"THE MILITARY GIRL."

So Successful at Walla Walla That It Was Given Twice.

Walla Walla, Dec. 19.—The event of the week in social circles was the presentation of "The Military Girl," an operatic extravaganza, presented prettily and successfully by the ladies of St. Paul's school. The first engagement was Wednesday evening, and so successful was it that a repetition was demanded, and last night the show was repeated with most hearty indorsement.

IN POLICE COURT.

Three Indians Get Two Days Each—Peddler Fined $2.

Three Umatilla braves were sentenced to two days each in the city jail by Police Judge Fitz Gerald yesterday. These men were arrested Wednesday night and remained in jail all day Thursday as no court could be held on this day because of the city election making it a legal holiday. ## ALL WERE FINED

RESULTS OF THE DRUNKEN BRAWL AND GUN PLAY.

Williams is Fined $20 and Costs—Goodlin Fined $15—Ragan and Connerly Will Also be Arraigned.

The participants in the drunken brawl and gun play in the basement hall, beneath the W. & C. R. ticket office yesterday afternoon were before Judge Fitz Gerald this morning.

After the fray yesterday afternoon in which Williams, proprietor of the billiard hall, drew a gun and presented it as though he was going to commit murder, Al Ragan, one of the men creating the disturbance, went before District Attorney Halley and had complaint filed against Williams for assault with a dangerous weapon. This forenoon Williams was taken before Judge Fitz Gerald for trial. District Attorney Halley prosecuted the case and S. A. Newberry defended Williams.

The first witness called was D. V. Goodlin, one of the men on whom Williams was accused of drawing the gun and who was helping to create the disturbance. His testimony, it seems, was not so convincing as his statement to the district attorney the day before. His memory seemed to be bad and he had forgotten that he told the district attorney that Williams had drawn a gun. He swore positively that he did not see a gun, but Williams put his hand in his pocket and he ran. He also swore under cross questions by the defense that he had dared Williams to draw his gun a few minutes before, but when he thought he was going to do it the evidence showed that he was not so brave and made tracks for the outside.

D. R. Waffle was the next witness. He saw the gun in Williams' hand, but did not see him point it at any one. The next witness was a man named Borsch. He saw the whole affair and testified that the crowd of drunks were using profane language to Williams and had dared him to shoot. One of them called him to the door and after a minutes' heated conversation Williams backed off, pulled a revolver from his hip pocket, presented it toward the men, but his hand was caught. The drunken men then left the place.

The defense was that Williams called for the police several times and asked them to clear his house of the rowdies. This they failed to do and Williams went home, secured a revolver, put it in his pocket and after returning to his place was only protecting his own property in his own place of business. The court held that under the statute he had the right to do this, and Williams was discharged on this complaint.

During the progress of the complaint District Attorney Halley made out complaint against Williams for carrying concealed weapons, and he was arraigned without leaving the court room. His attorney entered a plea of not guilty to this charge, but after a few minutes conversation with his client changed the plea to that of guilty as charged.

Attorney Newberry asked that his client be discharged giving the plea that he was guilty but under the circumstances had a right to have the revolver in his pocket.

Prosecuting Attorney Halley presented his side of the case stating that Williams had admitted his guilt and that there was no excuse of his having a revolver on his person. Judge Fitz Gerald assessed a fine of $20 and costs on Williams, amounting in all to $25.35. The fine was paid.

Goodlin, one of the men causing the disturbance, was then arraigned in police court for raising a disturbance, and after pleading guilty was fined $15 for the part he took in the affair. Mayor Halley then announced to the police that he wanted them to arrest Ragan and William Connerly, the other two participants in the disturbance, and have them arraigned on the same charge of disorderly conduct.

ARRESTED FOR FORGERY.

Joseph Allen in Jail at Walla Walla for the Crime.

Joseph Allen, formerly of Walla Walla county, but now a resident of Harrison, Idaho, is in jail in Walla Walla charged with forgery.

Allen is quite well known here. He spent several weeks here recently. He claimed to be a timber cruiser, and was locating men on timber lands in Eastern Oregon. The story of his trouble in Walla Walla is as follows: He wrote two checks on banks of Walla Walla, one for $5 and the other for $22.50. They were cashed by local saloon men, but when presented it was found that no money was in the bank to Allen's credit. He is also accused of writing a check for a man in Watsburg for $46, which was not honored.
