WHAT'S IN A NAME

A WIFE WAS FOUND IN THIS ONE.

Kameka Boy Has a Surprise Which Ends in a Wedding—Name Cut in a Log Results in a Happy Marriage.

An interesting story comes from Kameka. In the spring of 1901, when the Oregon exhibits were being shipped to the Pan-American Exposition, the train containing the monstrous timber exhibit, consisting of one stick of Oregon fir, 70 feet in length, being hauled upon two flat cars, stopped at Kameka for an hour or so.

All the residents of the little station went out and climbed over the cars, admiring the huge stick of timber and speculating upon the surprise it would bring to the eyes of the Easterners.

While his companions were talking and wondering about the giant of the Oregon forest, a locomotive fireman carved his name and address deep into the soft wood.

The train soon left and all the glory of Oregon's exhibit was forgotten.

A Letter Comes.

In about a month after, the boy whose name went with the log to the Buffalo Exposition received a letter from a young lady, stating that she was a waiter in a lunch room on the exposition ground. Also that the counter on which her pies were placed before the hungry public, was made from a section of a tree from the Oregon exhibit, and that his name was carved on the side of the block next to her work, so it was impossible for her to forget him. Whenever she turned to the counter, her eyes fell upon the name and she was determined to write to its owner.

Then a Girl Comes.

The letter was answered. Just a modest, friendly letter was sent to that little Buffalo peach, who was destined to stare at a name carved in a thoughtless moment. Then another letter came, was answered in a more fervid tone and a money order for a ticket to Oregon was sent and soon the pie girl herself, quit looking at the empty title, and came to Oregon to view the man who wears it. It was soon arranged. The Oregon exhibit had done most of the courting. A short period of preparation, in which the young lady supervised the arrangement of the new home, was followed by a happy wedding. The Jackknife with which the name was carved will be an heirloom. There is now one more happy family at the summit of the Blue mountains. Some of the other boys are wondering there would be another exposition.

The Race of the Oregon. Lights out! And prow turned toward the south. And a canvass hiding each cannon's mouth. And a ship, like a silent ghost released. Is seeking her sister ships in the east.

A rush of water, a foaming trail. An ocean hound in a coat of mail. A deck long-lined with the lines of fate. She roars good-bye at the Golden Gate.

On! On! Alone, without gong or bell. But a burning fire like a fire of hell. Till the lookout starts as his glasses show. The white cathedral of Callao.

A moment's halt 'neath the slender spire. Food, food for the men, and food for the fire. Then, out in the sea, to rest no more. Till her keel is grounded on Chile's shore.

South! South! God's guard thro' the unknown wave. Where chart or compass may help or save.

Where the hissing wreaths of the deep abide. And few may pass through the stormy tide.

North! North! For a harbor far away. For another breath in the burning day.

For a moment's shelter from speed and pain. And a prow to the tropic sea again.

Home! Home! With the mother fleet to sleep. Till the call shall rise o'er the awful deep.

And the bell shall clang for the battle there. And the voice of the gun 's the voice of prayer.

Once more to the songs of the bold and free. When your children gather about your knee.

When the Goths and Vandals come down in night. As they came to the walls of Rome one night.

When the lordly William of Deloraine shall ride by the Scottish lakes again. When the Hessian spectres shall flit in air.

As Washington crosses the Delaware. When the eyes of the babes shall be closed in fear.

As they list to the story of Paul Revere. When your boys shall ask what the guns are for.

Tell them the tale of the Spanish war. And the breathless millions that looked upon

The matchless race of the Oregon. —John James Meehan in Leslie Weekly.

SCROFULA

Is an hereditary disease, and one for which a tainted ancestry or blood poisoning is responsible. It is transmitted through the blood and shows itself in swelling and ulceration of the glands of the neck, catarrh of the head, weak eyes, sores, abscesses and skin eruptions, with a gradual wasting away of strength and vitality. It also attacks the bones and joints, resulting in white swelling, hip disease and deformities of every kind. We see the effects of this awful blood taint every day, but it exists in so many forms that often it passes for something else and is treated as another disease.

Scrofula robs the blood of its nutritive qualities, and it becomes too poor to produce healthy growth and development, and thin, emaciated bodies and pallid, waxy complexions are the result.

Only a constitutional remedy, one that works through the blood, can reach a disease that has been transmitted through generations or been lurking in the blood since birth.

S. S. S. cleanses the blood of all scrofulous matter and tubercular deposits, and when rich, pure, health-sustaining blood is again flowing in the veins there is a gradual disappearance of all the dangerous symptoms of Scrofula; strength returns, and a complete cure is effected.

S. S. S. contains no strong minerals to further break down and derange the system, but can be taken by the very old, as well as the middle aged and young, with out any harmful after effects, or the least injury to the most delicate constitution.

If you have any signs of Scrofula, or your children are stunted or slow of growth, pale and sickly, write us, and our physicians will advise you free of charge. The Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.

THIS IS OLD DOCTOR KESSLER

One of the World's Greatest Specialists, Who Has Kept From an Early Grave or the Insane Asylum.

Now, look here, young man, don't be so careless. Don't put off any longer; have your case attended to today, for your looks tell on you. You may conclude to get married some day, and to live happy you must be a man rugged and strong physically and mentally. So many divorce cases we hear of, if an investigation was made, would disclose the fact that physical and nervous weakness of the husband causes the wife to finally hate him. Women love a manly man, just as much as men love beautifully developed, healthy, red-cheeked women. Blisters and pimples show something wrong. All kinds of diseases are cured by this old doctor. It is not necessary to go to a few diseases where you are required or cancer, old men it is better to see him. He has a system of private medicine cured at home. He has a system of home treatment; he answers your letters in a plain and keeps every case a secret. Pay no attention to books you find on street corners, or to old doctor who cures cases like yours in a quarter of a century in the ways include 10-cent medicine writing for consultation, a small bottle of urine if possible.
