WEDNESDAY, APRIL 8, 1903.

Truth is always consistent with itself, and needs nothing to help it out. It is always near at hand and sits upon our lips, and is ready to drop out before we are aware; whereas a lie is troublesome, and sets a man's invention on the rack, and one trick needs a great many more of the same to make it good.—Dr. Samuel Johnson.

TOM JOHNSON, REFORMER.

The people of Cleveland, Ohio, have again indorsed the principles of Tom Johnson, this time by 7,444 majority, in the home of the only Mark Hanna.

Johnson has proven himself to be the friend of the common people. He has made an honest study of their needs in the city of his home and has fearlessly made their needs his political creed.

Opposed to him are the plutocrats who look upon the common herd as so many horses, to be worked, while the vigor of manhood lasts, and then to be sent to the almshouse, if no other charitable door is open for them. At the head of this rank of political corruptionists, opposed to the people of Cleveland, stands Mark Hanna.

The municipal fight in Cleveland is waged about the street car fare and franchise question. Tom Johnson stands for 3 cent fares, the opposition for 5 cent fares, the same rate that has been charged since street railways were first built in Cleveland.

Tom Johnson represents progress; the Hanna forces represent the mossback capitalism that fights every innovation, no matter how worthy, which threatens to reduce personal dividends, in the interest of all the people.

The election of Johnson is a scathing rebuke to the fossilized forces arrayed against him. In a leading republican state, and in the best city in that state, it is refreshing to find the common people tearing away from the worn-out, thread-bare policy which has built up one man and one fortune at the expense of a thousand.

It would be a happy choice and one that the great mass of the plain people would welcome, should Tom Johnson be named as the standard-bearer for democracy. The record he has made in Ohio entitles him to consideration. In the stronghold of the enemy he has won laurels of which any leader may well feel proud.

THE TRUST'S ROBBERY.

Without advancing the wages of its employes one cent or adding aught to the quality of its product, the salt trust has raised the price of salt from $2.50 in February, as quoted by Douglas Belts, president of the State Woolgrowers' Association, to $10 per ton on April 1.

This is the brand of prosperity that helps one man and hurts a hundred. The woolgrowers have labored incessantly to build up their flocks. They have invested money in fine breeds, improved their farms with all the conveniences and equipment necessary to the comfort and care of their stock. They have added wealth to the county and state in increasing values. They have offered the markets a better product and are just now in condition to reap a just reward from their labor and expense, when the octopus of greed grasps their profits and pockets the reward they have earned.

They must have salt. The trust controls the output. They must pay the price fixed by the trust or go without. And in paying the trust's exorbitant prices, they are unjustly forced to give up hard-earned wealth that should go into further improvements in herds and homes.

Will they still cling to the trust principle or is the lesson sufficient? Will they still support the cause that nourishes the trust, or will they join forces with the reformers who stand for the rights of the people?

It is said the nearest route by which to reach a man's vote lies through his pocket.

If this "hold up" of the stockman by the villainous salt trust is not enough to make them think deeply and seriously, nothing can do it.

They are robbed of profits which should be used in educating their families, beautifying their homes and improving their flocks.

The trust gives them no increased value for this increased price. The same salt that sold for $2.50 per ton in February is now quoted at $10. The trust knows that the season of the year is on in which the stockman must have salt and they force him to pay them a 300 per cent increase in price to get it.

Congress has done nothing to curtail the power of the trusts. The great boasts made by the republican leaders were empty. The people are being mercilessly exploited by increased prices for life's necessities, and will be until the common people themselves overthrow machine politics and make a few wholesome laws.

It was really a victory for the West when Harriman won in the great contest for ownership of the Union Pacific stock, against Keene, Harriman, like Jim Hill, is an empire builder. He develops the countries into which his roads extend. He invites dividends by making business in the settlement of the country. He is a big man, of the Western type, a path-maker, a home-builder, and a lover of development. Wherever the Harriman system and the Harriman influence is felt, rural improvement is going on, immigration is changing the character of the country for the better and railroads are made as far as possible, agencies of progress. Keene is a stock gambler, pure and simple. To him, railroads are sources of income and not development. He takes no further delight in owning stock, than to collect profits. Progress is not part of his creed.

The Baker City Democrat, which has been telling of the terrible oppression of the mining corporations by virtue of the corporation tax law, for the past month, suddenly comes to its senses. Here is what it says on return to consciousness: "The Eastern Oregon gold field is now the victim of Eastern fake companies which are preying on the unsuspecting and selling stock in mythical claims, making the good reputation of this district the lever by which they can gull the public. How long this swindle can go on without the doors of the penitentiary swinging open to receive these nothing less than robbers remains to be seen. Certainly the government authorities are lax in their duty or else there is a nigger in the woodpile somewhere."

