

SYRUP OF FIGS

Acts Gently;
Acts Pleasantly;
Acts Beneficially;
Acts truly as a Laxative.

Syrup of Figs appeals to the cultured and the well-informed and to the healthy, because its component parts are simple and wholesome and because it acts without disturbing the natural functions, as it is wholly free from every objectionable quality or substance. In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but the medicinal virtues of Syrup of Figs are obtained from an excellent combination of plants known to be medicinally laxative and to act most beneficially. THE MOST COSMOPOLITAN

WHICH CITY MOST NEARLY REPRESENTS THE WORLD.

Correspondent Takes Exceptions to Chicago's Claim—Says Singapore, India, is Typical of All Known Races of Mankind.

A correspondent of the Spokesman-Review, who has lived in India, sends the following interesting letter to that paper, concerning the claim that Chicago is the most cosmopolitan city in the world:

"I have read with interest the statement of Professor C. D. Buck, which you publish today, to the effect that Chicago is the most cosmopolitan city of the world, past or present. Constantinople and Cairo, which he takes as the basis of his comparison, are certainly out of the running long ago; but Port Said, a city of even more recent date than Chicago, and Singapore, the great seaport of the Orient, which is not yet 100 years old, are now generally recognized as being entitled to the distinction which Professor C. D. Buck claims for Chicago. Having resided here for the past 16 years at Singapore, I am somewhat inclined to favor the claims of the Malay city, and, though unfortunately, I have not the full census report by me, I think the figures and facts which I give below will be sufficient to establish the claim.

First of all, then, the population of Singapore in 1901 was 228,555, only one seventh that of Chicago, and yet the number of languages is certainly greater. Here is a list of the more important of them:

European languages—English and French, German, Dutch, Spanish, Italian, Portuguese, Swedish, Danish, Russian, Polish, Turkish, Hebrew; total 13.

Languages of British India—Bengali, Hindustani, Gujarati, Tamil, Telugu, Canarese, Malayalam, Kablese, Singalese; besides several other less important languages—say nine.

Chinese languages—The so-called "dialects" are as different from each other as the languages of Europe; total, as given in the census report, six. Malayan languages—Malay, Javanese, Boyanese, Achinese, Bugis, Dyak, Batta, Tagalog; total, eight.

Other Asiatic languages—Anamese, Arabic, Armenian, Murmese, Japanese, Persian, Siamese; total, seven.

The above gives a grand total of 43, which is certainly a very conservative estimate, for the records of the Bible society show that the scriptures are sold from the Singapore agency every year in from 70 to 85 different languages.

The census of 1901 shows that in Singapore there are 14 different nationalities which number over 2000 each, and though the Malay city can not rival Chicago's newspapers in 10 languages, it is quite certain that the church services in 20 languages can easily be matched by the great diversity of religious ceremonies performed by the Orientals in Singapore. Christian services are conducted in 10 different languages in the great seaport of the East Indies, namely: English, French, Portuguese, Armenian, Tamil, Malay, Cantonese, Hokkien, Teochiu and Hok-chiu.

Oregon Postmasters.
Washington, March 10.—The president today sent to the senate the following nominations: Postmasters: Montana—L. V. Bogy, Chinook. Oregon—William R. Curtis, Marshfield; Marion F. Davis, Union; Benjamin F. Vaughan, Heppner; Thomas B. Randall, Oregon City; Andreas L. Sproul, Ontario. Washington—John F. Irby, Ritzville.

THE DIFFERENCE.

"Two women stand at a cradle side, And gaze on a picture fair, A nestling child, with dark fringed eyes, Where lurks the deep-toned blue of the skies, And shining sun-touched hair. One of them sees but a sleeping child Clinging a battered doll, She notes the beauty of form and face And the rich effect of the priceless lace On the carved cradle—that's all. She kisses the babe as she carries awhile; Then turns away with a careless smile.

The other smiles with misty eyes, And the cradle fades away. Before her stretches the path of life, With all the peril and toil and strife, And the dangers of every day. She sees the tiny form growing strong And the tender heart growing cold In the race for pleasure that ends in pain. The eager struggle 'twixt loss and gain. The madd'ning quest for gold, And she sobs a prayer, "O God, that Thou Would keep him ever as pure as now!"

These women stand in the self-same place; They are not unlike in form and face; They see the same child in a wee white cot; But one is a mother—and one is not." —Selected.

Home Duties

The real heroines of every day are in our homes. Frequently, however, it is a mistaken and useless heroism. Women seem to listen to every call of duty except the supreme one that tells them to guard their health. How much harder the tasks become when some derangement of the female organs makes every movement painful and keeps the nervous system unstrung. Irritability takes the place of happiness and amiability; and weakness and suffering takes the place of health and strength. As long as they can drag themselves around, women continue to work and perform their household duties. They have been led to believe that suffering is necessary because they are women. What a mistake!

The use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will pain and restore happiness. Don't resort to strong stimulants or narcotics when this great strengthening, healing remedy for women is always within reach.

FREE MEDICAL ADVICE TO WOMEN.

If there is anything in your case about which you would like special advice, write freely to Mrs. Pinkham. No man will write your letter. She can surely help you, for no person in America has such a wide experience in treating female ills as she has. She has helped hundreds of thousands of women back to health. Her address is Lynn, Mass., and her advice is free. You are foolish if you do not accept her kind invitation.

For proof read the symptoms, suffering and recited in the following letters:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to express to you the great benefit derived from your advice and the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My trouble was female weakness in its worst form. I was in a very bad condition. I could not perform my household duties, my back ached, I was extremely nervous, and I could not eat or sleep, and bearing-down pains were terrible. My husband spent hundreds of dollars to get me well, and all the medicine that the doctors prescribed failed to do any good; I resorted to an operation which the physician said was necessary to restore me to health, but I suffered more after it than I did before. hemorrhages of the womb that nothing could seem to stop.

"I noticed one of your advertisements and wrote you for advice. I received your reply and carefully followed all instructions. I began to get stronger, and in two weeks was about the house. I took several bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and followed your advice, and to-day I am a well woman. Your remedy helped me a Godsend to suffering women, and I cannot find words to tell you for what you have done for me."—MRS. LOTTIE V. NAYLOR, 11 Ave., N.W., Washington, D. C.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I write to tell you what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was suffering with falling of the womb and could hardly get about after taking five bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was completely cured. I am now a well woman and able to do my work.

"I think your medicine one of the best remedies in the world."—J. M. LEE, 141 Lyndal St., Newcastle, Pa.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done a great deal for me. I suffered so much from falling of the womb and all the troubles connected with it. I doctored for years with doctors and other remedies but received only temporary relief. I began taking your medicine, and had not taken it long before I was feeling better. My husband said that I should keep right on taking it, as it gave me relief from my suffering, as I could not expect to be cured in one or two bottles. I did so and am now able to be on my feet and hard all day, and go to bed and rest at night. Thanks to your Vegetable Compound I am certainly grateful for the relief it gave me. It is the greatest friend I would not be without it in my house, for when I feel out of sorts I take a few doses and feel all right.

"I would recommend your medicine to all tired mothers, and to those suffering as I was."—MRS. R. F. CHAMBERS, Bennet, Neb.
