SOCIAL EVENTS OF THE WEEK

Concerning the People of Pendleton and Vicinity • Notes Personal and Otherwise • By Our Regular Correspondent

Pendleton Circle.

After their regular business session Friday evening, Pendleton Circle, No. 7, Women of Woodcraft, adjourned at the Music Hall, where with their friends, they spent an enjoyable evening dancing to the strains of McLynn's big orchestra. Punch was served by the ladies between dances. Besides affording a social evening for the members and their friends, the occasion was also a financial success, as after all expenses were paid a neat little sum remained, which will be added to the treasury of the order. The committee, which had charge of the dance for the evening was composed of the following: Lee D. Drake, Mary Knight and Mrs. R. A. Lent.

Club Notes.

The Parliamentary Club held its first meeting since the holidays on Tuesday afternoon. After the routine business, including the admission of three new members, Mayor Hailey addressed the club on some of the municipal needs. The mayor is alive to the lack in Pendleton of the essentials of a beautiful city, and he talked to an appreciative and sympathetic audience.

A committee, the members representing all of the clubs in the city, was appointed to "suggest useful improvements to the council." In accordance with the vote of the club, this committee attended the council meeting Wednesday evening, and presented a few suggestions. It is hoped that these suggestions will be acted upon, and if they are, a decided improvement may be noted in several places at once. This committee is a standing one, and has in hand a long list; it also has the support of a goodly number of Pendleton taxpayers.

Mrs. J. F. Robinson, Mrs. T. C. Taylor, Mrs. H. C. Guernsey, Mrs. Frank Wamsley and Mrs. C. B. Wade are the members of the committee. Several new complaints have been made in regard to "holes," "dark places" and "dumping of filth in improper places," since Wednesday evening, and the O. R. & N. Co. has promised to see that their right of way is not used as a dumping ground for the neighborhood refuse.

The next meeting of the Thursday Afternoon Club will meet at the home of Mrs. E. P. Marshall, on Thursday, January 22.

Oregon's Busiest Club Woman.

Mrs. Edith Torder Weathered was telling me yesterday of her trip to Pendleton last week, where she addressed the Thursday Afternoon Club in reference to the work a woman can do toward making the 1905 Fair a success, says the society editor of the Oregon Daily Journal. Mrs. Wade had collected quite a house party of out-of-town guests, who had a thoroughly good time.

There is one room in Mrs. Wade's home that interested Mrs. Weathered. The windows, on one side, are made up of transparencies from Lee Moorhouse's famous Indian pictures. They face the West, and when the sun sends its last rays through the panes the effect is especially beautiful.

Mrs. Weathered is to visit Pendleton in the near future to organize the Thursday Afternoon Club for active work on behalf of the Lewis and Clark Fair.

The executive board of the National Editorial Association meets in St. Louis on the 2nd of February. Mr. Hardin of McMinnville and Mrs. Weathered are the two representatives from Oregon. Mrs. Weathered has been the woman member of the board for the last two years. She has other engagements in the East on the 28th and 29th of this month, that will make it necessary for her to leave Portland rather earlier than she would otherwise have done.

Resolutions asking the legislature for a $500,000 appropriation for the Lewis and Clark fair were unanimously adopted by the Pendleton clubs this week, and a certified copy sent to Umatilla county's representatives, with a request that they vote for the same. This action has been taken by all of the women's clubs of the state, at the request of President Corbett.

Oregon club women will have an excellent opportunity to advertise the Lewis and Clark exposition at St. Louis in 1904, as the General Federation will hold its convention there in May of that year. Many thousands of the representative women of the whole country will be there in an Oregon building. Oregon women could fitly talk on the resources of our state, without one, how shall we appear in the eyes of the country?

Social Notes.

