE CROCKETT DEAD.

Had Been in the Walla Walla Hospital for More Than Two Months.

A telegram was received this morning from Walla Walla stating that Miss Myrtle Crockett, sister of Miss Edith Crockett, of this city, died in the hospital there early this morning.

Miss Crockett has been in the hospital for several months. She underwent a very serious operation and it was thought she was on the road to recovery but two weeks ago she became worse and Miss Edith left for her bedside. She gradually grew worse until the end. She was quite well known here where she had many warm friends who will regret to hear of her untimely demise. The
