UMATILLA COUNTY REVIEWED.

The East Oregonian is standing on Umatilla county soil, breathing the atmosphere that blesses the county and wishes to truly reflect the spirit that beats in the great central heart of her enterprising and progressive people.

The resources that lie like a jeweled and resplendent border about this county and state, are a common source of pride to all.

To truthfully and thoroughly estimate those resources and put them before the public is a work of pleasure and satisfaction. To keep pace with the progress of the rural districts, to keep in touch with the home life and fireside sentiment of the people of this county and state is the earnest aim of this paper.

Proud of the staunch devotion to home, the hardy manhood and womanhood, the ready charity and unceasing energy of those who have wrought the grandeur of our common country, it is with joy, with pride and your achievement before the mirror of the public, that your kindly and genial features, your wealth and your opportunity may be seen and admired by the outside world.

In setting forth the industrial history of Umatilla county, the chief aim is to be absolutely just. The co-operation of the people in gathering facts, pioneer history and business data, is earnestly solicited and will be duly appreciated. There must be no misunderstanding among friends. You are in possession of facts and secrets that are valuable to you and the public and you are invited to make them known.

The outside settlements in this county are the pride of our people. The wheat fields that pour their golden harvest into the granaries of trade, the vast stock ranges, thrilling with industrial activity, are vital to the business of the county. To rightfully represent these, and to artfully picture them for the admiration of the public is the basis of all local pride that animates each effort.

The kindly notices of the county press are appreciated and its co-operation is invited. Umatilla county is a theme that is exhaustless, and one which each individual citizen can enlarge upon by a special effort at this time.

MARKETS AT OUR DOORS.

During the year just closed, Japan imported $2,000,000 worth of flour from the United States, mostly Oregon manufacture. She imported $500,000 worth of lumber; steam boilers to the value of $500,000; condensed milk, $500,000; wool, $150,000; hides and pelts, $100,000; salted fish, $200,000; paper, $200,000 and bacon, $100,000.

The total imports from the United States into Japan this year, amount to $11,243,603.50. Ninety per cent of the articles imported can be manufactured in Oregon and are native to Oregon soil and products.

The item of flour alone can be supplied from Oregon mills. The wheat that is loaded on foreign vessels in our ports might as well be manufactured into flour in our inland towns, at a profit to the millers, and to the idle labor of the country. The condensed milk can be manufactured in Oregon. The last report of the food and dairy commissioner shows that 40 cars of condensed milk comes into Oregon each year. With the vast facilities of range, milk cows, transportation and excellent advantages for manufacturing industries in the way of water power, fuel and lack of competition, Oregon should supply this trade in Japan and the Philippines.

The settlement of the interior counties with a class of thrifty, industrious people, awake to the advantages that lie untouched in Oregon, will be a long stride toward meeting this commercial opening. Umatilla, Morrow, Union, Wasco and Gilliam counties alone, in Eastern Oregon, can furnish the $2,000,000 worth of flour. They can supply the demand for butter, cheese, lumber, wool and meat. The commodities are at our command and the market is awaiting our tardy movements. Will irrigation and its accompanying revelation stimulate us to greater effort? Will a touch of new vigor from the excellent class of immigrants that are flocking to our interior districts, act as an incentive to make a harder struggle in the rivalry of Pacific Coast trade? Not half the manufactures are established in Oregon that she will support. We are skimming off the surface, at different points; we are plowing very shallow; if we want a good harvest of trade we must dig down deep and stir up the unused resources that lie beneath the surface.

The idea of Oregon, with 5,000,000 acres of range and 200,000 milk cows, importing condensed milk, is surprising and ridiculous. The same area of country in the East would furnish the world half its food products. This state in the near future must meet the nations of the world in the matchless rivalry of commerce. Our advantages give us the choice position in the race.

BOER PROPER NAMES.

General Botha's name is sounded by the public as if the first syllable rhymed with the word "loath." The "th" in Dutch has not the English sound, but it is regarded merely as a variant of the letter "t." The names Botha, Martha and De Mott are pronounced Botta, Martta and De Mott. The "o" in Botha, has, moreover, a lengthened sound, something intermediate between the "o" sound as heard in the words "boat" and "loot." In De Wet's name the mistake arises from the tendency to pronounce the name as if it were wholly English. The South African pronunciation of De Wet is distinctly De Vet, the De being sounded as a Frenchman would pronounce it. Delarey's name suffers the least in an educated mouth, though the crowd has a tendency to pronounce it "Deelarry," with a strong accent on the second syllable. The general himself sounds the end syllable very strongly, although the two other syllables are also pronounced with a distinct stress upon them.

