TAYLOR GREEN WRITES FROM FAR OKLAHOMA.

Forty Years Ago Settled on Pine Creek—Southern Crops—Livestock and Farm News From the Southwest.

In a private letter, T. B. H. Green, of Woodward, O. T., formerly of Umatilla county, writes of that new country and its opportunities. Mr. Green went to Oklahoma in 1895, from Grande Ronde valley. He was a resident of Weston from 1862 to 1875, when he purchased a home near Hot Lake. He afterward sold this place and bought near Union, where he owned about two sections of farm land, when he disposed of his property in 1895 to follow the frontier settlement once more. In the opening of the Cherokee strip, Mr. Green writes as follows:

"I have just returned from Kansas City, where I sold four carloads of 2-year-old steers, which brought 75 cents on foot. Have 1200 acres of pasture fenced on Indian Creek six miles south of Woodward, the county seat of Woodward county. There is a world of range in this country, as there is very much of the sand hills and river bluffs sections that will not be located on. Water is plentiful, in most places, and the creek that runs through my pasture reminds me of Pine Creek in Umatilla county, except instead of the fine timber that grows there, we have a growth of scrubby elm, white oak, black jack and cottonwood here.

Many Changes There.
Since 1893, this strip of country has gone through a wonderful change. It is now a solid wheat farm from one county to another, except the range hills. For four years wheat has been an excellent crop, for the country ranging from 25 to 40 bushels per acre. The soil is fairly well adapted to wheat raising, but the climate is unfavorable. We have a hot wind from the south that cooks the growing crops some seasons, like they had been in a bake oven.

"Claims that were vacant for three years after the country was opened for settlement, sold this year for $2500 to $3500 each. We are close to markets here. It is only 12 hours travel with stock to Kansas City.

Livestock.
This is a natural cattle country. It is like Texas in many respects and cattle thrive here wonderfully. The native, long-horned Texas "dogies" are replaced with fine Hereford and Durham herds. Very few people have anything but the best heaves left. Horses do well also, after they once become acclimated, but the horses I drove here from Oregon didn't "shed off" for three years, and would not fatten on the grass in this country. They are thrifty now, however, and are equal to the natives in every respect. The Texas fever is a great drawback to cattle raising, but we are controlling it, to a great extent by strict quarantine rules. Hogs are afflicted with the cholera so badly that it is out of the question to invest much money in them.

Crops and Fruit.
The principal crops are cane, sorghum, kafir corn, millet, cow peas, corn, wheat and alfalfa. The soil is sandy and warm and all the southern crops, including cotton, grow in abundance. Peaches are native to this climate. I have peach trees that grew from the seed, planted three years ago, that were loaded with fruit this year. Apples do not do so well, as they require a northern climate to grow at their best. Watermelons spring up everywhere a seed is dropped. I have seen a patch an acre in extent on the prairie at some camping place, where melons were eaten the year before. Back of my house stand a half dozen persimmon trees that are loaded down with ripening fruit.

Reminiscent.
"Forty years ago in September I drove down on to Pine Creek, Umatilla county, and took my axe and went into the mountains and began cutting logs for a house and barn. It only seems a short time, but it has been more than a generation. My children and grandchildren and great-grandchildren have grown to manhood and womanhood since that autumn day. After all, Umatilla county is hard to beat. There are advantages there which are actually not found in any other country I know of."

There are 1860 square miles of peat bogs in Ireland.

WINTER ON STEWART CREEK.

Minger & McDonald Have Bought the Late John Luhr's Ewes.
John Luhr, Jr., and M. E. Pomeroy are in town today from their home on Stewart Creek, four and a half miles east of Pilot Rock. Mr. Luhr is settling up the estate of his father, John Luhr Sr., deceased, and has just sold 1950 ewes to John Minger and James McDonald, of Baker City.

They say winter has made its appearance at their place. They have had some snow and frost, but the snow did not last long.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rattling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

Two Vacancies.
There will be two vacancies from Oregon at the Annals of the Naval Academy during the coming school year, due to the failure of all nominees of Senator Simon to pass the recent examinations held in Washington, and the fact that Senator Mitchell did not nominate. Senator Simon's successor and Senator Mitchell will be requested to make nominations after the 5th of March, to fill these places. The next examination will be held in April.

The Eastern Oregon State Teachers' Association will be held at La Grande November 24, 25 and 26.

WOMEN and especially mothers are most competent to appreciate the purity, sweetness, and delicacy of CUTICURA SOAP, and to discover new uses for it daily. Its remarkable emollient, cleansing, and purifying properties derived from CUTICURA, the great skin cure and purifier of emollients, warrant its use in preserving, purifying, and beautifying the complexion, hair, and face, and in the form of washes and soaps for liberative weaknesses, itching, irritations and chafings, too free or offensive perspiration, and for many sensitive purposes which readily suggest themselves.

In many of the above conditions, gentle assistance with CUTICURA will prove of astonishing benefit.
