SENTENCE OF DEATH

THE TWO PASCO MEN GO TO PENITENTIARY.

Bradshaw Will Be the First Man to Be Executed Under the New Law of Washington—History of Crime.

Walla Walla, Dec. 16.—Under sentence of death, to be carried out at the state penitentiary, Oscar Bradshaw, a young man, arrived in the city this morning in charge of Sheriff I. J. Davis, of Franklin county. Bradshaw was sentenced to death at Pasco yesterday afternoon by Judge Rudkin, of North Yakima, for the murder of Peter Nelson, at Pasco, last July. The death penalty is to be inflicted February 2, unless an appeal to the supreme court is perfected.

With Bradshaw came William Kellett, a much older man under sentence of 20 years at hard labor, for the part he took in the murder of Nelson. Bradshaw was tried December 3 and 4, and a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree was entered by a jury, after a strong effort for a lighter verdict. Upon the action of the jury being announced to Kellett, he asked to be allowed to plead guilty of murder in the second degree. After the state had advised in the matter the plea was accepted and the sentence of 20 years was inflicted by Judge Rudkin yesterday.

If the sentence of death is carried out promptly in the case of young Bradshaw he will be the first man to suffer death under the new law requiring executions to occur in the state penitentiary. The jury which found him guilty returned with the verdict a request for the mercy of the court, and it is not unlikely that the governor will be asked to commute the sentence to imprisonment for life or less. The court could do nothing but inflict the extreme penalty under the verdict.

The sentencing of Bradshaw and Kellett practically closes one of the most dastardly crimes on the history of Eastern Washington. At Pasco, a lonely place in Franklin county, where the Northern Pacific railway maintains large yards and transfers passengers and freight for this city, a large crew of men are employed. Bradshaw and Kellett were among the number until arrested last July, charged with killing Nelson, a Swede laborer. Nelson left this city one night bound for the Palouse country to work in the harvest fields. At Pasco he met Bradshaw and Kellett, who represented themselves as brakemen, and offered to send him over the road as he desired for a small sum of money, about $1. Nelson paid the money and was stowed away in a freight car. Then the idea of robbery occurred to the men. Bradshaw crawled through the end door of the car and held up Nelson. The Swede resisted and in the scuffle Nelson was shot. He died from his injuries in this city a day or two later. Bradshaw went through his clothes and secured $15. Then he left the car and joined Kellett on the outside. They watched the wounded man climb from the car and struggle down the yards until he was found by a yard employe and cared for, being sent to the hospital in the city. Nelson was a stranger here, and nothing was ever heard of his relatives.

"Modern Problems" Real Estate...

Will be the subject of a lecture by
EUGENE V. DEBS

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 17

AT THE FRAZER OPERA HOUSE

All the world loves a man who is sincere, and who has the courage of his convictions. No more certain proof of the truth of this assertion was ever given than in the esteem in which Eugene V. Debs is held today. Even those who have frankly differed with him on economic issues respect him for his honesty, admire him for his genius, and point to him as the ideal of the French proverb, "A man without fear and without reproach." The all-absorbing topics of the times are those bearing upon economic subjects, and the apparent desire of the public to look upon all sides of the questions is good evidence that the old era of prejudice has passed away, and a fair and broad-minded spirit has come in its stead.

Seats now on sale at Frazier's Book Store.
POPULAR PRICES—25c and 50c.
