O. R. & N. CROSSINGS

DR. SMITH SEEKS TO PROTECT SCHOOL CHILDREN.

Asks That the 20-Minute Limit for Blocking Crossings Be Reduced to Five Minutes.

Dr. C. J. Smith has asked the council that the agreement with the O. R. & N. railroad company about blocking streets be changed. The present agreement is that the O. R. & N. Co. cannot block Main street at the depot longer at a time than 20 minutes. The doctor urged that this be cut down to not more than five minutes.

He was before the meeting in behalf of the school board and it was because of the inconvenience and danger to passing school children that he asked the change. He stated that often the school children were coming home at noon or returning after noon, just as a train pulled into the depot. This train, allowed to stand 20 minutes across the street, held the children and thereby caused them to be tardy at school. In many instances before they would be marked tardy, the young folks would climb over between the cars and pass on. This practice is dangerous and it was this which caused the accident to Royce Swaggart several weeks ago.

No less than 700 or 800 school children cross these tracks four times a day and the holding of them by the train is a great inconvenience.

Dr. Smith also suggested that gates be placed across the streets on their side of the train to be closed when the trains are coming in. These would help to eliminate the danger of life and limb.

UNDER THE MISTLETOE

The man who receives the sweetest kiss is the nattiest in the room—other things being equal—the one whose linen comports with his clothes. SOCIAL EVENTS OF THE WEEK

Concerning the People of Pendleton and Vicinity • Notes Personal and Otherwise • By Our Regular Correspondent

Club Notes.

Everywhere over the state the legislative committee of the Oregon Federation is enlisting the services of the club women to interview the members of the legislature in behalf of several bills to be introduced in the interests of women and children. The insane and also an amendment to the library bill to make it of more practical use in small towns. In most cases they find ready listeners in our representatives, and they seem quite willing to look at these things from a "woman's point of view."

Quite in line with some of the work in which Pendleton's mayor is interested is that of the American Park and Outdoor Art Association. Boston is headquarters for this society, and Mrs. Herman J. Hale, of Chicago, is the president of the women's auxiliary. The following letter is being sent out to the public through women's clubs and state federations. In Oregon Mrs. Rose H. Hoyt, of Portland, represents the society as state chairman, and Mrs. C. B. Wade is the member of the committee in Eastern Oregon. These letters are sometimes sent to city councils, but oftener to the press. We seldom fail to find public-spirited newspaper men, and the committee would respectfully suggest that our city fathers read the club notes in the local papers.

Improvement of Cities.

"Add to the gradual development of large parks, park-ways, neighborhood parks, circles, triangles, squares and boulevards, the American Park and Outdoor Association would respectfully call your attention to the possibilities of improvements which may be made in American cities, by the creation of lawn spaces and judicious planting of trees, shrubs and vines about city halls, jails, schools and engine houses, and where there is a city ownership, about gas and electric light stations and other municipal holdings. In a few years unsightly buildings and sheds can be entirely hidden by quite inexpensive planting, and the surroundings made attractive to all classes of the community.

"Cities have it in their power to do planting on a more generous scale than can be done by corporations or individuals, thus setting an example, and suggesting the improvement of their buildings and grounds to county officials and state authorities as well as to local manufacturers. City officials and citizens should use their influence to have the grounds about railway stations made attractive, and objectionable buildings and sheds about them completely hidden by trees, vines and shrubbery.

"During vacations, restrictions should be removed and public school grounds made municipal pleasure grounds. This would give pupils attending parochial schools opportunities for exercise and pleasure, as well as the children of other tax-payers.

Bad Advertising.

"Another matter to which we wish to call your attention is this:

"Cities can, by the passage of ordinances, control and restrict public advertising on and about approaches to public parks, on trees, tree-boxes, telegraph, telephone, electric light and street railway poles. The small fraction of the population which profits by advertising in public places, should not be allowed to disgrace properties which belong to the whole community. Such advertisements are sometimes dangerous to life and health, often injurious to public morals, and always offensive to good taste, and depreciative of property values.

"We would suggest that public work as outlined herein should be undertaken the coming spring, so that lawn spaces may be built up and not a year lost in the growth of trees, shrubbery and vines.

"Public taste can, and should be cultivated, so that our cities will develop along more artistic lines. Effects may thus be attained, heretofore seen only in the cities of older countries.

"We shall be glad to receive responses to this circular letter (communications should be addressed to the secretary) and if information should be desired from this association, we shall be glad to answer all inquiries made of us.

Respectfully,
E. J. PARK, President.

Local Needs.

