

FOR CELEBRATION

WILL PENDLETON REMEMBER INDEPENDENCE DAY?

A Few Brief Opinions of Citizens Upon the Subject—Nearly Every Sentiment Expressed Enthusiastically Favors a Celebration.

Will Pendleton celebrate on the Fourth of July?

The question has been repeatedly asked by visitors to the city during the past few weeks. Neighboring towns are asking the same question and Pendleton citizens must answer.

No celebration was held last year, and there seems to be a strong sentiment in favor of making up for lost time.

Just a few opinions were given today upon the subject and the matter will be presented from time to time as the business men consider the advisability of celebrating.

What They Think.

Leon Cohen—Of course Pendleton will celebrate, by all means. We must begin now to make preparations and celebrate every holiday that comes along. It is to the interest of everybody. Push the matter along. Don't rest from now until after the celebration is over. Let us set an example of activity that will not soon be forgotten.

George Darveau—It is a good idea, provided it is done right, which means not only that all the preliminaries are looked after properly, but also that a finance committee has the management of the fund that will let us know where the money goes. We ought to have a celebration. If the thing is conducted right the business men do not lose even when they put up liberally for it. Properly done it is a good advertisement for the city.

Joseph Baseler—We had none last year and I believe we surely ought to have one this year. To have one good celebration every other year is surely not too many.

A. D. Stillman—By all means let us celebrate, but in such a manner as to revive, recall and perpetuate the traditions and spirit of the day, not as a catch-penny affair. An appropriate Fourth of July celebration means a good deal.

R. Martin—Don't favor it. If it is like the others usually have been, it will be more bother than it will come to. There is nothing in it.

John Halley, Jr.—Certainly, by all means, more especially because we did not have any last year.

D. Kemler—Depends upon what we do or try to do and how it is conducted. It may or may not be profitable in any sense.

Perry Houser—Don't go much on it. There is usually a lot of hubbub and nothing to it. It is seldom profitable in any sense unless carried on just right.

A. Kunkel—I favor a celebration and doing it just right. Pendleton is behind the times in this respect.

T. W. Ayres—Would like to see a good celebration, because it will be a benefit to the town. The subscribers have never lost a cent.

E. Eben—Couldn't please me any better. It is a day that ought not to be forgotten, and we should do our share to perpetuate its traditions and spirit.

M. J. Carney—The day ought to be celebrated this year. It should not be forgotten or neglected, and the proper kind of a celebration cannot but profit the whole town.

S. R. Thompson—We ought to have an appropriate celebration. But the preliminaries should be taken hold of early enough and in such a way as to give the country people assurance of an entertaining time; of something to come to. It is a great error to sell them by not doing the thing right when it is taken hold of.

Gus LaFontaine—There is nothing in it but hard work. By no means do I favor it. Only a handful make any money out of these celebrations and the rest find themselves behind after a hard day's work and after contributing to the expense.

Schwartz & Greulich—If the conclusion is to have a celebration we can be counted upon to do our share of the contributing to make it a success.

M. A. Rader—If we can have a good one, let us go ahead, but we should inaugurate it to make it a success, and with that purpose and intelligent effort from the start. We should not get the people here just to have them spend their money, but to entertain them. Their object in coming is to have a good time and our declared purpose in getting them here is to give them a good time. Let us do the thing right.

Laatz Bros.—Sure we favor it. Let us take hold of it early enough to correct whatever errors may be made in the beginning, so every detail will be looked after just right—with thoroughness and energy and good judgment. It will be a mistake not to celebrate, and on a liberal scale, too. It will be a greater mistake not to do it right when we get to it.

H. J. Stillman—By all means. It can be made a good thing for the town, and we ought to do it.

Lee Teutsch—Good idea, and ought to be properly carried out. The new Retailers' Association, by the way, thinks of celebrating or observing May day, but if that is done, the Fourth of July does not have to be neglected.

Demott & Co.—Yes, let us celebrate and begin now with the preliminaries, so the whole thing will be properly worked out. Let us get an early start.

Swearingen Bros.—It should be done by all means. Why let the people drift off to other towns on that day, which they will surely do if there is nothing in Pendleton to attract them? They might just as well be entertained here.

TEACHERS TO MEET

INLAND EMPIRE ASSOCIATION AT WALLA WALLA.

Teachers of Umatilla County Urged to Attend—Promises to be the Best Association Meeting Yet Held.

Pendleton, March 30, 1903.—To the School Boards of Umatilla County, Ore.—The Inland Empire Teachers' Association will hold its next annual meeting at Walla Walla, Wash., commencing on the 16th of April and continuing three days. This association includes within its jurisdiction the states of Washington, Idaho and Oregon. The coming meeting is to be one of the best the association has ever held, and teachers who attend will be treated to some of the best thought the educational world affords.

As the convention is to be held right in our own doorway, the teachers of Umatilla county should be given an opportunity to attend in a body. I therefore suggest that you give your teachers the 16th, 17th and 18th days of April for a holiday, and that you allow their pay to continue during this time as an inducement for them to attend this great meeting. By so doing, you will not only be performing an act of generosity, but you will be contributing to the future welfare of your schools by thus placing it within your teachers' powers to gain new knowledge and inspiration which will be an invaluable acquisition to them, when they return with renewed vigor and enthusiasm, to their school room duties.

Trusting that you will consider the above suggestions favorably, and that we may be enabled to send a large delegation of teachers to the meeting, I remain very cordially,

J. F. NOWLIN,
County School Superintendent, Umatilla County, Oregon.

WOODMEN "JOLLY TIME."

Entertainment to be Given Saturday Evening at Odd Fellows' Hall.

The Modern Woodmen of this city will give an entertainment at Odd Fellows' hall next Saturday evening April 4.

An entertaining program has been arranged including a short address by Judge Lowell and recitations by Miss Agnes Dunbar.

A lunch will be served and games, music and dancing will be enjoyed. Kirkman's orchestra will furnish the music. The Woodmen, in their invitations, call the coming entertainment a "Jolly Time."

WILL NOTICE CHANGES.

Veterinary to See Walla Walla Once More After 42 Years' Absence.

John Tempany, veterinarian for the Ninth United States Cavalry, was in town this morning en route to Walla Walla, where he has orders to report. Mr. Tempany has been continuously in the United States regular army since he enlisted in 1858, and was ordered to Fort Walla Walla, where he remained until the breaking out of the civil war. From the summer of 1861 until today he has not seen Walla Walla, which at that time consisted of the fort and one lone cabin belonging to an Indian trader named Neal McClinchy.
