JUMPED HIS BONDS

LOSS OMENS SAID TO HAVE LEFT THE COUNTRY.

Was Implicated With V. E. Finch in Forging and Passing Bogus Checks
—Was Bound Over for $150.

It is currently reported that Loss Omens has jumped his bond and left the country. Omens is the young man who was mixed up with V. E. Finch in forging and passing bogus checks on several business people in Pendleton a few weeks ago. They were both arrested in Seattle and returned to jail. Omens denied his complicity in the forgery and was placed under $150 bonds to await the action of the January term of court. Finch pleaded guilty and is now serving a term in the penitentiary. He implicated Omens in the crime in making his confession, saying that Omens helped him to plan the forgery and shared the proceeds with him. Omens declared he was not implicated in the planning, writing or passing the checks, and declared his intention of fighting the case to the bitter end.

It is now said that he went to Seattle, where he boarded a sailing vessel and shipped for some foreign country. Just where the officers are unable to say. The young man's father put up the money for the bond and it is not likely that there will be any effort on his part to apprehend the feeing lad.

The charge still hangs over his head, and if he ever returns to Pendleton he will have to face it.

PIONEER STOCKMAN IN TOWN.

T. J. Matlock, of Morrow County,
Visits Friends and Relatives in This City.

T. J. Matlock, a prominent stock-raiser and well known pioneer of Heppner, was in the city yesterday on business and pleasure combined.

Mr. Matlock is highly elated over the prospects of the Heppner coal mines, and says that town is feeling the effect of the promised prosperity.

TO RECEIVE TONIGHT

THE NEW YEAR'S CUSTOM
MORE POPULAR EACH YEAR.

Pendleton Women to Receive New Year's Callers Tonight From 8 to 12—Those Who Will Be at Home.

For several years the custom has been in vogue for the ladies of Pendleton to receive at their homes on New Year's evening. This custom is becoming very popular each year and is one which shows the hospitality of Pendleton people. Those who will receive from 8 to 12 this evening whose names have been reported to the East Oregonian are as follows:

Mrs. C. B. Wade will be at home. She will be assisted in receiving by Mesdames Pettigill, R. S. Thompson, H. C. Gurnsey, J. Beckwith, C. K. Cranston and Frank Moulle. The young ladies assisting will be the Misses Raley, Bean, Thompson, Moorhouse, Duncan, Jenkins, Elsie Folsom and Harriett Thompson.

Mrs. F. E. Judd will receive at her home north of the river. She will be assisted by Miss Roberts, Mrs. Leon Cohen, F. B. Clifton, H. F. Johnson, T. C. Taylor, Charles J. Ferguson.

Miss Georgie Folsom will receive at her home on Court street, opposite the court house. She will be assisted by Mrs. G. V. Hamilton.

Mrs. George A. Hartman will receive at her home on East Water street, assisted by Mesdames C. J. Smith, R. Alexander, C. S. Jackson and Misses Hartman and Isaacs.

Mrs. Alice Sheridan will receive at her home on the corner of Thompson and Alta streets. She will be assisted by her daughters, Misses Maude, Gertrude and Lenore Sheridan, Mrs. Thomas C. Warner and Misses Fanchon Borie, Edna Thompson and Bertha Alexander.

Mrs. J. Ross Dickson will receive callers at her home on South Main street, assisted by Mesdames Ner-Lorne Borley, Thomas G. Hailey, John Vert, Frank Wamsley, Fred W. Waite and the Misses Stella Alexander, Nellie Cameron, Gay and Bosale Campbell, Effie Jenn Frazier and Nellie Beach.

Mrs. Lee Moorhouse will receive at her home, corner of Thompson and Water streets, assisted by Mesdames Edwin Switzer, J. A. Borie, W. C. Shultz and the Misses Lavelle Moorhouse, Flo Hallock and Mable Nye.

Mrs. Edwin P. Marshall, assisted by Miss Anna Marshall, will receive at her home, corner of Main and Washington streets.

NO CAUSE FOR ALARM.

Levi Ankeny Don't Agree With Jim
Hill, in the Belief That a Panic is Near.

Hon. Levi Ankeny, president of the Pendleton and Baker City National banks, paid a business visit to Eastern Oregon this week, and while in Baker City made some pertinent remarks on politics and business.

