DANDRUFF CAUSED BY A GERM.

A New Discovery That Kills the Germ and Prevents Baldness.

Pretty nearly all the hair preparations for dandruff have some merit in allaying itching of the scalp, and in being a fairly good dressing for the hair, but there is only one that recognizes what causes dandruff, falling hair and baldness, and that destroys the cause, a little germ—and that is Newbro's Herpicide. This germ eats its way into the scalp, down to the hair root, where it saps that vitality, causing dandruff, as it digs up the scalp into little white scales. Unless it is destroyed there's no permanent stopping of falling hair and cure of dandruff and baldness. Newbro's Herpicide kills the germ. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect."

The Truth is Wanted.

Oregonians are a queer set to allow their state to go on record as producing only $1,860,655 in gold for the year 1902. Everybody knows better, but what is anyone doing to remedy the evil? Just plain talk, that's all. They sit around on boxes and barrels in the corner grocery and discuss the matter, but nothing comes from it. Of course the mine owners are principally to blame, as they invariably refuse to make known their production. Something ought to be done to change the impression that the state is so low in gold production.—Western Mining World (Chicago).

"In three weeks our chubby little boy was changed by pneumonia almost to a skeleton," writes Mrs. W. W. Wadkin, of Pleasant City, O. "A terrible cough set in, that, in spite of a good doctor's treatment for several weeks, grew worse every day. We then used Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and our darling was soon sound and well. We are sure this grand medicine saved his life." Millions know its the only cure for coughs, colds and all lung diseases. Tallman & Co. guarantee satisfaction, 50c, $1. Trial bottles free.

Farmer Ankeny.

Levi Ankeny is the wealthiest farmer in the senate as he owns 500,000 acres of agricultural land and 50,000 acres of grazing land. His last year's wheat crop amounted to 900,000 bushels, and he marketed several trainloads of stock. His fortune has been acquired by recognizing the value of raw land, and not by speculation. Although he is a most successful banker, it is on record that he has never foreclosed a mortgage on a worthy farmer.—Astoria News.

Change of Weather.

The moon's change of last quarter, brought with it a change of weather, also—which according to German prediction, will rule for the next three changes. We have been having a cold windy and blistery spell for the last week. It has frozen about 4 inches of ice in all. Last Thursday was a kind of blizzard with snow falling all day, while Friday snow fell most of the day. Today it is more comfortable notwithstanding a chilly wind on the hills.

The thermometer has ranged from 28 to 40 above. Everyone is feeding and stock is looking well in general. Snow is about one inch on the level. No room for complaint as yet.

UKIAH NEWS.

Rumors are afloat that an Eastern lumbering company are negotiating for the timber lands lying south and southeast of this city. These lands were located last summer and fall by Washington and Idaho parties, and are said to contain the best timber in Eastern Oregon. Various theories are advanced as to how the logs will be handled in the event of such a sale, some thinking they will be driven down the river, while others contend that a railroad will be necessary. In either event considerable expense will necessarily incur.

ANKENY AS A BOY

JUDGE M'BRIDE TELLS OF THE SENATOR-ELECT.

Father Was a Rustling Business Man Who Sold Cattle to Miners in Northern California—Married a Daughter of Senator Nesmith—Ankeny at Lewiston.

"A bright and lively boy, son of a rustling father, was Senator Levi Ankeny," said Judge John R. McBride, of Spokane, one of the pioneers of the Pacific, who knew Ankeny as a boy. He talked interestingly yesterday of the senator. He said:

"I know Levi Ankeny as a school-boy in 1851, at LaFayette, Yamhill county, Oregon—where his parents resided. He was one of the brightest and liveliest boys in the town. A. P. Ankeny, his father, was then a very active, energetic business man who was a cattle buyer for the miners in Northern California and Southern Oregon, and was an all around rustling business man, who made money in almost everything he undertook. He finally settled in Portland and in the sixties was engaged in the business department of a theater—which I think he built and was called 'The Ankeny.' I next knew Levi Ankeny about 1848, when I found him residing in Lewiston, Idaho, as a merchant. He had not long before been married to a daughter of Senator Nesmith, of Oregon. He returned to Walla Walla afterwards and has been identified with that region ever since till the present time.

"I have always taken an interest in him as a Yamhill boy, and as the husband of a daughter of one of my oldest and truest friends, Senator Nesmith. I have always heard that he was an unostentatious, generous and prosperous business man, highly respected by him. That he is intelligent and honest and knows how to make money is conceded by everyone, and is without any blemish on his reputation—which I attribute to his early education in old Yamhill and to the fact that he won a wife just across the line in an adjoining county.

Senator in Embryo.

"What his qualifications are for legislation are, I suppose, yet to be developed. That his immediate neighbors have entire faith that he is equal to the position gives him a good send off, and through his known worth sanctions the inference that he is possessed of good business talent, it only aids that side of his character—for money-making ability is found often among men of limited mental capacity.

"His possession of the favor of the railroad corporations in his election to the senate is a decided objection to him, but if he has independence, and I believe he has, this will not affect him. His avowed opposition to a commission to regulate railroads in this state, I regret, but that is not a matter for other than state regulation and need not affect his usefulness as a senator. Let him be judged by his acts, and taking his career heretofore, and the character he has made for himself, he certainly ought to feel confident that his future will be a credit to himself and the magnificent state he will represent."

Miss Rose Peterson, Secretary of the Dale Tennis Club, Chicago, from experience advises all young girls who have pain and sickness peculiar to their sex, to rely on Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many beautiful young girls develop into worn, listless and hope women, simply because sufficient attention has not been paid to their physical development. No woman is exempt from physical weakness and pain, and young girls just budding into womanhood should be carefully guided physically as well as morally.

If you know of any young lady who is sick, and needs medical advice, ask her to write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., who will give her advice free, from a source of knowledge which is equalled in the country. Do not hesitate about stating details which one may not like to talk about, and which are essential for a full understanding of the case.

Miss Hannah E. Mershon, Collinswood, N. J., says:

"I thought I would write and tell that, by following your kind advice, I feel a new person. I was always thin and delicate and so weak that I could hardly do any work. Menstruation was irregular.

"I tried a bottle of your Vegetable Compound and began to feel better right away. I continued its use, and am now well and strong, and menstruate regularly. I cannot say enough for what your medicine did for me."

How Mrs. Pinkham Helped Fannie Kumpfe.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it is my duty to write and tell you of the benefit I have derived from your advice. The use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The pain in my back and womb have all left me, and my menstrual troubles corrected. I am very thankful for the good advice you gave me, and shall recommend your medicine to all who suffer from female weakness.—Miss FANNIE KUMPF, 1922 Chester St., Little Rock, Ark. (Dec. 16, 1902)

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will cure any woman in the land who suffers from womb troubles, inflammation of the ovaries, kidney troubles, nervous excitability, nervous prostration, and all forms of woman's special ills.
