PIONEER DEAD.

John A. Shewmaker Dies of Injuries Received Several Months Ago.

John A. Shewmaker, for many years a resident of Pendleton, died early Thursday morning in the Palace lodging house, on Main street.

Mr. Shewmaker had been sick for several months. The immediate cause of death was cancer of the stomach. Several months ago he was employed by the O. R. & N. railroad company as track walker and while performing his duties fell through a bridge near Weston sustaining injuries which laid him up. He was taken to the hospital at Walla Walla where he remained until about three weeks ago. He realized that he could not live long and he desired to come back to Pendleton. He was taken to the lodging house where he was cared for by kind friends who did all in their power to relieve his suffering.

Mr. Shewmaker was one of the best known pioneers of this county. He has been here more than 15 years and was employed in the general merchandise store by Alexander & Hexter for more than ten years. Nothing is known of his relatives and the body was taken charge of by friends here who prepared it for burial in the Olney cemetery today.

GOT "COLD FEET."

Charles Shockey Refused to go into the Ring Thursday Evening—Two Preliminary Bouts Given.

Something like 100 of Pendleton's enthusiastic sportsmen gathered in the Hendricks hall Christmas evening to see a boxing contest between Jas. Lavigne of Omaha, and Charles Shockey of this city. Although those present were satisfied with what they did see, they were not treated to the go between Lavigne and Pendleton's pugilist (?). After getting into the hall Shockey refused to go into the ring. He gave as his excuse that there were not enough people to see the contest. In making his announcement that he would not "fight" for the amount of money taken in at the door he scored the people of Pendleton who would not pay 50 cents to see him "fight," intimating that they were very cheap. The general expression was that he got "cold feet."

Two preliminary bouts were given of four rounds each, between young men of the city. The first was be-

WITH BROKEN LEG

IRA BOND LAYS ALL NIGHT IN MUD AND RAIN.

Horse Fell on Slippery Foad With Young Man—His Cries for Help Not Heard Until 6 O'clock—Accident Happened at Midnight.

Ira Bond is at the Sisters' hospital suffering with a leg broken just above the ankle.

Mr. Bond is employed by Pearl Bowman on his ranch south of town. He rode in yesterday to spend Christmas and about midnight last night started home. When about 300 yards from the bridge on Byers' mill race, going up the Wade hill grade, his horse fell with him. The leg was caught under the animal and both bones were broken. No one passed from that time until morning and Mr. Bond was compelled to lay in the rain until 6 o'clock this morning before he was found.

How much longer he would have lain there is not known, had it not been for Elmer E. Turner and Ab Ogg. They were out early this morning preparing to go to work, when Turner heard some one calling for help, but thought it was some late Christmas reveler and paid no attention to it. He met Mr. Ogg near Baltezer & Howe's machine shop, in the east end of town and spoke of the occurrence to him. They concluded that they would investigate, and started up the road in the direction of the cry for help.

When about 300 yards up the grade from the mill race they found Bond lying in the mud and rain unable to help himself. He was picked up and a cab called and he was taken to the hospital where the broken bones were set. He suffered greatly from the exposure, as a cold rain fell during the latter part of the night.
