CATTLEMEN MEET

NEARLY 2,000 DELEGATES NOW AT KANSAS CITY.

Every State and Territory of the Union Represented—Many Present From Oregon—Association Represents a Combined Capital of Over $300,000,000.

Kansas City, Jan. 13.—The National Live Stock Association, which was formed at a convention held in Denver in 1896, is celebrating the completion of its sixth year with a convention containing nearly 2000 delegates, besides a large number of other visitors. Every state and territory of the Union is represented, but the largest delegations naturally come from those localities where stockraising flourishes most. Oregon, Washington, Utah, New Mexico, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, the Dakotas, Texas, Kansas, Arizona, Wyoming, Minnesota, Iowa and Nebraska are much in evidence.

The convention opened shortly after 10 o'clock this morning in the Century theater. After an opening prayer, addresses of welcome were delivered by Governor Dockery and Mayor Reed, followed by responses on behalf of the visitors.

President John W. Springer, of Denver, in his annual address, summarized the aims of the association and review the half decade of successful work it has accomplished in the interests of the livestock raisers. At the same time he emphasized the necessity of continued vigilance on the part of the stockmen in order to protect themselves against the forces at work to undermine their independence and destroy the profits of their industry.

Secretary Charles F. Martin presented an interesting report showing the gratifying growth of the association, which now embraces several hundred local organizations of stockmen with a combined capital of $300,000,000.

The sessions of the convention will continue until Friday. Among the most important subjects which will be discussed are the adoption of some plan to oppose the contemplated merging of the packing plants of the country, opposition to the removal of the tariff on wool, hides, meats and livestock, to urge congress to immediately pass the Grosvenor anti-shoddy bill, the amendment to the census act, so as to provide for the classified census of livestock, to amend the interstate commerce act by extending the time limit for unloading livestock in transit from 28 to 40 hours, the practicability of co-operation in marketing livestock, and to discuss what can be done to improve the present laws governing forest reserves and the public domain.

Portland, Oregon, seems today to be in the lead as a candidate for the next convention. Mention is also made of New Orleans and Sioux City, but the delegation from the Oregon city is working with might and main and its chances for securing the prize appear to be excellent.

ORGANIZED LABOR IN OREGON.

Some interesting Figures Showing the Increase of Unionism.

The American Federationist for January contains a conspicuous article, or resume of the labor situation in Oregon, by G. Y. Harry, president of the Oregon State Federation of Labor. Mr. Harry says:

"Ninety-five per cent of the unions now in existence in this state have been formed since the organization of the federation in the past year. We are differently situated from any other state, in that we have only one city of any importance.

"Besides, our smaller towns are widely separated, in remote parts of the state. Taking these conditions into consideration, we challenge any other state in the Union to make as proportionately good showing in the growth of the labor movement in the past year.

"In January, 1902, there were in six towns, with the exception of Portland, 20 different unions, with an approximate membership of 950. We now embrace 23 towns outside of Portland, with 109 local unions, having an approximate total membership of about 5900. Portland does not show so much in number of new unions as in growth of membership.

"January 14, 1902, there were 48 locals in this city; at present we have 68 unions. Total membership January, 1902, was about 4200, while now we have about 3800 members. The growth of some of our oldest unions has been phenomenal. As an instance one local had 235 members last January. At the present time there are fully 1000 members in the same local. Fully 20 per cent of the entire population is affiliated with organized labor.

TESTED BRIDE-ELECT.

North Dakota Farmer Satisfied With Girl's Pies.

A plain, honest-looking young farmer two weeks ago took board in the family of Mrs. Marianna Green, of Norfolk, Conn., telling her that he was "pretty particular."

"I guess this place will suit you," said the old lady. "My granddaughter, Georgianna, keeps house for me." He smacked his lips at the first meal, and praised Miss Georgianna.

WANTS TRUST IN THE LORD.

Jerome K. Jerome's New Year's Sentiment Cabled to the World.
Jerome K. Jerome's response to The World's request for an expression of sentiment appropriate to the new year, doubtless delayed by his absence for the holidays from London, is as follows:
To the Editor of the World:
Let us combine and form a trust in the Lord. JEROME K. JEROME.

Grover Was Humble.

"Between presidential terms," said Senator Depew, "President Cleveland went hunting in the Adirondack forests one time. He took along Chick Bruce for a guide. Chick is one of the best guides in the mountains. They were waiting for a shot at a deer. Mr. Cleveland sat on a log, with the muzzle of his gun resting against his heart.
"Chick saw where the gun was and fairly yelled: 'Here, you blamed old fool, is that gun loaded?'
"I guess it is," Mr. Cleveland replied, humbly.
"Chick grabbed the gun, and found it at full cock. Then he turned indignantly to Mr. Cleveland and said: 'Suppose that gun had gone off and you had killed yourself. What do you think would have happened to me? Durn you, don't you know I am a republican?'—New York World.

Fire Seen 70 Miles.

The Tidings says people on the streets of Ashland noticed a brilliant red light on the eastern sky Friday evening, and which aroused a good deal of interest, as from appearances there might have been a great fire raging in the Cascade timber reserve. Later information revealed that the wonderfully brilliant light came from the burning of the tules on the shores of the lower Klamata Lake, about 70 miles distant. There being a large amount of ice in the lake at the present time, the weather conditions were favorable for the burning of the tules without damaging the wild hay lands, so the conflagration was started by the "Slick" men.

National Board of Trade.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—The National Board of Trade began its thirty-third annual meeting here today. About 50 commercial bodies were represented by 200 delegates. The program of the meeting, which will occupy three days, contemplates the discussion of a wide range of subjects. Among the many resolutions advocated by some one or more of the constituent bodies for discussion at the meeting are the following:
Favoring a one-cent rate for letter mail locally addressed; favoring a cheap parcel postage system; favoring legislation by congress so as to permit railroads engaged in interstate traffic to enter pooling arrangements under the supervision of the Interstate Commerce Commission; favoring the creation of an executive department of the government, to be known as the department of commerce; favoring improvements on the Ohio river and channel at the mouth of the Mississippi; declaring that commercial expansion is a necessity for the people of the United States; favoring legislation giving the Interstate Commerce Commission full control over rates and power to enforce its rulings and decisions, subject to review by the United States courts; urging the repeal of legislation which limits the retirement of national bank circulation to a total of only three millions of dollars in any one month of the year.

HOWLING FAILURE.

"What was the liveliest movement in your new opera last night?"
"The movement of the audience to the box office after the first act."

Good Roads Attract Home-seekers.

The excellent road system of Nassau county, N. Y., is credited by a leading citizen and real estate dealer of that county with having done more toward attracting home-seekers than any other inducement, not excepting the efforts of the Long Island Railroad Company to provide the best train service. The majority of persons who inquire for building sites speak of the good roads and the pleasure they had in driving over them.
