MRS. STURGIS DEAD

UNCONSCIOUS AT TIME
OF HUSBAND'S DEATH.

Respected Pioneer Woman Passes
Away—Funeral at Walla Walla on Thanksgiving Day.

Mrs. William P. Sturgis, wife of the late William P. Sturgis, died at her home in Walla Walla last night at 11 o'clock. Mrs. Sturgis has been very low, having been unconscious most of the time for the past three weeks with a stroke of paralysis and her death has been hourly expected. Her husband died last Thursday morning, but she knew nothing about his death.

Mrs. Sturgis was 83 years of age. Her son, the late Samuel P. Sturgis, was connected with the bank in this city for many years and was one of Pendleton's most estimable citizens. Mr. and Mrs. William P. Sturgis lived in Umatilla county for a number of years, having their home on the Wild Horse, below Athena. They were both well known in this country, where many old pioneers will regret to hear of their death.

Mrs. Samuel P. Sturgis, daughter-in-law of the deceased, will go to Walla Walla tomorrow to attend the funeral, which will be held on Thanksgiving day. Quite a number of friends from this city will also attend.

SUPREME COURT ON FENCES.

Decision Which Will Interest Residents of Our Farming Communities.

The supreme court handed down a decision on Monday, which is of more than usual interest to the farming communities of the state. It fixes the status of a division fence, after standing for 20 years, uninterrupted, on a surveyed line. The suit was instituted by Elizabeth Gist, plaintiff and appellant, vs. O. Doke, defendant and respondent, appeal from Marion county. R. P. Boise, judge, affirmed. Opinion by Justice Wolverton. This was a suit to quiet title to 80 acres of land, the question in issue being the location of the line fence between plaintiff and defendant's land. The line where the fence stood for over 20 years was originally agreed upon by the parties and was established by a surveyor in 1879 to the satisfaction of both, but in 1897 the plaintiff claimed that the fence was not on the right line, so another survey was made and located the line so as to take off some of the land claimed by defendant. It was to establish this latter line and to obtain title to the disputed strip that this suit was brought. In the lower court a decision was rendered in favor of defendant on the ground of undisputed possession and recognition of boundary line for over 20 years. The appellate court sustains this view and finds no errors.

THE OREGON HOP.

Highest Price Yet Paid for This Product This Season.

Hops in the Willamette valley were sold for 26 1/4 cents last week. This is the highest price obtained this season. It is not a great advance over what has been offered during the last few months, but is so much above the figure realized by the hop growers in past seasons that it may be put down as one of the most cheering events in the recent history of the industry.

One Dollar Hops.

For the past 10 years or more the hop grower has found little to give him encouragement. Hops have ruled low and during several seasons the price has been scarcely enough to pay for cultivation. There have been no margins to work on, such as the growers had in the good old days when the industry was in its infancy, and the market ranged from 30 to 50 cents and even soared to $1 a pound.

ADVICE TO HOMESEEKERS.

Arid Land Editor Mourns for the Alleged Fate of His Irrigation Schemes.

The heat waves over the irrigation subject which originated in Prineville last week and were blown over to the Deschutes, have baked the ground and converted the water into clouds of steam. There's nothing here for you but fire brick and steam radiators. Pass on, or else sit down on the east side of the desert and rest yourselves on the moss.—Des Chutes Echo.

Calcareous Woman.

A woman recently died in a Philadelphia hospital who has been for some time an object of interest to medical men. The disease of which she finally died changed her bones to a chalky substance, and several times she fractured her legs and arms by slight movements of her body. So brittle did her frame become that the doctors feared her neck might be dislocated, and she was placed in her bed in such a position that she could only move her head a few inches.
