SUCCESSFUL MEETING OF FARMERS AT LA GRANDE.

Interesting Papers Read and Addresses Made-Farmers Took Deep Interest in Scientific Subjects Pre-

La Grande, March 21.-The second day's session of the Farmers' Institute opened with a larger attendance than yesterday. The program was begun with a musical selection by the La Grande Glee Club.

Professor Knisely read a paper on "Plant Food in the Soil," which was followed by Dr. Withycombe on "Forage Plants," in which the subject of depleted ranges and the cure was thoroughly discussed. The speaker has made a deep study of the grasses that furnish forage for the herds of the West and his findings are original and valuable. He urges farmers to seed down a small area of foothill pasture, each year, with some of the hardy grasses that are recommended for dry soil and climate. Brome grass is the most valuable of the hardy forage plants yet experimented with. and Dr. Withycomb says its introduction on the foothill pastures will partly restore the "run down" ranges.

Swine Husbandry.' He took up swine raising from the practical standpoint and reviewed the industry in Oregon. The Willamette valley farmers are greater hog raisers, generally speaking, than those of Eastern Oregon. and yet the natural advantages Eastern Oregon excel those of the wet counties.

He made a pointed talk on the profits of swine raising, coupled with wheat farming. The extra expense of preparing to keep hogs on the large farm is comparatively small, while the grain that otherwise goes to waste, in the stubblefields and straw stacks, is sufficient to keep a large number of hogs. Waste fruit, foothill pasture and creek bottoms. that cannot be profitably utilized for any other purpose can be made to support enough hogs to pay a handsome profit.

He called attention to the fact that

Oregon farmers are buying Omaha bacon and lard, and Oregon packers are shipping in Nebraska hogs in carload lots, solely because the Oregon farmer will not own enough hogs to supply local demands.

Dr. E. N. Hutchinson made a short talk on crop production, dealing with the feterilizing processes necessary to keep alive the virgin strength of the soil. He commended the practice of summer fallowing, or soil rest pe-

Professor A. B. Leckenby, of the Union experiment station, will also speak tought on the manufacture and use of farm and garden tools. and F. S. Bromwell, field superintendent of the sugar factory, will read a paper on beet culture.

The meeting has been very success ful throughout. A large number of farmers have attended both days. and have taken deep interest in the papers read and the talks made upon the scientific aspects of farming and stock raising.

The evening session will close with a short talk on the "Agricultural Col-lege and its Work," by Professor F. L. Kent.

Sale a Success.

As showing the difference between bona fide advertising and the fake and bombastic kind, the success of the celebration sale of the Peoples Warehouse during this week shows how quick people see the difference. Their store has been busy and crowded all the week each day, busier than the one before, because people bought and told their neighbors of the bar gains they had found. Beginning next Monday, March 23, the Peoples Warehouse offers choice bargains. Every department will be represented and the opportunities for money-saving as good as the week before. Their large volume of business in connec tion with their immense buying enables them to offer every day staple articles at lower prices than any other store. Don't fail to visit the cloak department of the Peoples Warehouse.

Dr. Hutchinson is one of the best speakers in the state, and as some of Pendleton's people know he is able to interest an audience along many lines of thought,

The Agricultural committee of the Lewis and Clark fair writes that the 'Club Trees" will not be set out until the spring of 1905, but the clubs are asked to make out lists of such trees as they would like to be used for their respective counties. It will be suggested to the clubs through the Club Journal that they send their lists by their delegates to the Astoria convention, when they can al! be turned over to the proper committee.

The work of bringing the ownership record up to date has been greater Walla this morning. She has than ever before known in the history of the county, in fact the labor is more than doubled, which has been caused by so many transfers and the entering of a large amount of land which has been acquired from the government and state, by individuals.

Mr. Saling estimates the increase in assessed valuation at about 20 per cent over last year. The increase in land values has had a tendency to raise the value of cheap lands more than the higher priced lands, and placing values more on an equality