He takes a different view of general business conditions from that held by J. J. Hill.

"As to the race for United States senatorship in the State of Washington," said Mr. Ankeny, "I feel confident that I have a good show to be elected by the state legislature, which convenes at Olympia January 12. Ballot for the senatorship will be taken on the 20th. Of course, I only see one side of the matter, but my friends tell me they believe my success is assured. Strong men are opposing me for the election, but I think my friends are stronger than they are."

"Concerning present finances, I believe too much speculation has been going on in Wall street and elsewhere and that values are liable to get too high and that perhaps some damage has already been done through over-capitalization of trust interests. I am firmly of the opinion that President Roosevelt, in his wisdom already exhibited, will be able to avert anything like a financial panic."

"Wall street is not the whole thing, although stocks and bonds are a large element in the market."

"General business throughout the country, and particularly in the Northwest is today better than it has been in many years. The people as a rule, have money, they have made money from crops and wages, and I can see nothing in the immediate future to create a scare."

Mr. Ankeny is the son of the Ankeny who many years ago built the Newmarket theater in Portland, one of the first playhouses in the Northwest. He is a brother of Henry Ankeny, of Southern Oregon, and a brother-in-law of the late Judge L. L. McArthur, of Portland. Many years ago he was in the mining business with Postmaster David Moomaw, of Baker City.

USHERED IN NEW YEAR.

Whistles at Midnight Gave the Signal for a Noisy Demonstration.
Were you asleep at the stroke of 12 last night?

If you were and happened to be near the central part of town it is safe to assert that you were not asleep many minutes after the town clock sounded the death knell of the old year and announced that a new year had made its advent.

The first thing to start the commotion was the whistle of the electric light plant. Then for 30 minutes it seemed that every whistle with steam enough to make a noise, joined in the chorus. Firecrackers, pistols, rifles and every conceivable instrument imaginable which would create a racket was brought into use and the night was made hideous for the time.

The streets were full of people who had remained up to bid the old year good bye and welcome the new. It was a happy throng and their "Happy New Year" greeting to each other foretold the feelings of pleasure felt by all in the thought of entering into a new year.

You can now write it 1903.

PERSONAL MENTION.

E. H. Swisher, of Milton, is in the city.
A. F. Warren is in town from La Grande.

Mrs. W. J. Furnish is visiting friends in Portland.
Mrs. F. W. Vincent is spending a part of the holidays in Portland.

Dr. E. G. Kirby, an old friend of Dr. Ringo, is in town from Elgin.

County Clerk W. D. Chamberlain is spending New Year with relatives in Athena.

Miss Stella Alexander is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Baumolster in Walla Walla.

R. M. Powers and Mose Taylor, two pioneer citizens of Weston, are transacting business in town today.

H. W. Bristol is stopping at the Hotel Perkins. Mr. Bristol makes his home in Pendleton.—Oregon Daily Journal.

T. J. Matlock, brother of W. F. Matlock of this city, who spent several days here, left this morning for his home at Heppner.

J. B. Cochran, of Athena, spent Saturday and Sunday in the city the guest of his brother-in-law, Byron Murch.—Times Mountaineer.

Mrs. F. W. Vincent, of Pendleton, is a guest of the Hotel Portland and will remain in the city several days, visiting friends.—Oregon Daily Journal.

Mesdames J. Taylor and J. Sheridan and Miss Eastman, of Walla Walla, were guests of Mrs. M. F. Kelly at the Golden Rule hotel last night.

Pile Wilcox and daughter, Miss Ellen, of Springfield, are here the guests of the families of G. W. Beale and J. T. Brown. Mr. Wilcox is a brother of Mesdames Beale and Brown.

Fred Ljeuallen, who has been at the home of his parents in Adams during the holidays, passed through town Wednesday on his return back to Portland to re-enter the medical college.

Kamela Items.

Kamela, Or., Jan. 1.—Miss Louise Pierce is here from Walla Walla, where she is attending school, to spend the holidays.

Mrs. E. Swanger left on Friday for Wallula, where she was called by the illness of Mrs. Pearl Swanger, of that place, who is very ill with typhoid fever.

G. W. Allen spent Wednesday in Pendleton attending to his wood shipments.

It is difficult to get cars as fast as needed to handle the wood supply. Considerable wood is being shipped to Heppner this winter, for the first time in 10 years.
