THE POLICE RECORD

SUMMARY OF ARRESTS FOR THE YEAR OF 1902.

December and April Had the Largest Number of Arrests—November had the Largest Number of Fines.

December and April were the banner months for arrests by the Pendleton police. In December 82 law-breakers were gathered in while in the month of April 81 completed the list.

November closely followed December with 76, while 64 for August was the fourth highest record reached. The month containing the least number of arrests was March. Only 21 arrests were made during this month including the women who paid fines for being inmates of a bawdy house. January and July recorded the next smallest number of arrests there being just 20 made in each of these.

There were only three months during the year 1901 when more arrests were not made by the police than during the banner month of 1902. These were February, March and June. The month in which the most arrests were made during last year was December. One hundred and eighty-three arrests were made during the month of December 1901, or 101 more than during the same month of this year.

Of course, this is not attributed to the neglect of duty by the officers as arrests have been made when occasion called and when the officers were informed of a breach of the city ordinances, but is attributed to the falling off of the gambling business. During last year all slot machines and gambling house operators were fined each month and the names of these were recorded among the arrests.

Although more arrests were made during the month closing with today, the fines did not nearly reach to that of last month. Seventy-six arrests were made in November and $554 in fines was collected.

This month the fines amounted to $424.25, falling short of the last month fines by $129.75.

The difference is not altogether due to more commitments being made this month than last, but several heavy fines were made last month.

During December the arrests made under ordinance No. 12, were 51; under ordinance 11, 25; under ordinance 18, one arrest was made; two under ordinance No. 311; two under ordinance No. 298, and one under ordinance No. 392.

Out of the 82 arrests, 51 paid fines; 21 were committed to jail in default; six forfeited bonds; two received jail sentences; two were discharged and one case continued.

In Police Court.

William Pendell was not satisfied with a fine of $15 in police court yesterday, but committed the same offense last night and was arrested again. In default of $5 fine for using profane language Pendell is now in the city jail where he will remain three days.

Anthony Wayne, an Indian, was also committed to jail this morning for three days in default of the customary $5.

"Down by the Sea."

A good house greeted "Down by the Sea" at the Frazier last night. This great melo-drama proved to be one of the best attractions seen here this season, and was warmly received.

Many of the characters won the admiration of the audience, and the striking scenic display was far above the average. The blending of pathos and laughter in its plot, the far-reaching and subtle analysis of human character and human emotion appealed to all. The general expression of those who witnessed the play is highly complimentary in tone. The company is strong and the play clean.

The object of the association is to erect and maintain an Elks' home in Baker City.—Baker City Herald.

STRANGE REQUEST OF A MINER.

Jack Powers Wants to Be Buried on the Highest Peak to Be Found.

J. C. Powers, the veteran prospector, who was frozen to death on the Greenhorn trail last week, made a strange request of his friends. He wished to be buried where his grave will overlook the entire region of Eastern Oregon, which he has become so familiar with during the last 20 years. The snow is so deep now that this task is impossible, but in compliance with his request, a re-interment will take place next spring and the body will be given a final resting place on Vinegar Hill, the highest peak of the Greenhorn range.
