FLOURISHED A GUN

NEAL McDEVITT CAUSES
 A SMALL PANIC.

Barricades Himself in a Room and Threatens to Shoot — Unsavory Record Shown Up in the Police Court—Warned by Court to Improve Habits.

Neal McDevitt was fined $10 in police court this morning for being drunk and disorderly and threatening to shoot.

The latter charge was not pushed against McDevitt or the matter would not have ended with a small fine. One witness testified positively that McDevitt had threatened to do some shooting while the accused man declared that he did not.

There has been trouble in the home of the McDevitts for several months. He and his wife live at the corner of Hazel and Railroad streets. They rent only a portion of the house while the rest is occupied by other parties.

According to the statements of those familiar with the circumstances McDevitt and wife are in the habit of getting drunk. One witness said this morning they would take a keg of beer to the house and after drinking heavily, would become boisterous, disturbing those living near them. When drinking, McDevitt would become abusive and throw his wife and child out of the house. Saturday night, when the trouble occurred which landed McDevitt in jail, he went into his apartments of the house, threw his wife and child out of the room, and when discovered he was barricaded in the room with a Winchester in his hands and threatened to shoot whoever attempted to break in the door or molest him.

McDevitt declares that he was drunk, but that he did not intend to shoot anyone. He acknowledges having the Winchester in his hands, but said he was only cleaning it up preparatory to selling it to a second-hand dealer. This statement did not look very plausible on the face of it, as the man acknowledged that after cleaning the gun he fell upon the bed and went to sleep. He was so drunk that he could not keep awake, yet says he was cleaning a Winchester preparatory to taking it to a dealer in second-hand goods.

In passing sentence this morning, Judge Fitz Gerald warned McDevitt not to let such scenes occur again, as he would not escape with such a light sentence if his actions were repeated.

Have Returned to School.
 Bert Miller, who is attending the Pendleton Business College, returned to school Monday after spending several days in this city with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Miller.

Miss Eva Belts and Miss Anna Harvey were in the city yesterday. Miss Belts is attending the Pendleton Academy, from which school she will graduate this year, and is spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Belts—Pilot Rock Record.

WIT OF JUDGE BOISE.

His Ready Reply Stunned a Salem Lawyer Recently.

The address of that pioneer jurist, Circuit Judge Boise, at the annual meeting of the Historical Society recently, well illustrates the judge's ready wit, says an exchange. An attorney of Salem was trying a case before the judge a few days ago, and in the course of his argument was trying to review the testimony in the case. Several times he was interrupted by the judge, who corrected him in his statements of facts. Both judge and lawyer were getting out of patience, and finally the latter straightened up with a self-confident air, and said:

"Well, Your Honor, it may be that I don't understand the facts in the case," to which the judge instantly replied:

"You can't have any controversy with the court on that point, Mr. — for the court will agree with you that you don't understand either the facts or the law."

Poultry Show at Winona.

Winona, Minn., Jan. 5.—Poultry and pet stock fanciers are here from far and near for the annual exhibition which opened today under the auspices of the Winona Poultry Association. In many respects the exhibition is the best of its kind ever held in this section. Particularly fine is the display of rabbits and pigeons. The judging of exhibits began today under the direction of A. B. Shaner, of Lanark, Ill. Premiums amounting to $600 will be distributed.

The evenness of Oregon's climate makes the texture of Oregon wool and mohair superior to that of nearly every other section of the country.

Uncle Cobb Blair Resides Now at Pendleton and is Healthy and Strong.

Lee Henkle arrived Saturday from Pendleton. That city has a population of 7000 now. Uncle Cobb Blair resides there, and Mrs. Sawtelle, formerly of Corvallis. He will be 98 years old on New Year's day. He is in the best of health, and walks up and down stairs with the ease of a youngster. His memory is excellent and he made especial inquiry about nearly all the people who ever lived in Corvallis. He expects when the end comes to find a resting place at this, his old home. Thomas Blair is balliff of the court, a position his father so long held in Benton, and is janitor for the Masons. Of the Sawtelle children, one is a clerk in a Pendleton drug store, another is bookkeeper at the woolen mills, another is a jeweler and a fourth a clerk in a store at The Dalles. All are doing well. Nellie Blair's husband has a position in the First National Bank in Portland, and the family may move there in the spring to reside.—Corvallis Times.

"Yes, he's given up the political job he had." "The idea! Why I understood it was a regular little sinecure." "So it was, but after the last election it became a little insecure." —Washington Star.
