SALEM MAN WANTS NO BOOKS FROM BLOOD MONEY.

Says Laboring People Cannot Afford to Accept Gifts From Such a Man —Better Denounce Action of the Steel Magnate and His Methods.

Salem, Ore., Feb. 7.—(To the Editor.)—I notice that the Statesman is urging the people of Salem to apply to Andrew Carnegie for a library for the city. For one, I do not want any of the old oppressor's books. And I trust the friends of labor have too much manhood and self-respect to accept anything of this nature from his hands. The suggestion of the Statesman is too contemptible and humiliating for a moment's consideration. Like John A. Rockefeller and his donations to a Baptist college, Andrew Carnegie, the crusher of labor and scourge of the poor, seeks to appease the wrath of God and avert the vengeance of the oppressed by establishing libraries among the people with the money he wrung from the sweat and toll of his employes. We want none of his blood money in the form of public libraries.

As the old oppressor nears the end of his grasping and avaricious career, he, no doubt, desires to prevent his infamy by establishing libraries among the people. By this means he hopes to be classed among the world's benefactors. But the effort will be vain. Wherever one of his library buildings can be seen the children of the laboring people for generations to come will point the finger of scorn at it and exclaim, "There stands a monument of the 19th century tyrant, erected by the sweat and toll, the blood and tears of unpaid labor." This is the kind of immortality Andrew Carnegie is sure to receive.

If Andrew Carnegie wishes his name to escape the execration of mankind, let him send out some of his ill-gotten plunder to feed those he has impoverished, to clothe those he has left naked. Let him, if he will, take away the tears from the cheek of unpaid labor for to the helpless arms of the laboring poor he owes all that he has.

The people cannot eat books, they would scarcely care to swallow volumes blistered with a widow's tears and red with the blood of famished children. Literature is now brought down within the reach of the poor and they need none of Carnegie's "filthy lucre" to store their minds with useful knowledge.

I trust the people will scout any such proposition. For my part, I would as soon accept a gift from the devil. Brother laborers, what do you say?

IN POLICE COURT.

Four Vagrants Before Judge Fitz Gerald.

Four vagrants were in the police court today. One of them was James Moore, who was sentenced to five days a few days ago.

It was thought advisable to have him earn his board, and this morning he was taken out by a policeman to sweep the crossings. This he positively refused to do and complicated his case by making an assault upon the officer, who was compelled to forcibly take him to the police court. There he showed a willingness to clean out the entire department and was dissuaded with difficulty from carrying out his purpose. Judge Fitz Gerald gave him $25 and costs for resisting an officer.

Louis Albee, who was lately discharged from the county jail after serving a sentence for petty larceny, of which he was convicted this morning. His sentence of five days was suspended until this evening, as it is said that there is reason to suppose that he will have railroad transportation come to him from friends that will enable him to get out of town in some style.

Harry McCullough was given five days for straight vagrancy.

John Vivens, who didn't go when sentence was suspended to enable him to get out of town, was today given five days.

SPECIAL BREEDERS' RATES.

O. R. & N. Offers Inducements to Stockmen Who Intend Purchasing in the East.

As an inducement to Oregon stockmen to bring blooded animals into Oregon, the O. R. & N. has made a special rate on livestock from all points of the East to stations on this line. Many stockmen of the Inland Empire contemplate grading up their herds and this opportunity to secure rates on stock for breeding purposes is an extra inducement of the industrial department of the O. R. & N. to those who are interested in the improvement of Oregon livestock. Last year the Hereford Association brought to Oregon a trainload of high grade cattle, which were disposed of in a manner satisfactory to Mr. Judson, the industrial agent of the O. R. & N. This rate is made that the work begun in the introduction of these cattle might be further advanced by stockmen.

WILL GIVE WEATHER SIGNALS.

Public School Will Be Furnished With Set of Signal Flags.

Arrangements have been made with the weather bureau by which the Pendleton public school will be furnished with a set of signal flags, which will be displayed upon the school building hereafter.

J. F. Slater, of the Pendleton high school, will have charge of the service and has been notified that the flags will be sent immediately. The daily weather report will be furnished by the telegraphic service of the East Oregonian.

BESLIN'S LECTURE.

Blind Man Gives an Interesting Talk to a Fair Sized Audience.

Frank P. Beslin, the blind editor, lectured to an appreciative audience at the I. O. O. F. hall last night. Mr. Beslin's interesting experiences were told in a charming manner. He recounted the feelings of a blind man and told of the gradual processes by which sounds are located and the presence of objects is detected by the blind. The lecture was preceded by an excellent musical program and although the high school drama was a drawing attraction, Mr. Beslin was greeted with a fair audience.

Helix Man Honored.

James Simonton, an old settler of Helix, was a few days ago presented by the Helix lodge of Knights of Pythias with a beautifully engraved and solid gold badge testifying that he had served the order faithfully for 25 years.

SOCIAL EVENTS OF THE WEEK

Concerning the People of Pendleton and Vicinity • Notes Personal and Otherwise • By Our Regular Correspondent

Eastern Oregon Tastes.

The Portland Telegram pays the following deserved compliment to the tastes of the people of Eastern Oregon in general and Pendleton in particular: "Pendleton people are indignant because, as is asserted, a number of the Gordon-Shay opera company failed to appear in that town as advertised, and left the tragic singing to a lot of understudies. If the allegation be true, the Pendleton theatergoers not only have a good right to 'their money back' but to some sort of punitive damages besides. Let the opera people understand that they cannot with impunity affront and insult the people of an Eastern Oregon city, whose money is as good as that of the people of larger towns, and who also have quite as good an appreciation of what is excellent in dramatic art. There is as much talent and good judgment 'to the square inch' in Pendleton, Baker City, La Grande and The Dalles as in any towns in the country. The people of those cities are willing to pay the prices of whatever comes along, and they have a right to get what they pay for. The Gordon-Shay people did nicely in Portland and satisfied their audiences, but let them and others understand that Portland, if larger, is no better a town than Pendleton, or Salem, nor more deserving of the best efforts of the players or singers whose managers take the money of interior but not inferior people for announced performances. The folks up the country are among the most liberal on earth, and they do not deserve to be thus swindled."