In Pendleton, the Parliamentary Club takes a keen interest in all of the above subjects. At its next meeting, in January, Mayor Bailey will address the members on local needs, and will also have some practical suggestions to offer in regards to women's work for Oregon in the coming expositions.

Later notices will be given and a large attendance is expected.

The Thursday Afternoon Club held its regular meeting this week at the home of Mrs. Nash, with a purely business program. The next meeting which would occur on New Year's day, will be postponed until the following week.

Christmas Exercises.

It is just four more days until Christmas, when Santa Claus is expected by young America. All the churches and Sunday schools are preparing for special Christmas services. Most of the services and trees will be on Christmas eve, although the Catholic Sunday school will have its tree on the Sunday following Christmas.

M. E. Church, South. The services will be held in the M. E. Church, South, on the evening before Christmas. Two trees are being prepared in the church, which will be laden with presents for the children. An interesting program is being ing prepared by the Sunday school, consisting of singing recitations, etc.

Baptist Church.

The exercises at the Baptist church, corner of Alta and Johnson streets, will consist of exercises by the little folks. No elaborate program has been prepared outside of the children's work, which will consist of recitations, songs and music. No tree will be in this church, but a surprise is in store for the children. Instead of a tree, a windmill will take its place. It will be Wednesday evening.

Thompson Street M. E. Church.

Wednesday evening Christmas exercises will be given in the Thompson Street M. E. church. A tree is being prepared for the Sunday school children. A program will be rendered, consisting of specially prepared music, recitations, etc. The Christmas sermon will be preached in this church Sunday evening.

Presbyterian Church.

Wednesday evening in the First Presbyterian church, corner of Alta and College streets, will occur the regular Christmas services of the congregation. The little folks of the Sunday school are being trained for the occasion and will render an interesting program.

Congregational Church.

The exercises will be held at the Congregational church, corner of Webb and Johnson streets, Wednesday evening. A tree and special exercise will be the features.

Christian Church.

The exercises by the Christian church Sunday school will be given in the courthouse. It was intended to have the exercises in the new church, but it has not been closed up enough to make it comfortable in the cold weather and the courthouse will be used. A tree and special services, such as recitations, songs and music will be the features.

Catholic Church.

The Catholic Sunday school will hold its Christmas services on Sunday following Christmas. A special program will be given by the young folks.

Sisters' School.

The Sisters' school will hold Christmas services for the children on Wednesday evening at the school building. A tree will be provided with presents to gladden the hearts of the young folks. Special exercises will be rendered.

Salvation Army.

The members of the Salvation Army are preparing to hold their Christmas exercises at the hall Tuesday evening. A tree is being arranged and exercises are being prepared.

Church of the Redeemer.

At the Church of the Redeemer, corner of Johnson and Alta streets, Christmas exercises will begin at 5 o'clock Wednesday evening and last to midnight. On Christmas day services will be held and a sermon will be delivered by the rector at 11 o'clock. The Christmas tree will be at 5 o'clock, when the exercises will be given by the children of the Sunday school. These exercises are to be very elaborate. At 12 o'clock a sermon will be delivered by the rector.

Jolly Club.

The Jolly Club gave the last of their series of invitation dances, at Music hall last night. A large crowd was in attendance and a most enjoyable time was had. The series which ended with yesterday evening's entertainment has been a source of pleasure to the club and its friends, and the announcement that the club will give two more public dances, one on Xmas eve and one on New Year's eve, will be received with delight by those who have shared the enjoyable evenings' amusement furnished by the

OUR DOLL DAY

Last Saturday was a great success, and will cheer the hearts of many children this Xmas. We propose to do still better next Saturday. Read the offer below and learn how:

Saturday, Dec. 20, with a dollar purchase of more of crockery or glassware we will present a silver novelty worth 50c.

They consist of card trays, sugar, creams, bonbons, jellies, etc., and are lacquered so that they will not tarnish in the open air.

FURTHER—With a 50c purchase of crockery or glassware we will present a gold-plated picture frame, worth 25c. Both presents will make fine gifts in themselves, and cost you absolutely nothing.

Come early, as our supply is limited.

Young man, if you want to touch a woman's heart, buy her a piece of china.

Buy your wife that dinner set you promised her NOW

Josh Billings said, "Court the girl's mother half the time. The girl won't object and the mother likes it."

Josh was right. Buy the old lady a dainty piece of china and the old lady will do the rest.

When you stay out all night, come to us the first thing in the morning, select a nice present and it will square you with your better seven-eighths. Nothing pleases a woman better than nice china.
