HOSPITAL REPORT

SISTERS OF ST. FRANCIS ISSUE ANNUAL STATEMENT

Are Pleased With the Progress of the Hospital—Grateful to Friends for Past Aid—Seven Thousand Dollars Subscribed During the Year.

Following is the annual address and report of the Sisters of St. Francis, of this city, on the hospital work of the year 1902:

To our benefactors and general public: Another year, rich in hope and promise, has opened for us, and with a deep sense of gratitude to God for His gracious providence so signally manifested in our regard, we come to present our tribute of grateful appreciation to our many friends and benefactors.

This first year of our hospital work in Pendleton was one preeminently successful in all branches of our far-reaching work. We gratefully acknowledge the generous donations which made this success possible.

In the very near future we hope to open the new brick hospital which has been a long felt want for many years to the people of this progressive city. We beg in the name of sweet charity for aid to enable us to bring to a finish this much needed work, and we feel assured in advance that we shall not ask in vain.

We beg the choicest blessings of God, who is rich in mercy, upon all our kind friends and benefactors, who have in the past extended to us the hand of generous sympathy; and we assure them that the gratitude which is the memory of the heart joined to prayer of unceasing intercession for their every good, is the humble tribute of their friends.

ST. ANTHONY HOSPITAL.

First of June is the Date Set for Completion—Mr. Blanchet, the Architect, Here Soon.

J. B. Blanchet, of Vancouver, architect of the new hospital of St. Anthony, is expected to arrive in a very few days, when work will be at once resumed upon the building.

The plumbing and heating apparatus and plastering and finishing carpentering involve the heaviest expenditures yet to be made, but there are certain needed improvements which will be made if possible, though they are not absolutely essential in the equipment. The plumbing will be strictly up-to-date and the building will be heated in every apartment by hot water. The boilers for furnishing it will be entirely new. It is expected that $15,000 will be expended upon the hospital between now and the first of next June, the date set for the completion. Mr. Blanchet will arrange while here for the heating, the plastering, and possibly for the putting in of the elevator.

The Sisters of St. Francis hope to be able to publish later another list of benefactors, the names of those who have at their own expense furnished rooms in the hospital for the accommodation of patients. This form of benefaction is a very popular one, and the rooms so equipped are designated by name plates upon the doors, bearing the names of the donors of the furnishings of the rooms. When finished the hospital will accommodate in round numbers, 50 patients.

Better Than Gold.

"I was troubled for several years with chronic indigestion and nervous debility," writes F. J. Green, of Lancaster, N. H. "No remedy helped me for years. She says Electric Bitters which did me more good than all the medicines I ever used. They have also kept my wife in excellent health for years. She says Electric Bitters are just splendid for female troubles; that they are a grand tonic and invigorator for weak, run down women. No other medicine can take its place in our family." Try them. Ward's Minstrels.

There is an old saying that nothing is certain in this world. However, on the face of that, it is safe to state that Harry Ward's magnificent minstrels are certain to command the attention of the amusement patrons next Monday, February 16, at the Frazer. This magnificent organization has traveled the world over and has won golden opinions from all sorts of people. They are well and favorably known and each visit is hailed with delight. This season the entire company is composed of the cream of burnt cork artists, making the grandest and most complete organization of its kind touring the continent.

A UNITED EFFORT

CHIEF NEWELL TELLS OF IRRIGATION PLANS.

Chief Engineer of the United States Geological Survey Suggests that the Counties of Oregon Unite on Some Project.

Baker City, Ore., Feb. 12.—A letter has been received by F. L. Moore, of this city, from F. H. Newell, chief engineer of the United States geological survey, at Washington, which is of considerable interest to all of the arid land states that are expecting government aid in the matter of irrigation. The letter in question was forwarded to the secretary of the interior in regard to various irrigation schemes in this county formulated by the Baker County Irrigation Association. Mr. Newell says:

"The suggestion was made and repeated in the newspapers that, to serve as guide or suggestion, it would be desirable for the people of Oregon to unite as in other states, and call to the attention of the honorable secretary of the interior, certain important projects, which, in their opinion, were worthy of consideration; pointing out all the facts, might be considered as of prominent importance. This course was suggested in order to put a stop, if possible, to the flood of letters, petitions and requests from all parts of the country, and to sift out the few in each state which the citizens of the state themselves believe to be of most importance. The facts which are discussed are not those as to the needs of any community or locality, but simply as to whether there is ample water supply, whether lands are of such character that they can be irrigated, and the cost of irrigation refunded to the treasury."

This version of the department's attitude in regard to government aid of irrigation in the arid states upsets a number of well-laid plans, and is directly opposed to the action of the Oregon State Irrigation convention at Portland, last November, when, acting as they supposed in harmony with the wishes of Mr. Newell, the delegation refused to commend any particular irrigation scheme to the department, but left the matter for each county to make such representations as might seem desirable. In closing his letter, Mr. Newell asks if it is possible for the citizens of Baker county to get together with those of other counties and determine upon which project in Oregon they desire to unite.

Kentucky V. M. C. A.

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 12.—Five hundred delegates and visitors, representing the three scores of local Young Men's Christian Associations in Kentucky, are gathered in Lexington to attend the golden jubilee convention of the state organization. The convention commemorates the semi-centenial of the beginning of the association movement in Kentucky. The first associations having been organized in Louisville and Lexington in 1853. Prominent association workers from New York, Nashville, Cleveland and other cities are to address the convention, which will be in session three days. An elaborate musical program will be a feature of the jubilee exercises.