STOP YO' CAPERIN' 'ROUND!

Ain't no sense a actin' so
Ficklish all the while!
Fust yo' blow an' then yo' snow,
Then yo' crack a smile,
Jump from spring to winter in
One quick back'ard bound,
Then yo' jump right back agin!
Stop yo' caperin' 'round!

Came in gentle as the lamb
Little Mary had
Breath was full o' honey balm,
Heavenly, by gad!
Then yo' got into a fret
An' we quickly found
Yo' was jest a durned coquette!
Stop yo' caperin' 'round!

Git as gentle as a dove,
Do the best yo' can,
Just to make a monkey of
Our poo' weather man.
Let him talk of azure sky
That he thinks he's found,
Then yo' let a blizzard fly,
Stop yo' caperin' 'round!

Ain't no sense a actin' so,
Makin' sich a crack.
Fur it's time fur grass to grow
An' yo' set it back.
Paint with blue the heaven-arch,
Paint with green the ground—
Jest behave yo'self, Miss March!
Stop yo' caperin' 'round!

A LESSON IN FREE TRADE.

The treasury department at Washington is publishing figures which show that our imports from Porto Rico have risen from less than $2,000,000 in 1897, to $9,634,176 in 1902, and that our exports to the island have, during the same period, increased from a little over $2,000,000 to about $12,000,000. Which leads, the St. Louis Mirror remarks:

"As Porto Rico has, for some time, been enjoying free trade with the United States, the figures published deserve to be regarded as irrefragable proof of the utter fallaciousness of protectionist theories. There cannot be a shadow of doubt but that the establishment of free trade with Cuba, the Philippines and every other country in the world would be followed by still more beneficial results than it was in the case of Porto Rico."

VALUE OF A REPUTATION.

The bullfrog sat by the river's brim
And sang the whole day long;
The critics sometimes censured him,
And they weren't far from wrong.
But he sang away, as the daylight fled
And didn't care what the critics said.

He gurgled and croaked till the toads
So fat,
And the pollywogs so slim.

Remark: "To warble a song like that
Must be very hard on him,
But no doubt it is difficult to do."

And the bullfrog simply pegged away
The very best he knew;
They learned to bear it, and day by day

His reputation grew,
Till at last, through the pond, it is understood,
That whatever the bullfrog sings, it's good.—Washington Star.

ABOUT THAT COAT

You wear a coat. Why?
To keep the cold out? No;
to keep the warmth in.
What of the body that has no warmth—the thin, poor body that lacks the healthy flesh and fat it needs?

For such we say that Scott's Emulsion provides the right kind of a coat. Why? Because Scott's Emulsion builds firm, solid flesh and supplies just enough fat to fill nature's requirements—no more. That means bodily warmth.

MISS IDA M. SNYDER,

Treasurer of the Brooklyn East End Art Club.

MENSTRUAL irregularities are generally the beginning of a woman's troubles. With the vitality at a low ebb, the blood weakened, the digestion disordered, she goes about pale-faced, hollow-eyed and haggard, a pitiful contrast to the blooming health of her former self. But over 1,000,000 women have found health again by taking Wine of Cardui.

to their health we would have more happy wives, mothers and daughters, and if they would use more intelligence in the matter of medicines, observing results, they would find that the doctor's prescriptions do not perform the many cures they are given credit for.

As a regulator of the menstrual periods Wine of Cardui has never been known to fail. It has seldom failed to restore perfect health, even in the most persistent and aggravated case of weakness. Miss Ida M. Snyder, of No. 535 Bergen Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., has used Wine of Cardui and she says it helped her into a new life. Health to Miss Snyder is worth a great deal. She is an attractive young woman with intellectual attainments and she occupies the position of Treasurer of the Brooklyn East End Art Club. This position marks her as a person of intellect, culture and refinement and it speaks highly of the respect and trust her fellow women have in her. She writes:

Miss Ida M. Snyder.

"In consulting with my druggist he advised McElice's Wine of Cardui and Theodor's Black-Draught, and so I took it and have every reason to thank him for a new life opened up to me with restored health, and it only took three months to cure me."

You may secure the same relief as Miss Snyder, if you take Wine of Cardui as she took it. Theodor's Black-Draught is the companion medicine of Wine of Cardui and it is a liver and bowel regulator which assists greatly in effecting a cure. If you take these medicines according to directions, the relief and cure is simple. Some cases are cured quickly and others take longer because the disease has run longer. Remember how Miss Snyder took Wine of Cardui and has health. The same medicines are offered you to-day.
