SOCIAL HAPPENINGS OF THE PAST WEEK

Concerning the People of Pendleton and Vicinity • Notes Personal and Otherwise • By Our Regular Correspondent

Recognizing the demand for a concise social resume, a special social column will hereafter be run on each Saturday, in which will be given all the social happenings of the week and readers are earnestly requested to send in every item of interest by Saturday morning. It is the desire to get all the news from reliable sources and all parties having visiting friends, holding receptions, club meetings, informal social gatherings, in religious, musical or literary circles, are kindly requested to send in the particulars.

Prominent Young People Wed.

One of the society events of the season in Pendleton was the marriage Wednesday evening, at the M. E. church, of Miss Bertha Wells to Dr. Thomas M. Henderson, Rev. Robert Warner officiating. The marriage was solemnized promptly at 8:30 in the presence of a great number of the friends of the happy young people. The wedding march was played by Miss Corbie Raley. At the appointed time the bride was escorted to the altar by her father, and the groom was accompanied by the minister. The altar was beautifully decorated with flowers and plants. The bride was richly dressed in white silk organdie trimmed in point lace, while the groom was dressed in black. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Henderson repaired to their home which had been prepared for them at 449 Raley street where a reception was given their many friends from 9 to 12. Many beautiful and valuable presents were received by the bride and groom, but none of them were valued more highly than some point lace and buttonhole pieces which were made by the mother of the groom and sent from Indiana. Mrs. Henderson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Wells, pioneers of Pendleton, and the groom is one of the rising young physicians and surgeons of this city. The bride has spent most of her life in this city where she has a host of admiring friends. Their well-wishers join in hearty congratulations.

Young Men to Entertain.

A social event which promises to eclipse anything heretofore given this season is the party being arranged by some of Pendleton's well-known young men, which is to occur on the evening of December 4. The names of the following gentlemen who have the arrangements of the affair in charge are a guarantee for its success: Messrs Roy W. Ritzer, George A. Hartman, Jr., Eldred B. Waffle, Homer V. Carpenter, Fred Lampkin, Charles B. Sampson, Charles E. Bond, Harry W. Thompson, James B. Welch, Oliver W. Kelsey, Mark Moorehouse and Wynnie E. Stewart.

Forecast of Events.

A grand ball will be given by Eintracht Lodge No. 6, Sons of Herman, Monday evening, November 24.
A grand masque ball will be given Wednesday evening, November 26, in the Hughes hall, in East Pendleton. Kirkman's orchestra will furnish the music for the occasion.

Ball at Helix.

A grand masque ball was given in the Huson hall, in Helix, Friday night. This was one of the social events of the season in that city and one of the largest crowds ever to attend an event of this kind was present. Although the hall is a large one the floor was crowded to its utmost capacity and all voted the event very enjoyable.

Operatic Extravaganza.

By far the greatest society event of the season will be the production of the "Military Girl" by the young ladies of St. Agnes Guild, on December first and second. The comedy roles will be in the hands of competent comedians, and the so pretty girls taking part will be a revelation to Pendleton theatergoers. From the rising of the curtain on Camp Funston, to the grand finale of the third act there is not a wait.

Thursday Afternoon Club.

The Thursday Afternoon Literary Club met this week with Mrs. M. J. Lane at her home on College street. After the usual business was disposed of, each member gave a quotation from some English author. This was followed by interesting and instructive papers on English cathedrals and St. Giles' church, Scotland, read by the following ladies: Mrs. John Halley, Mrs. C. S. Jackson, Mrs. E. P. Marshall, Mrs. M. A. Sheridan, Mrs. John Vert, Mrs. Bean, Mrs. A. D. Stillman. Many photographic views of exteriors and interiors of different materials to the interest in papers read. The pleasant and profitable afternoon was brought to a close with light refreshments.

Order of Washington Social.

The members of William Martin Union No. 155, Order of Washington, held a social session on Wednesday evening at the conclusion of the business session. Dancing and games were indulged in until a late hour, when a banquet concluded a most enjoyable evening. It is the intention of the members to make a specialty of the social sessions during the winter months.

Lincoln the Statesman.