Jolly Dozen.

The Jolly Dozen entertained their friends in Music hall Thursday night. This was the second of a series of dancing parties that are being given by the young men of Pendleton. Many attended the dance who had taken in the show and went there from the theater. "Tom" the dipper artist, as usual, attended to the refreshment stand, refreshing the guests between dances. One of the laughable incidents of the evening was the umbrella lecture, given by one of the club members.

Mrs. Nash Entertains.

The party given by Mrs. A. P. Nash at her home last Tuesday in honor of her friend, Mrs. J. R. Moore, was a very pretty affair. The house was tastefully decorated, and lighted with waxen tapers, the apartments in which the party congregated being darkened. The lunch was elaborate, appetizing and greatly appreciated. A portion of the afternoon was spent at cards, and the party was pronounced by all attending it to be one of the most enjoyable of the season. About 40 ladies were present.

Art Exhibit.

Under the auspices of the Woman's Clubs of Pendleton, the Horace Turner traveling art exhibit will be shown in Pendleton for the benefit of the public schools. The exhibit will be held here March 4-7 and consists of photographic and color prints from originals in painting, sculpture and architecture. There are 150 pictures in the exhibit and 400 square feet of wall space is required for them. During the past week the pictures have been displayed at Walla Walla and the citizens were highly pleased with them. The following committees are in charge:

General arrangements—Mesdames Wamsley, Wade, Guernsey, Furnish, T. G. Halley and Professor Conklin.
Sale of tickets—Mesdames Sturgis, Stillman, and Roy Conklin.

Advertising and transportation—Mrs. C. B. Wade, Professor Conklin.
Entertainment—Mesdames Guernsey, Furnish, T. G. Halley, Professor Conklin and corps of teachers.

Orders for pictures—Mesdames S. Thompson Taylor, Marshall, Berkley, Jackson, Lane.

Hanging and arrangement—Mesdames Wamsley, T. G. Halley, Vincent, C. J. Smith.

Loan exhibit—Mesdames Starkweather, Robinson, Moorhouse.

Arrange time when different grades can visit the exhibit—Mrs. Colesworthy, Professor Conklin, Mrs. Lyvette.

Sale of catalogues—Mrs. Bean, Mrs. J. H. Halley, Jr., Mrs. Alexander, Mrs. Hartman.

Reception—Mrs. Furnish, Wade, Guernsey, Professor Conklin.

Committee at large for the success of the exhibit—Individual club members and citizens of Pendleton.

Club Notes.

The Parliamentary Club will hold its regular meeting on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30. An account of the work of the state federation legislative committee will be given in addition to the reports and discussions of the local committees.

Several new clubs in different sections of the state have been heard from recently, and some of them had representatives at Salem last week.

It is a bit surprising, and yet it should not be, to see how eager these new club women are to hear and learn about the uses and benefits of state federation. This is rather an old story to Pendleton and Pendleton's club women, but it is, after all, and is bound to be a subject that is vastly more interesting to federation officers and committees than the discussion of banquets, dinners, etc., and the making of little speeches before select companies. Social functions are all very charming and pleasant, they have their place, and it is not an altogether unimportant one in club work. Whatever brings us together is of value, but there is serious work for us to do, work that cannot be, at least should not be, made subordinate to the "good times" of these days of ours.

Readers of the club notes may be interested to know that at Grant's Pass, a town of less than half the size of Pendleton, there is a woman's club with a membership of over 100. This club expects to build and equip a public library for its town.

At Eugene, the Fortnightly has a library in charge, and its members at Salem were well posted, and kept their members of the legislature reminded that the citizens of that vicinity were interested in the federation's amendment to the library law. The fact that the State Federation of Women's Clubs is a state institution, of usefulness and power, will year after year be demonstrated in Oregon, as it has already been demonstrated all over our land, from North to South and from sea to sea. It was gratifying to hear a very prominent man of Oregon say to another, the other day at the capitol, "You need not be afraid to support any measure that the women's clubs unite in asking for." This is a good reputation for the state federation to have gained in three years of life.

For Drill Contest.

P. T. Harbour, of Weston, is in town today. He represents Stevens' lodge 48, of the K. of P., and is conferring with representatives of Damon lodge and other lodges with a view of organizing a team in this county to enter the drill contest, which will be held at the La Grande convention, March 7. The team is to be made up from various lodges of the county.

Special Train to Walla Walla.

On Sunday, February 8, 1903, the O. R. & N. will run a special train from Pendleton to Walla Walla, leaving Pendleton at 10 a. m., and returning, leave Walla Walla after the close of the Red Men's carnival exercises, at 11 p. m. Fare, round trip, $1.40.
F. F. WAMSLEY, Agent.

Delegates Chosen.

The following delegates have been chosen by the local lodge of the Modern Woodmen to the county convention of April 1: H. E. Cook, G. A. Hamblen, J. T. Brown; alternates, H. J. Wilkinson, M. R. Yates, W. T. Perrin. The convention will be held in the I. O. O. F. hall.

Snow Beneficial.

L. E. Huson, of Helix, reports wheat in fine condition in that neighborhood. The recent snow laid out eight inches deep over the Helix wheat fields, and was of great value to the crop.
