WOMEN'S CLUB NOTES.

There seems to be a larger sized muddle on in Oregon in regard to women's clubs, city federations, etc. If one may judge from the various accounts and notices in the papers, it is quite likely that the committee of men having women's work for the Lewis and Clark Fair in charge had never heard of the Oregon Federation of Women's Clubs, nor of that larger body of which it is a part, the General Federation of Women's Clubs, representing a million of America's best women. Evidently they had heard of the Portland Woman's Club and the Jewish Circle. These clubs are also a part of the Oregon Federation of Women's Clubs and the great National Federation.

The late Mr. Corbett, president of the Lewis and Clark Exposition, and Henry Reed, secretary of the board, have had some correspondence with the Oregon State Federation, and the federation has done some very good work in promoting knowledge of the coming exposition, during the year past. The state federation, through its legislative committee, also helped from public sentiment in favor of the appropriation made for the fair at the last session of the legislature. The State Federation of Women's Clubs is willing to use its influence in all proper and legitimate ways to further all of the best interests of the state.

This is just exactly the object of the federation's existence. The president of the state federation was asked by Mr. Cooper to organize Lewis and Clark women's clubs in Pendleton and Eastern Oregon. This, for obvious reasons, she could not do. Pendleton has already several good clubs, and there is nothing to prevent these clubs from doing work for the fair. They are quite competent, and no doubt willing to do their share. It is very likely that the clubs making up the state federation will prefer to work through their own organization.

The state federation convention in June will settle for itself what further work it will undertake to promote the interests of Oregon. If our Lewis and Clark Fair commissioners decide to have an Oregon building at St. Louis, the club women can advertise the state well at the May biennial of the general federation, that will be held in St. Louis in 1904. The Oregon federation will be well represented there, and in an Oregon building its delegates would meet the women from every state in the Union, and women are very good talkers. By the way, the papers say "The women are already squabbling over the fair." Has anything been said or written about the referendum in regard to the fair appropriation? Did the women start that agitation or do men sometimes disagree?

It is possible that Mrs. Wethered will visit Pendleton soon, and address the women of the city on the work of the fair, but no arrangements have been made so far as the women's clubs have been informed. Mrs. Wethered is well known to Pendleton club women, and they will doubtless be glad to confer with her, should she visit the city. The Thursday afternoon Club had a very enjoyable session this week at the home of Mrs. Wamsley. The members heard with great pleasure of the good record Pendleton made with the Art Exhibit in comparison with other cities. That so small a city should have sent in the largest receipts is indeed a distinction of which we may well be proud. The club women will furnish Aster seeds for the school children's flower work. Mrs. T. C. Taylor will receive contributions of money or seeds for this purpose. The order for seeds will be sent next week. It is hoped that many will take an interest in this work of the children. There is no better way to help the city than to interest the children in civic improvement. The Woman's Club will hold its regular meeting Tuesday, the 14th, at 2:30. Dr. Smith will be present if possible, and give his promised talk to the club on Women's Clubs and legislation.

Crops Backward. William Huston, of McKay Creek, reports live stock as all well, but the crops are quite backward on account of the protracted cold weather. Mr. Huston reports a disease as prevalent out in that neighborhood resembling a mild form of smallpox, but which in many cases can hardly be distinguished from scarlet fever. It is not resulting fatally in any case, however. Hurt by Horse. Henry Lorenzen, of Cold Springs, nearly three months ago had his foot and ankle badly jammed in a scuffle with a fractious horse. He apparently recovered, after a long lameness, but is said to be now suffering worse than ever before from the effects of the hurt. Beef Cattle Scarce. James Spence has returned from a trip out on Butter Creek. He reports the beef cattle in that neighborhood as about sold off. The last sales made have been for 4 1/2 cents per pound, and those who have not yet sold except to realize that figure.

Bartenders Reorganize. Twenty-six bartenders of the city have signed the application to the state union for reorganization here under the old charter.

"EASTER GREETING."

Window of Peoples Warehouse is Dressed in Fitting Manner for the Occasion.

One of the windows of the Peoples Warehouse is a thing of beauty and ought to be a joy forever. It is a beautiful arch supported by representations of marble pillars, and beneath the arch stands the life-size figure of a lady dressed in the most bewitching Easter costume. Above her head are the words: "Easter Greeting." Behind, to either side and in front of the figure are folds and piles of dainty Easter fabrics arranged in a most bewildering imitation of clouds of mists. It is a most original conception carried out with great ingenuity and naturalness.

Purchased Fine Animal.

At the State Horse Breeders' Association sale in Portland, a few days ago, J. A. Badley, of Weston, bought Max Al Ropel, a coal black McKinney, which he has brought to Weston. This animal is not leased, but will be a Umatilla county horse from now on. It is not possible that this magnificent animal can fail to impress himself upon at least a dozen generations of his kind. He is every drop of his blood a thoroughbred, is 4 years old, nearly 16 hands and weighs nearly 1,200 pounds. He is one of the fastest trotters not professionally raced, in the entire Northwest. Mr. Badley paid $2,000 for him.

Wiswall.

Miller, Lee Drake, Mr. Drake is captain. The team expects to play matched games this season with teams from Pilot Rock, Weston, Adams and Athena.