Prof. W. D. Lyman, of Whitman college delivered the third lecture in the university extension course at the congregational church last evening. He handled his subject, "Lincoln, the Statesman," in an entertaining and masterly manner. The next lecture in the course will be given next Friday evening by Prof. B. H. Brown, on the subject of "Bacteria."

Social Notes.

Miss Jessie Herman is the guest of her brother, Barnes Hartman and wife, of Portland.

Miss Amy Mathews entertained a few young ladies at her home Thursday evening. Those present were the Misses Ritter, Wood Parrott, Hendley, Raley and Frazier.

Mrs. A. W. Nye left Thursday for Walla Walla, where she will be the guest of friends for a few days.

Mrs. Charles A. Carter will return from Portland Wednesday morning, after a visit of several days with friends.

Miss Mable Mathews is visiting relations in Moscow.

Mrs. T. C. Warner and Mrs. C. I. Ferguson, are the guests of Walla Walla friends. They will return to Pendleton the first of next week.

Mrs. John Vert will spend Thanksgiving with friends in Athena.

Mrs. Marshall, of Portland, will arrive in the city next week to be the guest of her brother, E. P. Marshall and wife, for a few days.

Mrs. T. C. Taylor will entertain a few friends on Thanksgiving at 6 o'clock dinner.

Half our population is looking forward with great pleasure and anticipation to next Thursday, Thanksgiving day, when they will visit the homes of the other half and partake of the great American table—turkey—and other enjoyable things which go to make up a holiday dinner.

Witch's Club.

The Witches are to form a club composed of eight young ladies who gave the delightful dance Halloween. They will meet at the homes of the different members during the winter months, and will no doubt brew to the edification of witchcraft other pleasant entertainments for their friends.

Union Choral Service.

The choir of the different churches of the city are rehearsing for a union choral service to be held Thanksgiving evening. The place of holding this service has not yet been decided, but will be announced later.

The Jolly Club.

The members of the Jolly Club entertained their friends again Friday evening at Music hall. The usual large crowd of young people passed a pleasant evening in dancing to the strains of Kirkman's orchestra. The young men who compose the membership of this club, believe in being up-to-date and expect to engage the services of Messrs. Newkirk and Ray, who will at future parties give instructions in the terpsichorean art, including all the latest dances. The club is to be congratulated should they secure these instructors, as many would no doubt take advantage of this opportunity.

Athena Club Notes.

Mrs. Lillian Cole Bethels writes that her parliamentary class at Athena was a very enthusiastic one, with the membership about equally divided between men and women. At the close of the drills a permanent class was organized and will meet regularly during the winter.

The Athena Friday Club is in a prosperous condition, having over 20 members. The club is studying Oregon history this year.

A Valuable Addition.

Mrs. Skiles, of the North Side Club, of Denver, is a recent valuable accession to the ranks of the Pendleton club women. Some of our ladies remember Mrs. Skiles as the efficient chairman of the hotel committee at the Denver Biennial. We expect to gain much practical information from this Denver club woman, as the Denver women stand in the very front rank and are known the whole country over as wise and indefatigable workers in all lines of women's work.

Club Notes.

A letter from Alaska says: "We considered the feasibility of becoming a part of the Oregon Federation, but finally decided to organize an Alaska Federation," so at the next Biennial a new federation from the far North will be added to the list.

We are glad to note that the chairman of our Domestic Science department (state), Dr. Mae Cardwell has returned to Oregon. Dr. Cardwell is an enthusiastic worker in her department, and the clubs may expect some pertinent suggestions from her committee soon. Our state committees are a little behind in their work this year, but we hear that they will get in line before long.

The habit of beginning late is one that greatly hinders all sorts of good endeavor, and just here is a good place to repeat—our local clubs met at 2:30 p. m.

Parliamentary Club.

The Parliamentary Club will hold its regular meeting next Tuesday afternoon, at 2:30, at the Commercial Club rooms. It is hoped that the full membership will be present promptly on the hour. Every Pendleton club woman and any club woman visiting in the city is cordially invited to attend the meeting. The report of the committee on revision of constitution will be considered. This revision promises to give new means of usefulness to our clubs. There are many lines of club work, and with a large membership each may find the line that suits her best.

Our public schools, our library laws, civil government, in fact, any of the questions included under the title of civics, will properly come into our discussions and study this year.