Quaint as these mistakes are to South Africans who understand Dutch, the generals would no doubt be the first to recognize that their pronunciation of certain English words must sound equally ludicrous to an Englishman. General De Wet, for instance, speaks of "Mr. Kamberlain," as Mr. Kruger has always done, and refers to "Mynheer Moorli," while General Delarey has considerable difficulty in pronouncing the liping "th" the usual difficulty with foreigners. Yet the general on more than one occasion owed his escape from capture to his presence of mind and his knowledge of English. Of the three, General Botha speaks the most correct English, though he uses a good deal of colonial slang. All their secretaries and the members of their staff speak perfect English.

BY THE UMATILLA.

You snowy peaks, that stand like jeweled thrones;
Wrapped in the mystery of sublime height—
You cloud-crowned, purple ridges that fore'er
Stand guard beside the gateways of the night!

You are the masters of the kneeling hills,
The watchmen o'er the teeny fields below;
You hold the chalice from whose rim distilla
The limpid Umatilla's westward flow!

Upon her waves the moonbeams' fingers play,
Soft as a maid would touch the answering strings;
Velled like a nun, she softly seeks her way,
Among th' shadows that the alder flings!

Down from your stairway 'mid the mists of grey,
Down by the echoing fields, all harvest bent!
Down, down, toward the westward gates of day,
Bear ye the message that the mountain sent!

Go, winged messenger! At ocean's feet
The tribute of her loyal landmen lay!
We feel the promptings as her pulses beat,
And hear her voice a hundred leagues away!

Pendleton, Ore. BERT HUFFMAN

PRESTO, CHANGE.

Now that the election is over and the trusts have been indorsed by the foolish people, the price of coal goes up like the mercury in the thermometer on a hot summer day!

For two years, at least, the trusts have nothing to fear, and why should they not put up the price of coal—as high as they like? The day before election coal was as low as $6.50; today it is $10, with the prospect of a still greater rise. It will be sad if, when the cold weather fairly sets in the people have to suffer; but should the suffering come, who would be to blame for it? The people themselves. They had the opportunity last Tuesday to do something toward curbing the power of the trusts; they failed to improve the opportunity; and now they must take the consequences.—New York American.

Judging from the growth of the telephone industry, we might imagine the world to be growing talkative.

Dr. Pierce's GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY Restores LOST FLESH AND STRENGTH

"I was a total wreck—could not sleep or eat," writes Mr. J. C. Beers, of Beryman, Crawford Co., Mo. "For two years I tried medicine from doctors but received very little benefit. I lost flesh and strength, was not able to do a good day's work. I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and when I had taken one bottle I could sleep and my appetite was wonderfully improved. I have taken five bottles and am still improving."

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious medicines. He gains; you lose. Therefore, accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

Inclement Weather Brings Coughs, Colds and Catarrh.

Inclement weather begins when autumn ends. The great objection to our climate is that it alternates between the heat of the tropics and the rigors of the Arctic. The system becomes relaxed by the effects of the heat, and the first cold snap of winter sows the seed of thousands of cases of chronic catarrh which in a large per cent. of cases will end fatally.

Congressman Horace G. Snover, of Port Austin, Mich., writes from House of Representatives, Washington, D. C., as follows:
"I have found Peruna a very efficient and speedy remedy for a persistent and annoying cough resulting from catarrhal trouble."—Horace G. Snover.

President Wm. Ubelaker Uses Peruna as a Safeguard Against Inclement Weather.

Wm. Ubelaker, President of the Lake View Lodge of Foresters, writes from 327 North Clark St., Chicago, Ill., the following letter:

The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.: Gentlemen—For years past when I have been exposed to wet or inclement weather, my chest would hurt me and I would have serious indigestion, and I would be laid up for a day or two, causing inconvenience and pain.

One of my lodge friends advised me to try Peruna, as it had helped him, and I found that a bottle cured me.

If I feel badly now I at once take two or three doses, and I find it keeps me in fine health. Peruna is worthy of every one's confidence.—W.M. UBELAKER.

It is only just ordinary good, common sense to provide against inclement weather. If you have the slightest cold, cough, sneezing, or any other indication that you are "under the weather," a few doses of Peruna will put you right.

Mrs. Lavina E. Walker, who holds the highest state office of the Ladies of the Illinois G. A. R., which is Department Chaplain, writes the following letter:

WESTERN SPRING, ILL. The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.: Gentlemen—"You have my sincere gratitude for placing before suffering women a medicine which has proven such a blessing as Peruna has.

"I have used it myself when much worn out, and found most gratifying results, and a number of the women of our Order suffering with weakness peculiar to women, have been wonderfully helped and cured by Peruna."—Lavina E. Walker.

MRS. LAVINA WALKER.
