THE NEW POOR FARM

BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF COUNTY'S RECENT PURCHASE

Bought at First Reservation Sale by G. A. Hartman—Fory Acres of Alfalfa—Fourteen Hundred Fruit Trees—implements and Stock Go With the Farm.

The Charles Chapman farm, which the county court recently bought to convert into a poor farm, lies two miles west of Pendleton at the point where the old emigrant road crosses the McKay.

The tract of land comprising the farm was purchased at the first reservation sale in the year 1851, by Judge G. A. Hartman.

The creek bottom land at that time was thickly covered with underbrush of a dozen different varieties, though willow, chapparal, alder and halm being the principal ones. Judge Hartman built a small house upon the land immediately after making the purchase, and cleared off some of the creek bottom.

This particular spot on the creek was used by the Indians as a camping ground, and for years after its settlement they persisted in taking the liberties of riding through their old haunts that had been made the farm of a white man.

In 1893 Charles Chapman bought the farm from Judge Hartman and immediately began a crusade of hard work and good management, which has lasted for 10 years without cessation, and in which Mrs. Chapman has ably seconded him at every step.

The bottom land was cleared by slow degrees. J. W. Kimbrell, county surveyor in 1894, laid out the gravity irrigation system which is one of the most perfect in the county.

The bottom land is a black loam, which lies on the level of the creek bed and is therefore sub-irrigated in a high degree.

The farm contains today 40 acres of alfalfa from which three crops are cut each year, averaging five tons of hay per acre per year. There are 120 acres of land that can be made to produce alfalfa, with sufficient water covered by unquestionable water rights, to irrigate the entire amount.

This 40 acres of hay land, producing five tons of hay per acre, will yield the county from $1500 to $2000 per year, and it is the intention of the court to sow more land to alfalfa each year, until the entire body of land available is in a high state of productivity.

There is one acre of strawberries and an orchard of 1400 trees. Of this orchard 1000 trees are winter apples, free from pests and thrifty. The trees were purchased of Aaron Miller, of Milton, and are now five years old. The varieties are so numerous that the list could not be included in a short descriptive article. There are 400 assorted pear, plum, cherry, peach and apricots, all bearing, thrifty and healthy trees. Besides the orchard, there are every known variety of small fruits in abundance—raspberries, blackberries, dewberries, rhubarb, currants, gooseberries and grapes, besides a large bed of asparagus.

The farm is in a high state of cultivation, as Mr. Chapman has conducted a market garden on a large scale, and has paid the strictest attention to the care and cultivation of the land.

The house is a five-room frame building with closets and large pantry conveniently arranged. There is a capacious cellar 16x48 feet. A barn and cow shed, 1900 feet of poultry fence, with convenient poultry yards and houses, with one incubator of 254 egg capacity, and two brooders.

The farm is inclosed with a two and three-wire fence and is divided into eight fields. All the farm implements go with the place, besides three large team horses, weighing 1600 each, three Jersey cows and three high grade Jersey heifers, two comparatively new wagons, 600 new fence posts, and all the equipments necessary to conduct the farm.

Extensive improvements are contemplated by the county court. A site for new dwelling and living quarters for the inmates will be built this spring, a new barn and other buildings necessary to care for the increased crops are also planned. At present there are tool houses and granary, but the court will remodel and rebuild all the outbuildings. A site nearer the foothills on an elevated point will perhaps be selected, where the drainage from the premises would be perfect. This would also enable the court to utilize the present site of the buildings for gardens and other crops.

Taken as a whole, the new county poor farm is a complete home with possibilities of largely increased value by seeding more to alfalfa and planting more orchard. The purchase price was $11,000.

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S QUEUE.

It Hid a Luxuriant Suit of Straight and Very Dark Hair.

The Father of his Country concealed a luxuriant suit of hair beneath his queue wig. Many now wish the old fashion were in vogue to conceal thinning hair or baldness. Yet no one need have thin hair nor be bald if he cure the dandruff that causes both. Dandruff can not be cured by scouring the scalp, because it is a germ disease, and the germ has to be killed. Newbro's Herpsicle kills the dandruff germ—no other hair preparation will. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." There's no cure for dandruff but to kill the germ.

Liquid Air.

Through the enterprise of the Pendleton Academy in securing the liquid air entertainment for our city, hundreds of our citizens will next Monday night see liquid air boil when placed on ice, see frost form on the kettle when placed over fire; rubber, iron and tin made brittle, steel burned in the liquid air in which strawberries are freezing as hard as bullets, and scores of other startling and interesting tests by this scientific marvel.

Never Told a Lie.

Among the novel records of the period must be included that held by James Stewart of Leyden, N. Y., who claims to have lived on this earth 304 years, without ever having told a lie. He goes George Washington one better by saying that he can lie, but won't. This remarkable centenarian used alcoholic beverages and tobacco freely until he was 90, when he took a new "chute" and swore off.
