High School Orchestra.

The people who have by chance attended the rehearsals by the recently organized high school orchestra, cordially regret that the orchestra will be organized before many months have passed as one of the institutions of the town. It is said to have made very remarkable progress during the short time that has elapsed since its members began to meet regularly for practice. Its membership is as follows: First violin, Dell McCarty; second violin, Ed Jay and Elmer Baker; mandolin, Winnie Boylan; guitar, Clara Boylan; first cornet, Earl Simpson; piano, Josie Cameron; bassoon, Roy Conklin. The director is Professor E. B. Conklin, who also plays the cornet.

Fourteen battalions of the Turkish army have been ordered to join the sultan and the sultan is preparing to invade Dalmatia.