Miss Ruby Whittemore, who has been attending a business college in San Francisco, is home for a month's visit.
 Mrs. Frank B. Clopton, of Pendleton, is a guest at the Portland, and will remain in the city a few days, visiting friends.—Oregon Daily Journal.
 W. C. Dibbler, freight agent for the O. R. & N. at Walla Walla, is expected in the city soon, with his wife, to visit with their brother-in-law, Daniel Komler.

Mrs. W. G. Phelps, of Heppner, who has been the guest of Mrs. R. G. Thompson, left this morning for Portland, where she will join her husband, and with him will go to Salem.

Leon Cohen, a prominent business man of Pendleton, accompanied by Mrs. Cohen, is spending a few days in the city. They are stopping at the Portland—Oregon Daily Journal.

Plenty of Fall for Sewerage.

City Engineer Wylie, of Spokane, has been in the city advising with the committee on sewers. Mr. Wylie is the man who drew the plans for the Baker City sewer system, which cost—17 miles of sewer—$80,000. Mr. Wylie's impression, based on a cursory view of the city, was that the fall here was not sufficient to secure a ready sewer drainage. He changed his mind at once upon being shown the plans of the present system, which exhibited a 35-foot grade, which is more than twice the fall Baker City has, the latter town having but 17 feet of fall, which is ample, with plenty of water for flushing. Mr. Wylie affirms as his expert opinion that a 20 or at the most a 24-inch main is large enough for the entire drainage of Pendleton; very many people insist upon believing that a main large enough to float an excursion boat will be necessary.

Tool and Supply Houses.

The buildings belonging to the O. R. & N. Co., which were destroyed by fire here last August, will be replaced with new structures in a very short time. Considerable of the material which will enter into their construction is now on the grounds. The principal structures will be the tool and supply house for the water service, which will be in charge of Foreman Hult; and the tool and supply houses for the bridge and building department, which will be in general charge of J. H. Young, the supply clerk. The new buildings, which will cost $3500, will be located on the north side of the track, between the present supply warehouse and the Furnish warehouse. The latter is also company property, though many have a different impression, because it is generally known by the name of a private individual.

Contest for New Members.

There has been instituted in the order of the Women of Woodcraft a chip picking contest which extends to all the lodges of the order. It is simply a contest for new members, the orders scoring first, second and third in the contest being awarded cash prizes by the grand circle. The contest began January 1, and will continue until April 30. The lodge here is adding new members to its enrollment every meeting and entertains high hopes of taking in a prize. The contest is denominated a chip picking contest as a term meaning practically the same as log-rolling in the Woodmen fraternity.

ODDS AND ENDS.

News of North McKay Creek by Our Regular Correspondent.
 McKay, Jan.—John Van Orsdall is building his place near Barnhart.

A little girl of Charles Chapman, of South McKay, has the measles. Miss Ruth Kidder has returned from her visit in Walla Walla. John Graham has returned from Spokane, where he visited during the holidays.

And now our friend, Aleck Hudson, is about to "blast out" the "blasted old hill" near Kidder's ranch, and use the debris to fill in the gulches along the new road. That will extend the "rubber tire boulevard" two miles farther west.

Mr. Chapman has "presented" the county his nice alfalfa ranch, in South McKay, for a paupers' home, for the insignificant sum of $11,000. Lord, but won't us democrats roll in clover when we all get in there, whence we're all tending. Poor houses are not for the G. O. P.

Does it cause any chill to creep up your back these days, when you think that a democratic governor holds the helm of the ship of state?

The recent death of Jessie Benton Fremont, the venerable relict of the first republican candidate for president, turned our thoughts back to the campaign of 1850, when as a boy of 14 in Michigan, I secured some red wagon paint a piece of an old sheet and painted thereon the legend: "Fremont and Jessie," and flung it to the breeze from the top of a tamarack pole. Some of the boys said that wasn't right; it should be Fremont and Dayton. I insisted it was right, for was not Tom Benton's girl a smarter man than Lieutenant Fremont? and in case of his election, she would be the "it" of the administration.

The boys with lassies attended a dance given by the Elder boys, in Stage Gulch, last night.
