A UMATILLA MAN

JOHN HAILEY, JR., FOR SUPER-INTENDENT OF PRISON.

United States Commissioner is Backed by Eastern Oregon for the Place—Harry C. Grady Withdraws From the Contest—Mr. Hailey's Former Experience Fits Him for the Position.

John Hailey, Jr., United States commissioner for this county, is visiting and attending to business in Salem for a few days this week.

Mr. Hailey is the candidate of Umatilla county and Eastern Oregon, for superintendent of the state penitentiary and has every prospect at the present time, of being the winning man.

The magnificent vote given Mr. Chamberlain from Eastern Oregon has led the people to believe that this section of the state would be complimented by the governor in making his appointments. The position of superintendent of the penitentiary is one of the best offices at the disposal of the governor, and through the urgent request of friends, Mr. Hailey consented to become a candidate for the place.

He was superintendent of the Idaho penitentiary for three years, is at present United States commissioner in this city and has enjoyed a wide experience in the public affairs of the Northwest. He is a son of John Hailey, Sr., the pioneer stage man of Oregon and Idaho and has grown up from childhood in the inland Empire.

While Umatilla county is not loudly urging her claim upon the governor, who is now overburdened with extra duties attending the legislative session, Mr. Hailey's name has been presented for consideration and is backed up by the entire strength of Eastern Oregon.

Harry C. Grady, who was United States marshal for Oregon, under Cleveland's second administration, was a candidate for this position early in the winter but has gracefully withdrawn in favor of Pendleton's candidate. Mr. Grady is now conductor on the Mountain Division of the O. R. & N., a position he surrendered to accept the office of United States marshal.

Eastern Oregon takes a laudable pride in presenting Mr. Hailey's name for this position and feels that the interest of the state could not be better served than by bestowing this honor upon her chosen candidate. The former experience of Mr. Hailey in handling prisoners, and his intimate knowledge of the details of prison management.

BRAKEMAN KILLED A GROWING ORDER

J. E. MCDOWELL HAS HIS NECK BROKEN.

Was Struck While Passing Through Tunnel No. 4, Near Meacham—Was Setting Brakes.

J. E. McDowell, an O. R. & N. brakeman was instantly killed on train 21, at 2 o'clock this afternoon, while passing through tunnel, No. 4, one-half mile west of Meacham.

Train 21 was in charge of Conductor F. F. Waffle and Engineer Curtis. The train was starting down the mountain after doing some switching at Meacham. The two brakeman, J. E. McDowell and Sam Cutter were on top of the cars setting up hand brakes, preparing to assist in letting the train down the steep grade.

Engineer Curtis whistled for the tunnel, at the whistling post, one fourth mile east of the tunnel and just as the engine entered the tunnel, he saw McDowell setting brakes about nine cars behind the engine.

Conductor Waffle said he could not see McDowell when the head end of the train entered the tunnel on account of a sharp curve. Brakeman Cutter, who was 15 cars behind McDowell says McDowell was on the highest car in the train, and got on his knees when it entered the tunnel, as is the custom.

On emerging from the tunnel, Cutter saw McDowell lying on top of the car face downward, and rushing over to where he was, found him dead.

The train was stopped and conductor Waffle wired from Meacham to Agent Wamsley, who notified Coroner Cole and O. R. & N. Physician, Dr. F. W. Vincent, who took charge of the remains on arrival of 21 in Pendleton at 4 o'clock.

La Grande Knights of Pythias wired Damon Lodge in this city to care for the deceased and a committee consisting of C. C. W. J. Keyes, V. C. J. W. Duncan and M. of E. C. R. Dutton accompanied by a large number of members of Damon Lodge met the train at the depot and took the body to M. A. Rader's undertaking parlors where the coroner's inquest was held.

Upon examination by Coroner Cole and Dr. Vincent it was found that the neck of the unfortunate man was broken, and the nose was broken, when he was pitched forward on his face on the running board of the car.

It is evident that he raised up too soon and was struck on the back of the head by a part of the frame of the tunnel. His cap and heavy coat rolled on the back of his head preventing the head from being bruised.

Deceased has been working on the Mountain Division of the O. R. & N. since last April, coming from the Northern Pacific at Missoula to La Grande.

He has a little daughter 7 years old, now in a Sisters' school at Missoula. He was a member in good standing of Laurel Lodge No. 11, K. of P. of Missoula, and of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen of La Grande.

His lodge at Missoula has been wired for instructions as to the disposal of the remains.

The forms have been held open until 5 p. m. to get the details of the unfortunate accident and at time of going to press, funeral arrangements have not been made.

WOMEN OF WOODCRAFT INCREASING IN STRENGTH

Mrs. Van Orsdall, Grand Guardian, Gives Some Interesting Figures Concerning the Growth and Work of That Order, Especially of the Pacific Jurisdiction.

Some interesting information is gained from Mrs. Van Orsdall, grand guardian of the Women of Woodcraft about the order. The board meeting at Leadville, beside checking up the books and accounts of the order, made arrangements to invest $15,000 in the equalization fund. This amount, added to the previous investments, makes about $100,000 in that fund.

The financial condition of the order was found to be first-class. The cash balance in the United States National Bank of Portland is now $60,000. The board meeting also made arrangements to push the organization, and to put the grand guardian in the field about March 1 for four consecutive months' work.

She will visit circles and oversee the work of organization. During the month of December last, 1017 new members were taken into the order, which now has a total of 35,000 members, belonging to 537 local circles.

There are nine states in the jurisdiction—Colorado, Oregon, Washington, California, Montana, Idaho, Utah, Wyoming and Nevada. The largest circle in the jurisdiction is at Leadville, which has 821 members; the second largest is at Seattle, which has 625.

The order, which will have been in existence but six years the first of next April, has paid out in that time in death, monument and funeral benefits $477,300. The monthly collections now average about $36,000.

Social Tonight.

Pendleton Circle No. 527, of the Women of Woodcraft, will hold its regular session tonight in Hendricks' hall. Following the initiation and transaction of business there will be a social with refreshments and games. All visiting members of the order will be made welcome.
