FARMERS ELATED

WERE GREATLY PLEASED WITH TRIAL OF NEW PLOW.

Alfalfa Roots Yield Like They Were Pipe Stems—Rye Grass Has No Terrors for a Double Disc and Three Good Horses.

Quite a number of farmers were at Charles Chapman's place yesterday to see the experimental work of the Deere disc plow that is entirely different from the old-fashioned sulky and walking plows, and seemed so simple and light that at first sight one would not think that it would do effective work in turning over soil.

Therefore quite a number were anxious to see whether or not it would do the work as advertised by the company selling them.

One of the Deere two-disc plows drawn by three horses, and cutting 20 inches, was used in the trial. It was operated by Charles Chapman who never had before seen or used such a plow.

The first trial of the soil turning machine was in an old alfalfa field where the roots were thick and as large as a man's wrist. The work was made yet more difficult by the presence of numerous large boulders in the soil. The machine cut the alfalfa roots and turned the soil in the most approved manner and with but little exertion by the horses.

The next trial was made in an alfalfa field covered with high weeds, where the plow worked excellently, turning under the weeds and leaving the ground in an even condition.

The last trial and the one that was the most difficult, was made in an old field covered with salt and rye grass. In places the rye grass was as high as a man's head and the great bunches of roots were close together in an uneven field.

Those present expected to see the machine broken or the horses stalled when Mr. Chapman lowered the discs and started across the field. But nothing of the sort happened. The horses walked steadily along with just a little extra exertion, and the machine cut through and under the great bunches of roots with as little difficulty as in cutting stubble.

All present were greatly surprised. "If a man should attempt to cut that grass with a walking plow," said Mr. Chapman, "he would either break his doubletree or stop his horses."

Several farmers, including Robert Laing, James Nelson, A. Hudson and Thomas Jacques, were present and were highly pleased with the result of the experiments. Mr. Chapman was so well pleased that he purchased the plow and declares that he would not have any other kind on his place.

Died.

The 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Willoughby, of this city, died last night, of croup, at the residence of Jerry Peters, in the east end of town. He had been sick with measles for a few days and was in a weakened condition, which made him an easy victim to croup. The interment will take place at 2 o'clock this afternoon, at Olney cemetery.

UNION SERVICES

CHURCHES WILL OBSERVE THANKSGIVING DAY.

Morning Services Will Be Held by Each Congregation—Union Meeting in Evening at Baptist Church.

The various churches of the city have arranged to hold their regular union Thanksgiving services in the Baptist church, corner of Webb and Johnson streets, Thursday evening.

The services will not be a regular sermon, but will be more of a public nature. Mayor T. G. Halley will deliver the leading address which will be in the interest of good citizenship and he will be followed by several addresses by others of the city.

Rev. Mr. Potwine, of the Church of the Redeemer, is arranging the music, which is expected to be one of the leading features of the service. Praise service will follow the addresses.

During the forenoon each church of the city will have its own regular Thanksgiving services and sermon by the pastor. This is in accordance with the proclamation of the governor that each church should hold its own service in the morning, and join in a union service in the evening.

An effort was made by the ministers to have Mayor Williams, of Portland, deliver an address here at the union services, but owing to previous arrangements, it was impossible for him to come.

This meeting is arranged with the purpose of promoting good citizenship in our community, and it is hoped that it will be attended by all those who realize what this means to the growing city of Pendleton. The Hon. W. R. Ellis, judge of the sixth judicial district, will preside at the meeting.

Church of the Redeemer.

In accordance with the provisions of the church's order, and in conformity with the recommendation of the president of the United States, a service of thanksgiving will be held at the Church of the Redeemer, tomorrow, beginning at 10:30 a. m. The service will be accompanied by a sermon and special anthems appropriate to the harvest home festival. The music will be rendered by the vested choir, assisted by an auxiliary chorus of ladies.

Following a custom of long standing in the Episcopal church in this diocese, the offering at this service will be devoted to the Good Samaritan hospital, a diocesan institution of high standing, and which last year gave more than 7000 days of free service to the needy sick.

First Baptist Church Thanksgiving Dinner.

The Thanksgiving service at this church will be held tomorrow at 11 o'clock. The program is largely made up of musical selections and responsive readings. Violin and vocal solos, anthems and hymns appropriate to the day will be given. A cordial welcome to all. R. W. King, pastor.

NEW LIVESTOCK COMPANY.

New Corporation Will Also Maintain Reservoirs for Irrigation Purposes.

Articles of incorporation of the Lawn, Irrigation and Livestock Company was filed with the county clerk this morning with Henry J. Bean, Mattie E. Bean and Will Ingram as incorporators.

The business and pursuits of this new corporation is to build flumes and ditches, maintain reservoirs and take water from the Umatilla River for irrigation and domestic purposes, and to buy, sell and raise stock of all kinds.

The duration of the corporation is to be perpetual and the head office is in Pendleton. It is capitalized for $5000 and the shares are divided into 50 shares at $100 each.

Unexpected Meeting.

Professor E. B. Conklin was happily surprised last evening in unexpectedly meeting an old friend and college chum, from Iowa, John O. Bender, who happened to remain over in this city on account of the delayed train. Mr. Bender is now an attorney of Spokane and was wandering about the city, enjoying himself in noting the fact that he had not seen a familiar face among the crowd. He was accosted by an apparent stranger, who soon reminded him of being a member of a certain Latin class in an Iowa college, some 10 years ago. Mr. Bender, like Professor Conklin, took the Western fever soon after finishing college. He is located in the city of Spokane and is glad he came West.

A Musical Treat.

What a pleasure it is to listen to fresh young voices, either in ensemble or solo work. "I was at a rehearsal of the 'Military Girl,' which is being produced by our young ladies, and was struck by the number of fine voices I heard there," said a Pendleton lady this morning. It is not often that the theater-goers of Pendleton have a chance to see their own young ladies in theatricals, but when they have seen them, the girls have always covered themselves with glory. "The Military Girl" has the boards at the Frazer December 1 and 2.

President Castro, of Venezuela, declares that the rebellion in that country is dead, and thinks that he will be able to officially proclaim peace by January 1.
